From The Ocean To The Sky:

From the Ocean to the Sky Edmund Hillary, 1980 An Evaluation of Formulas for Estimating Clear-sky Insolation Over the Ocean Ronald K. Reed, 1975 Recent oceanic data and observations from five coastal sites in the National Weather Service solar radiation network are compared with a formula for computing clear sky insolation derived from the Smithsonian Meteorological Tables using a transmission coefficient of 0.7 The results are generally in good agreement and they suggest that this formula is suitable for computing insolation over the ocean for a wide range of latitudes The comparison also indicates that a correction to the formula for middle latitudes is not warranted The one other formula in good agreement with that from the Smithsonian Tables is one derived by Lumb Laevastu s formula is only acceptable at sun angles less than 50 and Berliands estimates are too high at all solar altitudes The formula from the Smithsonian Tables can be used to compute insolation over the oceans with a random error of estimate probably not exceeding 5% for periods of a few days or longer Sky with Ocean Joined Steven J. Dick, LeRoy E. Doggett, 1983 Sky and Ocean Joined Steven J. Dick, 2003 As one of the oldest scientific institutions in the United States the US Naval Observatory has a rich and colourful history This volume is first and foremost a story of the relations between space time and navigation from the rise of the chronometer in the United States to the Global Positioning System of satellites for which the Naval Observatory provides the time to a billionth of a second per day It is a story of the history of technology in the form of telescopes lenses detectors calculators clocks and computers over 170 years It describes how one scientific institution under government and military patronage has contributed through all the vagaries of history to almost two centuries of unparalleled progress in astronomy Sky and Ocean Joined will appeal to historians of science technology scientific institutions and American science as well as astronomers meteorologists and physicists Finding Home: Earth, Sky, Ocean, Spirit Carol Thomas, 2012-01-30 About The Book Finding Home Earth Sky Ocean Spirit This book of poems new and selected has been years in the making Nearing a seventieth decade one is reminded of Leonard Cohens admonition to make a record of ones life Adrienne Rich suggests that one finds the deepest truths of a womans life in her poetry poetry that draws from and illuminates her autobiography Its language is precocious and uncanny in its efforts to explicate the nature of her lived experience I have taught creative writing in a number of contexts with troubled adolescents in colleges and universities in a womens prison and with patients and clients in my own private practice in New London Connecticut It was always the journaling that revealed and explicated the individuals trauma and allowed them to move to what might be called a quotidian delight which they had not been able to find before that life might hold a quotidian ecstasy was a new and wondrous idea to them and one they could find access to The earth sky ocean spirit and their own embodied and ensouled selves were the means to their own connectedness to the universe Human language began with womans singing her music her natural response to giving life and perceiving the plenitude around her A mother murmuring vowels and consonants soft language of warmth comfort and tenderness There is reason to believe that at one time on the island of Crete long ago there was a woman centered culture in which the values of nurturing living in harmony with the natural world using a language that emerged from this matrix Warriors came the earlier culture was destroyed and the language reflected the new and violent warring culture The new patriarchal lexicon focused on the lived experience of the men It concerned power victory defeat and death It was literal denotative as opposed to connotative it was didactic hierarchical and dismissive of the language and life of the womans perspective It would seem that in contemporary American culture the exclusion of what we might call poetic language that is language that expresses the truth and affects of the human being has become obsolete replaced by patriarchal language ubiquitous in the political violence of the day and the seeming waning of what we thought was an American way of life These poems attempt to illuminate a womans experience of her world They further attempt to suggest the need for Whitmans notion of the need for an increasingly capacious imagination Perhaps men are not from Mars and women from Venus Adrienne Rich suggests there is hope for a common language more in harmony with the truth reality and ambiguity of the natural world And perhaps after all even with the angst and anxiety of living in this world we are all poets soul searching people all of whom experience quotidian ecstasymoments of the pure joy of living mystery and incomprehensibility bringing delight and clarity affirming and confirming the wondrous miracle of our lives Eat the Sky, Drink the Ocean Kirsty Murray, Payal Dhar, Anita

Roy, 2017-03-07 Nineteen contributors from India and Australia including Printz Award winning author Margo Lanagan and New York Times bestsellers Justine Larbalestier and Samhita Arni team up to create a rare treat of speculative literature in this groundbreaking feminist collection that bursts with imagination Kirkus Reviews starred review A post apocalyptic Little Red Riding Hood Girls and boys turning the tables on creepy old cat callers Female pirates rescuing abused women A futuristic cooking show These are just a few of the stories told in Eat the Sky Drink the Ocean a feminist speculative fiction collection born of a collaboration between Australian and Indian writers Finding themselves inspired to action after crimes against women dominated national conversations the editors of this collection paired writers and illustrators from India and Australia together to write stories graphic novels and even a play that reimagine what girls can be and see themselves as The results are stunning Some of the authors worked together some wrote stories along a similar theme but all seventeen stories blend magical realism and self confidence in a powerful and inspiring way All Sky, Mirror Ocean Brad
