Housing Question:

The Housing Question Friedrich Engels, 1970 A reprint of three articles which I wrote 1872 for the Leipzig Volksstaat Includes bibliographical references The Housing Question Edward Murphy, Najib B. Hourani, 2016-03-09 In the wake of the Great Recession housing and its financing suddenly re emerged as questions of significant public concern Yet both public and academic debates about housing have remained constricted tending not to explore how the evolution of housing simultaneously entails basic forms of socio spatial reproduction and underlying tensions in the political order Drawing on cutting edge perspectives from urban studies this book grants renewed interdisciplinary energy to the housing question It explores how housing raises a series of vexing issues surrounding rights identity and justice in the modern city Through finely detailed studies that illuminate national and regional particularities ranging from analyses of urban planning in the Soviet Union the post Katrina reconstruction of New Orleans to squatting in contemporary Lima the volume underscores how housing questions matter in a wide range of contexts It draws attention to ruptures and continuities between high modernist and neoliberal forms of urbanism demonstrating how housing and the dilemmas surrounding it are central to governance and the production of space in a rapidly urbanizing world The Housing Question Frederick Engels, 2021-05-16 In the early 1870s an ideological debate began to unfold in the German press on the shortage of affordable housing available to workers in major industrial areas The rapid increase in industrial production necessitating an increase in industrial workers created a housing crisis From June 1872 to February 1873 Fredrick Engels contributed a series of articles to the publication The Volksstaat The People s State titled The Housing Question Originally published as a booklet by the Co Operative Publishing Society of Foreign Workers in the USSR and out of print for many years INTERNATIONAL PUBLISHERS is proud to make this text available as workers yet again face almost insurmountable obstacles to finding affordable housing As Engels wrote in 1872 What is meant today by housing shortage is the peculiar intensification of the bad housing conditions of the workers as the result of the sudden rush of population to the big towns a colossal increase in rents a still further aggravation of overcrowding in the individual houses and for some the impossibility of finding a place to live in at all Fredrick Engels essays collected here as The Housing Question are just as relevant today roughly 150 years after first written The Housing Question, 1922 The rural housing question Satsangi, Madhu, Gallent, Nick, 2010-09-01 For the past century governments have been compelled time and again to return to the search for solutions to the housing and economic challenges posed by a restructuring countryside The rural housing question is an analysis of the complexity of housing and development tensions in the rural areas of England Wales and Scotland It analyses a range of topics from attitudes to rural development economic change land use planning and counter urbanisation through retirement and ageing leisure consumption lifestyle shifts and homelessness to public and private house building private and public renting and community initiatives Across this spectrum of concerns it attempts to isolate the fundamental tensions that give the rural housing

American Housing Question Randolph Hohle, 2021-10-20 The American Housing Question reframes the question of affordable housing through the concepts of urban citizenship and racism Randolph Hohle argues that when we consider who benefits from affordable housing we end up with a complex story of inclusion and exclusion and of privilege and mobility centered around race and social class Historically affordable housing's underlying logic was to create the conditions for white people to exercise the privilege of mobility Affordable housing policy was first and foremost about granting white people the ability to live in racially segregated neighborhoods within and across urban areas When the beneficiaries of affordable housing policy were predominately white the state proceeded with a comprehensive and multifaceted plan to supply housing including public housing subsidizing the construction of market rate housing rental vouchers and rent control The white response to the Civil Rights era the precursor to neoliberal urban policy privatized public housing switched the responsibility to provide affordable housing to the market and created the conditions for the financialization of housing in the twenty first century that have made housing unaffordable for everyone As the author aptly demonstrates solving America's housing question means addressing both racism and revaluing the notion of the public The Housing Question Friedrich

Engels, Clemens Palme Dutt, 1970 The Financialization of Housing Manuel B. Aalbers, 2016-05-05 Due to the financialization of housing in today's market housing risks are increasingly becoming financial risks Financialization refers to the increasing dominance of financial actors markets practices measurements and narratives It also refers to the resulting structural transformation of economies firms states and households This book asserts the centrality of housing to the contemporary capitalist political economy and places housing at the centre of the financialization debate A global wall of money is looking for High Quality Collateral HQC investments and housing is one of the few asset classes considered HQC This explains why housing is increasingly becoming financialized but it does not explain its timing politics and geography Presenting a diverse range of case studies from the US the UK the Netherlands Germany Italy and Spain the chapters in this book include coverage of the role of the state as the driver of financialization processes and the part played by local and national histories and institutions This cutting edge volume will pave the way for future research in the area Where housing used to be something local or national the two way coupling of housing to finance has been one crucial element in the recent crisis It is time to reconsider the financialization of both homeownership and social housing This book will be of interest to those who study international economics economic geography and financialization

Housing and Social Change Ray Forrest, James Lee, 2003 The aim of this book is to provide a benchmark statement of key issues on housing and to emphasise the need to embed our understanding of housing issues in an international and multidisciplinary setting

Promoting Rental Housing Affordability in European Cities Marco Peverini, 2023-11-18 This book investigates policies for the promotion of housing affordability in the rental sector of attractive cities in Europe Affordability links the housing situation to the economic situation of households referring to conditions of access to housing and to the role of housing in determining poverty or wealth The book examines the current affordability crisis and frames it in the ongoing process of urban restructuring and devolution of welfare From the perspective of the Foundational Economy the book calls for a proactive and effective role of public administrations in making the rental sector an affordable and stable alternative to housing financialization and commodification By intertwining theory construction and real world data collected through case studies in Milan and Vienna the book provides an original framework for the analysis of public policies that promote rental affordability in a multi level setting Through the analysis it highlights critical nodes of the different housing urban and social policy domains at stake in the promotion of rental affordability in attractive cities The book proposes a shift from the currently dominant supply side argument to an integrated intersectoral and multi scalar policy system for making cities more affordable

In Defense of Housing Peter Marcuse, David Madden, 2024-08-27 In every major city in the world there is a housing crisis How did this happen and what can we do about it Everyone needs and deserves housing But today our homes are being transformed into commodities making the inequalities of the city ever more acute Profit has become more important than social need The poor are forced to pay more for worse housing Communities are faced with the violence of displacement and gentrification And the benefits of decent housing are only available for those who can afford it In Defense of Housing is the definitive statement on this crisis from leading urban planner Peter Marcuse and sociologist David Madden They look at the causes and consequences of the housing problem and detail the need for progressive alternatives The housing crisis cannot be solved by minor policy shifts they argue Rather the housing crisis has deep political and economic roots and therefore requires a radical response

Urban Planning and Civic Order in Germany, 1860-1914 Brian Ladd, 1990 Ladd describes the struggle of German leaders to bring order to their rapidly growing cities during the age of industrial expansion before World War I setting the emerging theory and practice of city planning in the context of debates about the nature of the modern city and the possibility of improving society by regulating physical environments
