The Discovery of a Visual System Adrian Horridge, 2019-05-23 This book is the only account of what honeybees actually see Bees detect some visual features such as edges and colours but there is no sign that they reconstruct patterns or put together features to form objects Bees detect motion but have no perception of what it is that moves and certainly they do not recognize things by their shapes Yet they clearly see well enough to fly and find food with a minute brain Bee vision is therefore relevant to the construction of simple artificial visual systems for example for mobile robots The surprising conclusion is that bee vision is adapted to the recognition of places not things In this volume Adrian Horridge also sets out the curious and contentious history of how bee vision came to be understood with an account of a century of neglect of old experimental results errors of interpretation sharp disagreements and failures of the scientific method The design of the experiments and the methods of making inferences from observations are also critically examined with the conclusion that scientists are often hesitant imperfect and misleading ignore the work of others and fail to consider alternative explanations The erratic path to understanding makes interesting reading for anyone with an interest in the workings of science but particularly those researching insect vision and invertebrate sensory systems

The Historical Enigma of the Snake Woman from Antiquity to the 21st Century

Angela Giallongo,2018-06-11 This book provides an exploration of the historical conditions that gradually defined subordinating symbols and conflictual values in social relations between the sexes It reveals how snakes and the gelid eyes of Medusa the archetypical snake woman have reverberated across the visual arts and written sources throughout the ages in association with negative emotions fear anger scorn and shame The outcomes and implications of the disturbing correlation between the dangerous female gaze the malignitas of the snake and the lethal power of menstruation that have been woven through the fabric of the Western imaginary are analysed here This analysis reveals an intriguing history of female reptilian hybrids from the pleasing Minoan snake goddesses to the depressing Gorgon Echidna Amazons Eve Melusine Basilisk Poison Damsel Catoblepas and Sadako Samara and gives the reader an opportunity to explore things that never happened but have always been

The Genesis Enigma

Andrew Parker,2009-10-08 An acclaimed paradigm shifting evolutionary biologist shows how the biblical story of Genesis uncannily reflects recent scientific discoveries and finds room for divine inspiration within Consider this Genesis recounts the story of creation step by step Let there be light Let the waters under the heaven be gathered together into one place and let the dry land appear Let the earth bring forth vegetation Let the waters bring forth abundantly the moving creature that hath life God created the whales And God created every winged fowl For thousands of years Judeo Christian belief has accepted this progression as truth And now thanks to recent scientific discoveries the scientific community does too though without the mention of God In The Genesis Enigma respected evolutionary biologist Andrew Parker explains each parallel between Genesis and science in detail and the closer he looks the more amazing the parallels become But the Genesis account has no right to be correct The author or authors could not have known these things happened in this order and with the highlights science has come to recognize Ultimately Parker argues it must be divine inspiration that guided the writing of the Bible This startling conclusion will make The Genesis Enigma a must read for believers and scientists alike

The Enigmatic Eye Moacyr Scliar,1989

The enigma of Bálint's syndrome: complexity of neural substrates and cognitive deficits Magdalena Chechlac, Glyn Humphreys,2015-07-10 Bálint's syndrome is named after the Hungarian physician who first reported a remarkable case of a man with complex visuospatial deficits following bilateral lesions within parietal and occipital cortex Bálint 1909 The syndrome has three primary symptoms simultanagnosia impaired spatial awareness of more than one object at time optic ataxia misreaching to visual targets and ocular apraxia described by Bálint as psychic paralysis of gaze Bálint's patients not only cannot perceive more than one object at time and therefore show poor comprehension of multi object visual scenes i.e poor detection of all the objects present and difficulty in grasping the relationship between them in addition they typically fail to reach towards location of the single object which they can perceive The deficit of the allocation of spatial attention in Balint s syndrome has been linked to a problem in feature binding which results in illusory conjunctions Patients with Balint s syndrome also show deficits in global processing i.e when integration of multiple local elements into global compound shapes is required Consequently Balint s syndrome provides a unique opportunity to study the nature and neuroanatomy of human visuospatial processing in particular multi level object representation spatial awareness and the distribution of visual attention The studies collected here cover both the anatomical and the cognitive mechanisms of the different symptoms associated with the syndrome Furthermore the dissociations between the components of Balint s syndrome in particular simultanagnosia and optic ataxia can also co occur with visual neglect and extinction and the different combinations of reported lesions raises a question about the status of the syndrome and whether it should be merely treated as a historical compilation of symptoms which may or may not coexist cohesively This interesting argument is raised here

Seeing into Screens Tessa Dwyer, Claire Perkins, Sean Redmond, Jodi Sita, 2018-01-25 Seeing into Screens Eye Tracking and the Moving Image is the first dedicated anthology that explores vision and perception as it materializes as viewers watch screen content While nearly all moving image research either imagines how its audience responds to the screen or focuses upon external responses this collection utilizes the data produced from eye tracking technology to assess seeing and knowing gazing and perceiving The editors divide their collection into the following four sections eye tracking performance which addresses the ways viewers respond to screen genre actor and star auteur and cinematography eye tracking aesthetics which explores the way viewers gaze upon colour light movement and space eye tracking inscription which examines the way the viewer responds to subtitles translation and written information found in the screen world and eye tracking augmentation which examines the role of simulation mediation and technological intervention in the way viewers engage with screen content At a time when the nature of viewing the screen is extending and diversifying across different platforms and exhibitions Seeing into Screens is a timely exploration of how viewers watch the screen

The Enigma of Art: On the Provenance of Artistic Creation Gino Zaccaria, 2021-05-25 In this book Gino Zaccaria offers a philosophical meditation on the issue of art in light of its originary sense He shows how this sense can be fully understood provided that our thinking on the one hand returns to the ancient Greek world where it must heed the voice and hints of the goddess Athena and on the other hand listens to artist thinkers close to our current epoch such as C zanne van Gogh and Boccioni Indeed the path of this meditation has as its guide the well known sentence by the painter from Aix en Provence which reads Je vous dois la v rit en peinture et je vous la dirai What will finally appear in this way will not be an abstract or historical notion of art but its enigma that is to say the promise of another initiation of art itself
