international collaboration The editorial team coordinated the efforts of over 100 experts from more than two dozen countries to produce five independently conceived yet interrelated volumes that show not only how Romanticism developed and spread in its principal European homelands and throughout the New World but also the ways in which the affected literatures in reaction to Romanticism have redefined themselves on into Modernism A glance at the index of each volume quickly reveals the extraordinary richness of the series total contents Romantic Irony sets the broader experimental parameters of comparison by concentrating on the myriad expressions of irony as one of the major impulses in the Romantic philosophical and artistic revolution and by combining cross cultural and interdisciplinary studies with special attention also to literatures in less widely diffused language streams Romantic Drama traces creative innovations that deeply altered the understanding of genre at large fed popular imagination through vehicles like the opera and laid the foundations for a modernist theater of the absurd Romantic Poetry demonstrates deep patterns and a sharing of crucial themes of the revolutionary age which underlie the lyrical expression that flourished in so many languages and environments Nonfictional Romantic Prose assists us in coping with the vast array of writings from the personal and intimate sphere to modes of public discourse including Romanticism s own self commentary in theoretical statements on the arts society life the sciences and more Nor are the discursive dimensions of imaginative literature neglected in the closing volume Romantic Prose Fiction where the basic Romantic themes and story types the romance novel novella short story and other narrative forms are considered throughout Europe and the New World This enormous realm is seen not just in terms of Romantic theorizing but in the light of the impact of Romantic ideas and narration on later generations As an aid to readers the introduction to Romantic Prose Fiction explains the relationships among the volumes in the series and carries a listing of their tables of contents in an appendix No other series exists comparable to these volumes which treat the entirety of Romanticism as a cultural happening across the whole breadth of the Old and New Worlds and thus render a complex picture of European spiritual strivings in the late eighteenth and the nineteenth centuries a heritage still very close to our age

Programs University of Michigan. School of Music, Theatre & Dance,2007 Applied Ethics Ruth F. Chadwick,Doris Schroeder,2002 Between Literature and Science Wolf Lepenies,1988 The theme of this book is the conflict which arose in the early nineteenth century between on the one hand the literary and on the other hand the scientific intellectuals of Europe as they competed for recognition as the chief analysts of the new industrial society in which they lived. This conflict was epitomised by the confrontation between Matthew Arnold and T H Huxley and later in that between F R Leavis and C P Snow. Sociology was born as the third major discipline though in many ways it was a hybrid of the literary and the scientific traditions. The social sciences continue even today to oscillate between these two traditions. The author chronicles the rise of the new discipline by discussing the lives and work of the most prominent thinkers of the time in England, France and Germany. These include John Stuart Mill, H G Wells, Beatrice and Sidney Webb and T S Eliot. Auguste Comte, Charles Peguy, Emile Durkheim, Stefan George, Thomas Mann, Max Weber and Karl Mannheim. At stake was the right to formulate a philosophy of life for contemporary society and to predict and pre-empt the worst consequences of industrialization. The book presents a penetrating study of idealists grappling with reality when industrial society was still in its infancy. It will be of interest to those studying sociology and its history as a discipline but it is equally relevant to other social science subjects which may be said to have arisen at about the same time. Thinking the Unconscious

Angus Nicholls, Martin Liebscher, 2010-06-24. Since Freud's earliest psychoanalytic theorization around the beginning of the twentieth century, the concept of the unconscious has exerted an enormous influence upon psychoanalysis and psychology and literary critical and social theory. Yet prior to Freud, the concept of the unconscious already possessed a complex genealogy in nineteenth century German philosophy and literature, beginning with the aftermath of Kant's critical philosophy and the origins of German idealism and extending into the discourses of romanticism and beyond. Despite the many key thinkers who contributed to the Germanic discourses on the unconscious, the English speaking world remains comparatively unaware of this heritage and its influence upon the origins of psychoanalysis. Bringing together a collection of experts in the fields of German Studies, Continental Philosophy, the History and Philosophy of Science and the History of Psychoanalysis, this volume examines the various theorizations, representations and transformations undergone by the concept of the unconscious in nineteenth century German thought.

The Romantic Conception of Life Robert J. Richards, 2024-05-31. All art should become science and all science art: poetry and philosophy should be made one. Friedrich Schlegel's words perfectly capture the project of the German Romantics who believed that the aesthetic approaches of art and literature could reveal patterns and meaning in nature that couldn't be uncovered through rationalistic philosophy and science alone. In this wide-ranging work, Robert J. Richards shows how the Romantic conception of the world influenced and was influenced by both the lives of the people who held it and the development of nineteenth century science. Integrating Romantic literature, science and philosophy with an intimate knowledge of the individuals involved, from Goethe and the brothers Schlegel to Humboldt and Friedrich and Caroline Schelling, Richards demonstrates how their tempestuous lives shaped their ideas as profoundly as their intellectual and cultural heritage. He focuses especially on how Romantic concepts of the self as well as aesthetic and moral considerations, all tempered by personal relationships, altered scientific representations of nature. Although historians have long considered Romanticism at best a minor tributary to scientific thought Richards moves it to the center of the main currents of nineteenth century biology culminating in the conception of nature that underlies Darwin s evolutionary theory Uniting the personal and poetic aspects of philosophy and science in a way that the German Romantics themselves would have honored The Romantic Conception of Life alters how we look at Romanticism and nineteenth century biology The Philosophy of Life of Joseph Von Eichendorff Rose Dominic Gabisch,1935 With Gifted Thinkers Mark Manolopoulos,2009 This book is a collection of engaging entertaining and often confronting dialogues with nine thinkers of faith in postmodernity some of them more prominent than others all of them possessing the rare quality or gift of thinking rigorously tentatively passionately John D Caputo Kevin Hart Robyn Horner Richard Kearney Catherine Keller Kate Rigby Mark C Taylor Mark I Wallace and Merold Westphal The project was driven by two ambitions to seek out their thoughts on the question of the gift which has become a hot topic since the early 1990s in philosophy theology and a whole range of academic disciplines and which was the subject of the interviewer s doctoral work and more generally to examine key elements of these thinkers most important works Hence the dialogues traverse a splendid range of issues philosophical theological ecological hermeneutical biblical scientific and more What s more the dialogical medium has the advantage of casting complex issues in extremely accessible terms thereby making this collection a must read for anyone interested in contemporary Continental theory All Music Guide to Classical Music Chris Woodstra,Gerald Brennan,Allen Schrott,2005-09 Offering comprehensive coverage of classical music this guide surveys more than eleven thousand albums and presents biographies of five hundred composers and eight hundred performers as well as twenty three essays on forms eras and genres of classical music Original
