Food Supply in Java During War and Decolonisation, 1940-1950 Pierre van der Eng, 1994 Food Supplies and the Japanese Occupation in South-East Asia Paul H. Kratoska, 2016-07-27 The Japanese Occupation of Southeast Asia between 1941 and 1945 brought with it severe food shortages largely arising from organizational failures and inadequate transportation the nine essays in this volume examine the situation in food exporting countries such as Burma Thailand and Vietnam in food deficit areas such as Malaya the Philippines and Java and in Sarawak which was largely self sufficient Two essays examine in detail the famine that struck the Tonkin area of northern Vietnam in 1945 Asian Labor in the Wartime Japanese Empire Paul H. Kratoska, 2014-12-18 During the Pacific War the Japanese government used a wide range of methods to recruit workers for construction projects throughout the occupied territories Mistreatment of workers was a major grievance both in widely publicized cases such as the use of prisoners of war and forced Asian labor to construct the Thailand Burma Death Railway and in a very large number of smaller projects In this book an international group of specialists on the Occupation period examine the labor needs and the recruitment and use of workers whether forced military or otherwise throughout the Japanese empire This is the first study to look at Japanese labor policies comparatively across all the occupied territories of Asia during the war years It also provides a graphic context for examining Japanese colonialism and relations between the Japanese and the people living in the various occupied territories The Decline of Food Supply in Java, 1940-1946 Pierre van der Eng, 1995 War, Violence, Terrorism, and Our Present World Hares Sayed, 2017-05-30 Why Are We Facing Never Ending Terrorism Political violence and terrorism have been literally bleeding humanity throughout the world This book sheds light on terrorism highlighting the causes of this evil including religion wealth disparity poverty dysfunctional government and the crippling lending policies of international financial institutions In particular it highlights one major gray area not discussed by conventional writers the Colonial Legacy This book highlights every aspect of political development from the birth of new nations to the race for supremacy The impact of scarce mineral resources the role of religions the Shia Sunni turmoil in the Middle East and last but not least the militarization processes are all discussed Greed allows terrorism to take root and to be nurtured It leads the religious to be abused and innocent people to be victimized by war's profiteers The Hidden Victims Cormac Ó Gráda, 2024-09-03 The two world wars were undoubtedly two of the most catastrophic events in human history not just for those who actually fought in them but for untold millions of civilians And even though the wars superlativeness is unquestioned our understanding of exactly how bad the civilian costs were is limited Although the numbers are better for the two wars than for most earlier wars gaps and uncertainties remain States went to great lengths to record military casualties but civilian fatalities often went uncounted and figures were often deliberately obscured In this book renowned economic historian Cormac O Grada aims to set the record straight establishing a figure for civilian fatalities that reveals much about the nature of modern war The book builds on earlier estimates of casualties from a range of causes some reliable some approximate at best and warns against spurious precision when approximations are impossible For example while the human toll of the Jewish Holocaust is generally agreed to have been about 6 million the tolls of two other war genocides those of the Armenian community in Turkey during World War I and of the European Roma community during World War II cannot be determined with any precision Scholarly estimates of these range from 0.6 to 1.2 million and from at least 130 000 to between 250 000 and 500 000 During World War II Chinese civilians faced both a civil war and Japanese occupation and no estimate of the resulting civilian deaths which range from an implausibly low 2.5 million to 20 million is reliable The book shows that the single biggest cause of civilian deaths during the two wars were famines some of which are familiar and well documented while others have attracted research only recently and a few await systematic analysis The book covers these as well as genocides particularly the Jewish Holocaust and deaths from aerial bombing and shows how in each of these categories the numbers have been controversial and contested Most of the book deals with death but it contains accounts too of the tens of millions of displaced persons and refugees and forced labourers of civilian trauma and of sexual violence and other atrocities In the end O Grada argues that the two world wars cost at least 45 to 50 million civilian lives almost double the cost in military lives Addressing the uncertainties and inaccuracies in civilian casualties the book shows the failings of international law and gives a vital and harrowing understanding of the true cost of war

