Ecology Land Use In Upland Scotland:

Ecology and Land Use in Upland Scotland Donald N. McVean, James Donaldson Lockie, 1969      Upland Habitats Alan F. Fielding, Paul F. Haworth, 2002-01-31 Upland Habitats presents a comprehensive illustrated guide to the habits wildlife and conservation of Britain's last wilderness areas. These include heather moors, sheep walk, deer forest, blanket bogs, montane and sub-montane forests. The book examines the unique characteristics of uplands and the ecological processes and historical events that have shaped them since the end of the last glaciation. Among the key conservation and management issues explored are modern agricultural practices and economics, habitat degradation through overgrazing, commercial forest plantations, the persecution of wildlife, recreation in the uplands, the funding of upland farming.      Ecology and Management of Atlantic Salmon D. Mills, 1991-09-30 From reviews of the hardback edition: No matter how experienced a salmon man the reader is, I cannot believe he will study this extremely informative book without learning a great deal and gaining much enjoyment from doing so. The biology and life of the salmon are all dealt with in a most interesting manner. Highly recommended. A book not to be read just once but often to be consulted. This book is dedicated to Salar the Salmon and what a tribute it is to this unique fish. Supporters of the Trust would be wise to purchase this book and to keep it on the shelf for future reference. Atlantic Salmon Trust Progress Report      Decolonizing Nature William Adams, Martin Mulligan, 2012-04-27 British imperialism was almost unparalleled in its historical and geographical reach, leaving a legacy of entrenched social transformation in nations and cultures in every part of the globe. Colonial annexation and government were based on an all-encompassing system that integrated and controlled political, economic, social and ethnic relations and required a similar annexation and control of natural resources and nature itself. Colonial ideologies were expressed not only in the progressive exploitation of nature but also in the emerging discourses of conservation. At the start of the 21st century the conservation of nature is of undiminished importance in post-colonial societies yet the legacy of colonial thinking endures. What should conservation look like today and what indeed whose ideas should it be based upon? Decolonizing Nature explores the influence of the colonial legacy on contemporary conservation and on ideas about the relationships between people, politics and nature in countries and cultures that were once part of the British Empire. It locates the historical development of the theory and practice of conservation at both the periphery and the centre, firmly within the context of this legacy and considers its significance today. It highlights the present and future challenges to conservationists of contemporary global neo-colonialism. The contributors to this volume include both academics and conservation practitioners. They provide wide-ranging and insightful perspectives on the need for and practical ways to achieve new forms of informed ethical engagement between people and nature.      The Cultured Landscape Sheila Harvey, Ken Fieldhouse, 2005 A team of eminent practitioners and writers contribute to an assessment of the philosophy of landscape and collectively form a new approach to creative design.      Vegetation dynamics in grasslands, heathlands and mediterranean ligneous formations P. Basic Biogeography N.V. Pears,2014-06-06 First published in 1985 This is the second edition of a study looking at ecology and biogeography with updated chapters including current research It starts with the study of plants to gain an understanding of the complexities of ecological relationships EPA-600/5 ,1974-02 Advances in Ecological Research ,1987-04-14 Advances in Ecological Research first published in 1962 is one of Academic Press's most successful and prestigious series In 1999 the Institute for Scientific Information released figures showing that the serial has an Impact Factor of 9.6 with a half life of 10.0 years placing it 1st in the highly competitive category of Ecology The Editors have always striven to provide a wide range of top quality papers on all aspects of ecology such as animal plant physiology population community landscape and ecosystem ecology Eclectic volumes in the serial are supplemented by thematic volumes on such topics as Estuaries and Ancient Lakes Now edited by Dr Hal Caswell of Woods Hole Oceanographic Institution Advances in Ecological Research continues to publish topical and important reviews interpreting ecology as widely as in the past to include all material that contributes to our understanding of the field The Politics of Environment Malcolm

