administration or a comprehensive treatment of important components of political science Like most people in the policy arena Fein came to that work from another discipline in his case economics His experience of finding his own way through action and experience rather than through application of theory might appear quaint But his successes failures and the lessons he learned illuminate the process and may prove useful even inspirational Fein is sensitive to the need to move beyond statistics and to present the real world and the faces of real people behind the data He believes that an effective adviser should bring knowledge and interests that extend beyond the confines of a single discipline even one as methodologically powerful as economics Unless the adviser presents a range of choices that have been developed with contributions from many fields of knowledge the proposed policies are likely to be far too constrained and at worst unworkable His perspective articulated in this book is easily summarized there is more to life and to our nation s welfare than economics We live in a society not in an economy

The Political Economy of Education in South Asia John Richards,Manzoor Ahmed,Shahidul Islam,2021-12-17 With the exception of Sri Lanka South Asian countries have not achieved quality basic education an essential measure for escaping poverty inequality and social exclusion In The Political Economy of Education in South Asia John Richards Manzoor Ahmed and Shahidul Islam emphasize the importance of a dynamic system for education policy The Political Economy of Education in South Asia documents the weak core competency reading and math outcomes in government primary schools in India Pakistan Bangladesh and Nepal and the consequent rapid growth of non government schools over the last two decades It compares the training hiring and management of teachers in South Asian schools to successful national systems ranging from Singapore to Finland Discussing reform options it makes the case public good and public priorities are better served when both public and non government providers come under a strong public policy and accountability framework The Political Economy of Education in South Asia draws on the authors broad engagement in education research and practice in South Asia as well as analysis by prominent professors of education and NGO leaders to place basic education in a broad context and make the case that universal literacy and numeracy are necessary foundations for economic growth

Learning Teaching from Experience Viv Ellis,Janet Orchard,2014-01-16 What do teachers learn on the job And how if at all do they learn from experience Leading researchers from the UK Europe the USA and Canada offer international research based perspectives on a central problem in policy making and professional practice the role that experience plays in learning to teach in schools Experience is often weakly conceptualized in both policy and research sometimes simply used as a proxy for time in weeks and years spent in a school classroom The conceptualization of experience in a range of educational research traditions lies at the heart of this book exemplified in a variety of empirical and theoretical studies Distinctive perspectives to inform these studies include sociocultural psychology the philosophy of education school effectiveness the sociology of education critical pedagogy activism and action research However no one theoretical perspective can claim privileged insight into what and how teachers learn from experience rather this is a matter for a truly educational investigation one that is both close to practice and seeks to develop theory At a time when policy makers in many countries seek to make teacher education an entirely school based activity Learning Teaching from Experience offers an essential examination of the evidence base the traditions of inquiry and the limits of those inquiries Critical Examinations of Distance Education Transformation across Disciplines Scheg, Abigail G.,2014-10-31 In recent years distance education programs have grown to allow greater educational opportunities to a diverse set of learners from all over the world As remote learning becomes a widespread practice universities too must adapt to this changing educational landscape Critical Examinations of Distance Education Transformation across Disciplines provides an interdisciplinary look at the development of distance learning in higher education This reference work bridges the gap between disciplines by offering practical tools and solutions for successful distance education implementation Educators administrators and researchers across academia will find this publication a timely and relevant resource