Coffee and Colonialism in Angola, 1820-1960 Jelmer

Vos, 2025-06-24 A new perspective on Angolan colonial and labour history in the 19th and 20th centuries which explores how the cultivation of coffee the country's most significant export shaped one of the oldest commercial frontiers in sub-Saharan Africa After the Second World War Angola became one of the world's largest coffee producers supplying robusta beans that formed the backbone of popular blends and soluble products consumed by millions worldwide But each cup of coffee made with Angolan robustas carried with it a legacy of land expropriation and coerced labour Coffee and Colonialism delves into the systematic exploitation of black workers on white settler plantations in Angola where labour practices often evoked memories of slavery This book traces the origins of Angola's coffee trade to the early nineteenth century examining how the abolition of the Atlantic slave trade gave rise to a new export driven economy As global demand for coffee surged Portuguese colonizers transformed a thriving peasant economy into a settler dominated system that while highly productive was profoundly exploitative and inefficient Drawing upon extensive archival research this work provides a compelling analysis of the intersections between colonialism labour property and global trade uncovering the political economy underpinning one of Africa's most enduring commodity frontiers y into a settler dominated system that while highly productive was profoundly exploitative and inefficient Drawing upon extensive archival research this work provides a compelling analysis of the intersections between colonialism labour property and global trade uncovering the political economy underpinning one of Africa's most enduring commodity frontiers y into a settler dominated system that while highly productive was profoundly

Britain, Southeast Asia and the Onset of the Cold War, 1945-1950 Nicholas Tarling,1998-10-13 This detailed study throws light on the evolution of British policy in South east Asia in the turbulent post war period Through extensive archival research and insightful analysis of the British mindset and official policy Tarling demonstrates that South east Asia was perceived as a region consisting of mutually co operating new states rather than a fragmented mass The book covers the immediate post war period until the Colombo plan and the outbreak of hostilities in Korea A companion volume to Tarling s Britain Southeast Asia and the Onset of the Pacific War it finds parallels between Britain s approach to the threat of Japan and its approach to the threat of communism It also shows that the British sought to shape US involvement in part by involving other Commonwealth countries especially India This is a major contribution to the diplomatic and political history of South east Asia

Mass Starvation Alex de Waal,2017-12-08 The world almost conquered famine Until the 1980s this scourge killed ten million people every decade but by early 2000s mass starvation had all but disappeared Today famines are resurgent driven by war blockade hostility to humanitarian principles and a volatile global economy In Mass Starvation world renowned expert on humanitarian crisis and response Alex de Waal provides an authoritative history of modern famines their causes dimensions and why they ended He analyses starvation as a crime and breaks new ground in examining forced starvation as an instrument of genocide and war Refuting the enduring but erroneous view that attributes famine to overpopulation and natural disaster he shows how political decision or political failing is an essential element in every famine while the spread of democracy and human rights and the ending of wars were major factors in the near ending of this devastating phenomenon Hard hitting and deeply informed Mass Starvation explains why man made famine and the political decisions that could end it for good must once again become a top priority for the international community

Governing Resources in a Changing Environment Mangku Purnomo, 2011 Until 1998 Indonesia was ruled by an authoritarian regime under which natural resources were exploited excessively so that resources governance was not appropriate anymore dealing with sustainability issue Throughout the contemporary reform process with the decentralization of power via local and regional autonomy natural resources are no longer dominated by direct state power only but also managed by more actors at various levels of society To employ the concepts of political ecology new institutionalism livelihood strategy and social sustainability the research showed that spatial production of Upland Bromo have always been dominated by state actors in order to establish the control over land and people In the other hand the contemporary environmental changes socially and physically coincidentally lessen the availability and productivity of the resources which in turn has affected the local people s livelihoods leading to the increasing struggle for resources As a result three kinds of new local resources governance namely multi institutional relationship bilateral institutional relationship and personal relationship based resources governance are formed In association with the sustainability issue these new local resources governance was not really sustainable signalling by negative value in indicators analysed ability to develop sustainability bridge the sustainability and maintenance sustainability This research gives clear explanation that transformation of regime from authoritarian to democratic in developing countries do not always has significance impact in promoting sustainable resources governance