Slessor,2021-10-12 Originally published in 1972 and ahead of its time in many respects this book was the first to take a constructive approach to the problems facing the human race in the 20th Century It remains enduringly relevant today and discusses over population under employment atmospheric pollution exhaustion of global resources and geopolitics It shows how all these issues are interconnected and therefore how conventional attempts to solve some of them merely exacerbate others It asserts that the solution rests in the evolution of a realistic form of politics which puts the community first

Agricultural and Pastoral Landscapes in Pre-Industrial Society Fèlix Retamero,Inge Schjellerup,Althea Davies,2014-12-01 Through a series of case studies this third volume in the Earth series deals with the technological constraints and innovations that enabled societies to survive and thrive across a range of environmental conditions The contributions are structured into three sections to draw out particular commonalities and contrasts in the choices made by pre industrial communities in the construction of varied landscapes and cultural heritage Landnam from the Old Norse for taking of land deals with colonization including the drivers and processes through which colonizers developed an understanding of the productive potential and limitations of their new lands Fields and field systems Field walls are a distinctive and apparently timeless characteristic of many pre industrial farming landscapes but they present many the challenges to their study such as the effects of plowing abandonment and land use change and of urban development in fertile lowland zones which may eradicate reduce or conceal past systems of land use and division The importance of indirect and proxy evidence is illustrated and the value of interdisciplinary and modeling approaches emphasized Agro pastoralism focuses on the complex time space adaptations devised for managing cultivation and livestock production particularly the need to prevent stock incursions into arable fields during the growing season whilst making effective use of seasonal grazing resources The contributions focus on mountainous areas where temporary migrations in the form of transhumance provided access to a diversity of resources based around seasonal constraints on their availability and productivity      Environment Kenneth E. Hornback, W. Keith Warner, 1972      The Making of the Scottish Rural Landscape David Turnock, 2016-12-05 This book looks at the evolution of rural settlement in Scotland from the Mesolithic period through to the improving movement of the 18th and 19th centuries The main emphasis is on changes in society and technology but the book also considers how the development of the physical landscape laid the foundation for such changes The author strikes a balance between general perspectives including relevant contextual materials such as the political structures and local studies with much emphasis on individual sites Lack of documentation prior to the 10th century places particular importance on the archaeological evidence but imaginative interpretation of this evidence has led to a major re evaluation Ideas emphasizing continuity of settlement and local adaptation are replacing older invasionist theories emphasizing Celtic war lords and broch building pirates      Lairds, Land and Sustainability Jayne Glass, 2013-07-22 Scotland is at the heart of modern sustainable upland management This collection of cutting edge studies is a first to press synthesis of studies carried out by the Centre for Mountain Studies at Perth College which will be both enlightening and relevant      Heritage J.D. Fladmark, 2014-02-04 This volume deals with policy methods and techniques for the stewardship of our land and our cultural assets The focus is on interpretation and presentation of heritage themes and the papers should be of interest to those concerned with school and university curricula those working in museums and galleries and those in charge of parks and tourist enterprises Individual contributions celebrate achievements and debate issues relating to the natural and built environment the future of green tourism planning and interpretation in museums parks and private estates The authors include Professor David Lowenthal on cultural landscapes Charles McKean on architecture David Macmillan on the arts John Purser on music Elisabeth Luard on cooking the Earl of Glasgow on the opening of a family estate to the public and Gordon Baxter on the heritage of one of Scotland's great enterprise stories in the food industry The main theme of the book is that we do not always take enough pride in our heritage which is often undervalued and neglected Positive action is required to raise awareness to foster respect for our inheritance and to generate a new kind of enterprise that will not endanger the heritage resources on which we depend for enjoyment and jobs      Restoration and History Marcus Hall, 2010-02-01 Once a forest has been destroyed should one plant a new forest to emulate the old or else plant designer forests to satisfy our immediate needs Should we aim to re create forests or simply create them How does the past shed light on our environmental efforts and how does the present influence our environmental goals Can we predict the future of restoration This book explores how a consideration of time and history can improve the practice of restoration There is a past of restoration as well as past assumptions about restoration and such assumptions have political and social implications Governments around the world are willing to spend billions on restoration projects in the Everglades along the Rhine River in the South China Sea without acknowledging that former generations have already wrestled with repairing damaged ecosystems that there have been many kinds of former ecosystems and that there are many former ways of understanding such systems This book aims to put the dimension of time back into our understanding of environmental efforts Historic ecosystems can serve as models for our restorative efforts if we can just describe such ecosystems What conditions should be brought back and do such conditions represent new natures or better pasts A collective answer is given in these pages and it is not a unified answer Drivers of Environmental Change in Uplands Aletta Bonn,Tim Allott,Klaus Hubacek,Jon Stewart,2009-01-13

