La Liberation:

Paris After the Liberation 1944-1949 Antony Beevor, Artemis Cooper, 2004-08-31 A rich and intriguing story which the authors disentangle with great skill Sunday Telegraph From Antony Beevor the internationally bestselling author of D Day and The Battle of Arnhem In this brilliant synthesis of social political and cultural history Antony Beevor and Artemis Cooper present a vivid and compelling portrayal of the City of Lights after its liberation Paris became the diplomatic battleground in the opening stages of the Cold War Against this volatile political backdrop every aspect of life is portrayed scores were settled in a rough and uneven justice black marketers grew rich on the misery of the population and a growing number of intellectual luminaries and artists including Hemingway Beckett Camus Sartre de Beauvoir Cocteau and Picasso contributed new ideas and a renewed vitality to this extraordinary moment in time

Business of Civil War Patience Kabamba, 2013 Within the context of the absence of effective state sovereignty and the presence of numerous armed struggles for power Nande traders have managed to build and protect self sustaining prosperous transnational economic enterprises in eastern Congo This book discusses the commercial enterprises of the Nande trust networks and the subsequent transnational community they have produced thereby challenging the assumption that a weak state or a failed state or even a collapsed state can be presumed to signal a failed society It demonstrates the fact that several sovereignties and property right systems can coexist side by side reinforcing each other an idea which seems inconceivable for those with a normative view of governmental institutions and state sovereignty Rethinking the question of African state formation the study contributes to the formulation of a more rigorously transnational and local paradigms in the study of post colonial African state formations It constitutes an original contribution to critical theory of societal responses to processes of state implosion and the anthropology of new social formations that emerge when states disintegrate especially in war torn Africa The book also discusses issues related to the dynamics of conflict new state formation transnational trade network ethnicity and global political and economic governance In the midst of abundant anti ethnic literature on African studies this study posits that there may be a renewed usefulness and necessity in theorizing the salience and continuing production of ethnic differences in a manner that challenges the notion of ethnicity as merely a devious and divisive invention of colonialism that must simply be overcome

Reimagining Liberation Annette K. Joseph-Gabriel, 2019-12-30 Black women living in the French empire played a key role in the decolonial movements of the mid twentieth century Thinkers and activists these women lived lives of commitment and risk that landed them in war zones and concentration camps and saw them declared enemies of the state Annette K Joseph Gabriel mines published writings and untapped archives to reveal the anticolonialist endeavors of seven women Though often overlooked today Suzanne C saire Paulette Nardal Eug nie bou Tell Jane Vialle Andr e Blouin Aoua K ita and Eslanda Robeson took part in a forceful transnational movement Their activism and thought challenged France's imperial system by shaping forms of citizenship that encouraged multiple cultural and racial identities. Expanding the possibilities of belonging beyond national and even Francophone borders, these women imagined new pan-African and pan-Caribbean identities informed by black feminist intellectual frameworks and practices. The visions they articulated also shifted the idea of citizenship itself, replacing a single form of collective identity and political participation with an expansive plurality of forms of belonging.

Women's Rights and Women's Lives in France 1944-1968 Claire Duchen, 2003-09-02

Women's Rights and Women's Lives In France 1944-1968 explores key aspects of the everyday lives of women between the Liberation of France and the events of May 68. At the end of the war, French women believed that a new era was beginning and that equality had been won. The redefined postwar public sphere required women's participation for the new democracy and women's labour power for reconstruction, but equally important was the belief in women's role as mothers. Over the next two decades, the tensions between competing visions of women's proper place dominated discourses of womanhood as well as policy decisions and had concrete implications for women's lives. Working from a wide range of sources including women's magazines, prescriptive literature, documentation from political parties, government reports, parliamentary debates, and personal memoirs, Claire Duchen follows the debates concerning womanhood, women's rights, and women's lives through the 1944-1968 period and grounds them in the changing reality of postwar France.

The Left Bank Herbert Lottman, 1998-11-15. This story begins in the Paris of the 1930s when artists and writers stood at the center of the world stage. In the decade that saw the rise of the Nazis, much of the thinking world sought guidance from this extraordinary group of intellectuals. Herbert Lottman's chronicle follows the influential players: Gide, Malraux, Sartre, de Beauvoir, Koestler, Camus, and their pro-Fascist counterparts through the German occupation, Liberation, and into the Cold War when the struggle between superpowers all but drowned out their voices. Surprisingly fresh and intense, a retrospective travelogue of the Left Bank in the days when it was the setting for almost all French intellectual activity. Absorbing. Naomi Bliven, New Yorker. As an introduction to a period in French history already legendary, The Left Bank is superb. Michael Dirda, Washington Post Book World. An intellectual history. A history of the interaction between politics and letters. And a rumination on the limitless credulity of intellectuals. Christopher Hitchens, New Statesman.

The Byzantine Aristocracy and its Military Function Jean-Claude Cheynet, 2023-05-31. The first four studies in this volume by Jean-Claude Cheynet, specially translated from French for publication here, present a broad-ranging analysis of the Byzantine aristocracy of the 8th-12th centuries. Along with the other articles in the first part, they examine the evolution of aristocratic families and the composition of this group, the relative importance of landholding and public office, the notion of civilian and military families, and patterns of inheritance.

In the second part the focus is on the Byzantine army with studies looking both at the position of aristocrats within it and more generally at the effectiveness of the army itself notably in the campaigns in Asia Minor against the Arabs and the Turks

Democratic Engineering in Rwanda and Burundi Kagabo, Jean-Marie, 2019-12-06 In Democratic Engineering in Rwanda and Burundi the author argues that a democratic model which is suitable for single cultural societies may not be applicable in multicultural societies he illustrates that the liberal and socialist theories have not addressed the issue of national minorities which threatens peace and stability in most African countries The author investigates the form of democratic engineering that would harmonise ethnic relations and guard against ethnic discrimination and violence He explores the consociational and integrative theories to identify a suitable democratic system that would stabilise Rwanda and Burundi He analyses the pros and the cons of the present options adopted by Rwanda and Burundi to address the question of ethnicity and also assesses the potential of a number of other solutions Protestant Pentecostalism in Latin America
