Electronic Elephant:

Zimbabwean Transitions Mbongeni Z. Malaba, Geoffrey V. Davis, 2007 This collection of essays on Zimbabwean literature brings together studies of both Rhodesian and Zimbabwean literature spanning different languages and genres It charts the at times painful process of the evolution of Rhodesian Zimbabwean identities that was shaped by pre colonial colonial and post colonial realities The hybrid nature of the society emerges as different writers endeavour to make sense of their world Two essays focus on the literature of the white settler The first distils the essence of white settlers alienation from the Africa they purport to civilize revealing the delusional fixations of the racist mindset that permeates the discourse of the white man s burden in imperial narratives The second takes up the theme of alienation found in settler discourse showing how the collapse of the white supremacists dream when southern African countries gained independence left many settlers caught up in a profound identity crisis Four essays are devoted to Ndebele writing They focus on the praise poetry composed for kings Mzilikazi and Lobengula the preponderance of historical themes in Ndebele literature the dilemma that lies at the heart of the modern Ndebele identity and the fossilized views on gender roles found in the works of leading Ndebele novelists both female and male The essays on English language writing chart the predominantly negative view of women found in the fiction of Stanley Nyamfukudza assess the destabilization of masculine identities in post colonial Zimbabwe evaluate the complex vision of life and reality in Charles Mungoshi s short stories as exemplified in the tragic isolation of many of his protagonists and explore Dambudzo Marechera s obsession with isolated threatened individuals in his hitherto generally neglected dramas The development of Shona writing is surveyed in two articles the first traces its development from its origins as a colonial educational tool to the more critical works of the post 1980 independence phase the second turns the spotlight on written drama from 1968 when plays seemed divorced from the everyday realities of people s lives to more recent work which engages with corruption and the perversion of the moral order The volume also includes an illuminating interview with Irene Staunton the former publisher of Baobab Books and now of Weaver Press The Living Elephants Raman Sukumar, 2003-09-11 The Living Elephants is the authoritative resource for information on both Asian and African elephants From the ancient origins of the proboscideans to the present day crisis of the living elephants this volume synthesizes the behavior ecology and conservation of elephants while covering also the history of human interactions with elephants all within the theoretical framework of evolutionary biology The book begins with a survey of the 60 million year evolutionary history of the proboscideans emphasizing the role of climate and vegetation change in giving rise to a bewildering array of species but also discussing the possible role of humans in the late Pleistocene extinction of mastodons and mammoths The latest information on the molecular genetics of African and Asian elephants and its taxonomic implications are then presented The rise of the elephant culture in Asia and its early demise in Africa are traced along with an original interpretation of this unique animal human relationship The book then moves on to the social life of elephants as it relates to reproductive strategies of males and females development of behavior in young communication ranging patterns and societal organization The foraging strategies of elephants their impact on the vegetation and landscape are then discussed The dynamics of elephant populations in relation to hunting for ivory and their population viability are described with the aid of mathematical models A detailed account of elephant human interactions includes a treatment of crop depredation by elephants in relation to their natural ecology manslaughter by elephants habitat manipulation by humans and a history of the ivory trade and poaching in the two continents The ecological information is brought together in the final chapter to formulate a set of pragmatic recommendations for the long term conservation of elephants The broadest treatment of the subject yet undertaken by one of the leading workers in the field Raman Sukumar the book promises to bring the understanding of elephants to a new level It should be of interest not only to biologists but also a broader audience including field ecologists wildlife administrators historians conservationists and all those interested in elephants and their future

The Secret Elephants Gareth Patterson, 2012-09-28 The elephants of the Knysna forest have long been the subject of mystery and conjecture Over the years they have taken on an almost mythical quality with many doubting whether they existed at all In 1994 the local forestry department maintained that there was only one surviving Knysna elephant the seldom seen female known as The Matriarch The Knysna elephant was thus described as functionally extinct This was the official stance until September 2000 when forest guard Wilfred Oraai encountered and photographed a young bull from a distance of some thirty metres The question arose who was its mother And indeed who was its father In 2001 Gareth Patterson began an independent study of the Knysna elephant For the next seven years he covered thousands of kilometres on foot following ancient elephant paths through the dense Afromontane forest and the surrounding mountain fynbos He found abundant signs to suggest that far from dying out the Knysna elephants are quietly and secretly holding their own Patterson's fieldwork and his dna research in collaboration with conservation geneticist Lori Eggert established that at least five young females exist lending support to Patterson's growing evidence that the Knysna forest and its surroundings are home to a small herd of young elephants The Secret Elephants is the story of these remarkable animals that fought their way back from the brink of extinction without any help from humankind

 Shapiro, 2017-03-20 This work represents the definitive account of the Jewish community in central Africa It tells the story of the coming of the first Jews to the area in the late 19th century the heyday of the Jewish community in the mid 20th century and its decline since Zambian independence Dealing primarily with the Jewish traders in Zambia who flourished in the face of both anti semitism and their own acute social dislocation Macmillan explores a number of interrelated topics the colonial office discussions about Jewish immigration in the 1930s the attempts to settle refugees in Africa by both pro and anti semites Jewish religious life in the region and the remarkable cultural and professional role played by the Jewish settlers Setting these issues in the context of a general history of southern and central Africa this book constitutes a major contribution to our understanding of the economic history of the entire region It will be of interest to both historians of Africa