The uplands are a crucial source of ecosystem services such as water provision carbon retention maintenance of biodiversity provision of recreation value and cultural heritage This puts them in the focus of both environmental and social scientists as well as practitioners and land managers This volume brings together a wealth of knowledge of the British uplands from diverse but interrelated fields of study clearly demonstrating their importance in 21st Century Britain and indicating how we may through interdisciplinary approaches meet the challenges provided by past and future drivers of environmental change The upland environments are subject to change They face imminent threats as well as opportunities from pressures such as climate change changes in land management and related changes in fire risk increases in erosion and water colour degradation of habitats altered wildlife and recreational value as well as significant changes in the economy of these marginal areas This book presents up to date scientific background information addresses policy related issues and lays out pressing land management questions A number of world class experts provide a review of cutting edge natural and social science and an assessment of past current and potential future management strategies policies and other drivers of change After appraisal of key concepts and principles chapters provide specific examples and applications by focussing on UK upland areas and specifically the Peak District National Park as a key example for other highly valuable upland regions Safeguarding Mountain

Social-Ecological Systems, Vol 2 Stefan Schneiderbauer,Jorg Szarzynski,Paola Fontanella Pisa,John F. Shroder,2024-08-13 Safeguarding Mountain Social Ecological Systems Volume Two Building Transformative Resilience in Mountain Regions Worldwide presents an overview of the relevant research in mountain regions worldwide identifies existing challenges and provides an understanding of the diversity of mountain ecosystems in different regions It focuses on understanding protecting and enhancing mountain social ecological systems This second volume places a stronger emphasis on building transformative resilience in mountain regions indicating a focus on proactive measures to address challenges and promote sustainable development It also highlights regional perspectives and case studies and insights from various mountain regions worldwide Focuses on existing efforts emerging risks and collaborative initiatives in the field of mountain social ecological systems Allows readers to gain insights into diverse social ecological systems and understand the unique challenges and opportunities associated with each region Explores strategies and approaches to enhance the resilience of mountain social ecological systems through case studies insights and opportunities presented in each region Gulls and Plovers C.J. Barnard, D.B.A. Thompson, 2012-12-06 In the early years of this century a Scottish doctor speculated on the evolutionary origin of human tears It seemed to him that with the increase in brain size and cognitive powers of our early ancestors many events in the struggle for existence would be just too distressing to observe How comforting then for the mother distraught by the sight of her child being devoured by a lion to cloud her vision with a flood of tears Just so though if the good doctor had pondered further the following picture might have occurred to him comfortable in his speculative armchair and given him some pause for thought u _ vii viii SERIES EDITOR S FOREWORD These stories do not of course get us very far in understanding the evolution of tears or anything else but they do remind us how far the study of behavioural adaptation has come this century This is in fact an exciting time for students of behaviour The last twenty years have seen a great advance in the theoretical armoury for tackling questions of behavioural evolution and adaptation and a parallel expansion in empirical studies particularly in the field The concepts of inclusive fitness and the evolutionarily stable strategy for example have helped to explain major features of social behaviour and have generated entirely new questions and predictions for the field worker to examine Bibliography of Agriculture ,1975
