

An aerial photograph of a flooded landscape, likely a coastal or riverine area. The water is a deep blue-grey color, and the submerged land is visible as darker, textured patches. In the background, there are some buildings and structures partially submerged. The overall tone is somber and environmental.

Ecological Thought An Introduction:

Ecological Thought Tim Hayward,1995-08-29 This book offers a new introduction to the implications of ecology for social and political thought arguing for green ideas to be taken seriously by mainstream social and political theorists Ecological Thought Reader in the School of Social and Political Studies Tim Hayward,Tim Hayward,1995-07-01 NULL The Ecological Thought Timothy Morton,2012-04-02 In this passionate lucid and surprising book Timothy Morton argues that all forms of life are connected in a vast entangling mesh This interconnectedness penetrates all dimensions of life No being construct or object can exist independently from the ecological entanglement Morton contends nor does Nature exist as an entity separate from the uglier or more synthetic elements of life International Relations Theory and Ecological Thought Eric Laferrière,Peter J. Stoett,2003-09-02 Ecological crises have never been higher on the international political agenda However ecological thought and international relations theory have developed as separate disciplines This ground breaking study looks at the relationship between ecological thought and international relations theory arguing that there are shared concerns peace co operation and security The authors ask what ecological crisis can teach IR theorists as well as what ecological perspectives have been adopted by governments and international NGOs Ecological Thought in German Literature and Culture Gabriele Duerbeck,Urte Stobbe,Hubert Zapf,Evi Zemanek,2017-10-16 The volume offers a survey of the contribution of German literature and culture to the evolution of ecological thought As the field of ecocritical theory and practice is rapidly expanding towards transnational and global dimensions it seems nevertheless necessary to consider the distinct manifestations of ecological thought in various cultures In this sense the volume demonstrates in twenty six essays from different disciplines how German literature philosophy art and science have contributed in unique ways to the emergence of ecological thought on national and transnational scale The volume maps the most important and characteristic of these developments both on a theoretical and on a textual analytical level It is structured in five parts ranging from proto ecological thought since early modern times part I to major theoretical approaches part II environmental history part III and ecocritical case studies part IV to ecological visions in different media and art forms part V The four editors have widely published and are actively involved in ecocritical literary and cultural studies The group of editors consists of two scholars of German literature and cultural studies Gabriele Duerbeck and Urte Stobbe both University of Vechta a scholar in German and comparative literature Evi Zemanek University of Freiburg as well as a scholar of Anglo American ecoliterature and ecocriticism Hubert Zapf All of them are involved in various projects and research networks on ecology and literature The contributors of the individual chapters likewise are all experts in their respective fields ranging from German literature history environmental studies art history music and art The book is a unique and readily accessible collection of essays that is of relevance not only for a German and continental European but for a worldwide audience Main Currents in Western Environmental Thought P. R. Hay,2002 Topics covered include the roots of environmental philosophy the development of ecophilosophy deep ecology and ecofeminism how religion relates to environmental values environmentalists writings on science and epistemology animal liberation the role of place the economic dimensions of environmental thought environmental writing in various political traditions and green writers critiques of political movements The work draws from the disciplines of philosophy political science psychology sociology and cultural studies The International Yearbook of Environmental and Resource Economics 2000/2001 Tom Tietenberg, Henk Folmer, 2000-05-25 There has been an explosion in the literature and research on environmental and resource economics in recent years This major annual publication provides a cutting edge survey of current research by the leading experts in the field Ecological Thinking Lorraine Code, 2006-04-27 How could ecological thinking animate an epistemology capable of addressing feminist multicultural and other post colonial concerns Starting from an epistemological approach implicit in Rachel Carson s scientific practice Lorraine Code elaborates the creative restructuring resources of ecology for a theory of knowledge She critiques the instrumental rationality abstract individualism and exploitation of people and places that western epistemologies of mastery have legitimated to propose a politics of epistemic location sensitive to the interplay of particularity and diversity and focused on responsible epistemic practice Drawing on ecological theory and practice on naturalized epistemology and on feminist and post colonial theories Code analyzes extended examples from developmental psychology and from two natural institutions of knowledge production medicine and law These institutions lend themselves well to a reconfigured naturalism They are in practice empirically scientifically informed specifically situated and locally interpretive With human subjects as their objects of knowledge they invoke the responsibility requirements central to Code s larger project This book discusses a wide range of literature in philosophy social science and ethico political thought Highly innovative it will generate productive conversations in feminist theory and in the ethics and politics of knowledge more broadly conceived Green Politics and Civic Republicanism Ashley Dodsworth, Iseult Honohan, 2022-08-15 The political and environmental crises of the twenty first century require new approaches to the way we think and act politically This book explores the potential for engagement between green and civic republican thought as part of these new approaches The green and civic republican traditions have important historical and conceptual connections They share an emphasis on the idea of interdependence the common good as distinct from individual and sectional interests and a corresponding critique of freedom as non interference and of arguments for minimising the state Both see the human project as marked by vulnerability and the achievement of stability and sustainability as a critical though fragile goal in whose realisation the state must play a significant role Both focus accordingly on constitutional law active citizenship and participatory democracy and adopt a critical stance towards economic inequality and capitalist economic growth The chapters address these in a variety of ways from examining fundamental concepts freedom rights and political judgement through analysing the potential grounds for connections between green and republican political theory vulnerability limits sustainability and civic virtue to outlining the kind of agonistic republican politics and green political economy that these imply The chapters in this book were originally published as a special issue of Critical Review of Social and Political Philosophy Environmental Politics Robert Garner, Lyn Jaggard, 2011-08-17 The impact of the environment in general and climate change in particular is now entrenched as a key political concern The comprehensively revised third edition of this popular text provides an accessible concise and international introduction to the politics of the environment in theory and practice at both the national and global level