Colonial Legacies Anne E. Booth, 2018-03-31 It is well known that Taiwan and South Korea both former Japanese colonies achieved rapid growth and industrialization after 1960 The performance of former European and American colonies Malaysia Singapore Burma Vietnam Laos Cambodia Indonesia and the Philippines has been less impressive Some scholars have attributed the difference to better infrastructure and greater access to education in Japan s colonies Anne Booth examines and critiques such arguments in this ambitious comparative study of economic development in East and Southeast Asia from the beginning of the twentieth century until the 1960s Booth takes an in depth look at the nature and consequences of colonial policies for a wide range of factors including the growth of export oriented agriculture and the development of manufacturing industry She evaluates the impact of colonial policies on the growth and diversification of the market economy and on the welfare of indigenous populations Indicators such as educational enrollments infant mortality rates and crude death rates are used to compare living standards across East and Southeast Asia in the 1930s Her analysis of the impact that Japan s Greater Asian Co Prosperity Sphere and later invasion and conquest had on the region and the living standards of its people leads to a discussion of the painful and protracted transition to independence following Japan s defeat Throughout Booth emphasizes the great variety of economic and social policies pursued by the various colonial governments and the diversity of outcomes Lucidly and accessibly written Colonial

Legacies offers a balanced and elegantly nuanced exploration of a complex historical reality. It will be a lasting contribution to scholarship on the modern economic history of East and Southeast Asia and of special interest to those concerned with the dynamics of development and the history of colonial regimes. Agricultural Growth in Indonesia Pierre van der

Eng, 1996-05-06 The impact of both colonial economic policies and Western enterprise on indigenous agriculture in Indonesia has long been a matter of contention among scholars. This book provides the first quantification and assessment of the broad long term trends in agricultural production and productivity since 1880. It is the first comprehensive inventory of agricultural policies and their impact on agricultural production during the colonial era and after independence. It stresses the continuity in the development of both agricultural productivity and policies from the colonial era until today. Promises and Predicaments Alicia Schrikker, Jeroen Touwen, 2015-03-30 Indonesia's trajectory towards successful economic growth has been long and capricious. Studies of the process often focus either on the Netherlands Indies or independent Indonesia, suggesting the existence of fundamental discontinuities. The authors of the 17 essays in this book adopt a long term perspective that transcends regimes and bridges dualist economic models in order to examine what did and did not change as the country moved across the colonial/postcolonial divide and shifted from reliance on exports of primary products to a multi-centred economy. The aim is to analyse how economic development grew out of the interplay of foreign trade, new forms of entrepreneurship and the political economy. The authors deal with entrepreneurship and economic specialization within different ethnic groups, the geographical distribution of exports and resource drains from exporting regions and connections between an export economy and mass poverty. One recurring issue is the way actors from different ethnic groups occupied complementary niches, highlighting the rich variety of roles played by Asian entrepreneurs. A study of the international sugar trade shows how regime change fostered co-operation between different ethnic groups and nationalities involved with trading networks, inter-island shipping, urban public transport and the construction sector. A comparison of export earnings and population groups involved in trade before and after 1900 shows that unexpected agricultural and industrial transitions could underpin a fundamental shift in income growth with improved living standards for broad sectors of the population.

Globalization: Perak's Rise, Relative Decline, and Regeneration Nazrin Shah, 2024-03-21 Written by Sultan Nazrin Shah, the author of the highly acclaimed works Charting the Economy and Striving for Inclusive Development, this book is a pioneering study of the many economic and social changes in the natural resource rich Malaysian state of Perak over the last two centuries. When globalization first took hold and international trade networks broadened and deepened in the first half of the 19th century and a new capitalist world order emerged in the second, Perak was a key player. Its tin was in high demand in Western industrializing countries and foreign capital, labour and technology propelled it forward. By 1900, Perak accounted for almost half of Malaya's tin output and a staggering quarter of world output, with its prosperity making it the Malay peninsula's commercial hub. Likewise, during the global rubber boom that began in the early 20th century, as cars were mass produced for the first time Perak was the largest rubber producing state in the peninsula This book brings together a range of key sub themes economic geography the institutional legacy of colonialism increasing federal government centralization forces of economic agglomeration and human migration which drove Perak s fortunes in sometimes dramatic economic cycles and ultimately led to the collapse of its tin and rubber industries and the migration of many of its young and skilled The book concludes by looking forward analysing Perak s characteristics and extrapolating lessons from formerly wealthy industrial centres originally blessed with natural resources but subsequently left behind by new waves of globalization such as Cornwall and Sheffield in the United Kingdom and Pittsburgh and Scranton in the United States With a new vision Perak can regenerate itself and once again emerge triumphant against a tough global background Covid 19 war and deglobalization
