Complete Poems Joseph Seamon Cotter, 1990-01-01 The poems of Joseph Seamon Cotter Jr with textual commentary apparatus and notes The Lever of Riches Joel Mokyr, 1992-04-09 In a world of supercomputers genetic engineering and fiber optics technological creativity is ever more the key to economic success But why are some nations more creative than others and why do some highly innovative societies such as ancient China or Britain in the industrial revolution pass into stagnation Beginning with a fascinating concise history of technological progress Mokyr sets the background for his analysis by tracing the major inventions and innovations that have transformed society since ancient Greece and Rome What emerges from this survey is often surprising the classical world for instance was largely barren of new technology the relatively backward society of medieval Europe bristled with inventions and the period between the Reformation and the Industrial Revolution was one of slow and unspectacular progress in technology despite the tumultuous developments associated with the Voyages of Discovery and the Scientific Revolution What were the causes of technological creativity Mokyr distinguishes between the relationship of inventors and their physical environment which determined their willingness to challenge nature and the social environment which determined the openness to new ideas He discusses a long list of such factors showing how they interact to help or hinder a nation's creativity and then illustrates them by a number of detailed comparative studies examining the differences between Europe and China between classical antiquity and medieval Europe and between Britain and the rest of Europe during the industrial revolution He examines such aspects as the role of the state the Chinese gave up a millennium wide lead in shipping to the Europeans for example when an Emperor banned large ocean going vessels the impact of science as well as religion politics and even nutrition He questions the importance of such commonly cited factors as the spill over benefits of war the abundance of natural resources life expectancy and labor costs Today an ever greater number of industrial economies are competing in the global market locked in a struggle that revolves around technological ingenuity The Lever of Riches with its keen analysis derived from a sweeping survey of creativity throughout history offers telling insights into the question of how Western economies can maintain and developing nations can unlock their creative potential Collected Poems of Joseph S. Cotter, Sr Joseph Seamon Cotter, 1938 The African American Sonnet Timo Müller, 2018-08-02 Some of the best known African American poems are sonnets Claude McKay's If We Must Die Countee Cullen's Yet Do I Marvel Gwendolyn Brooks's First fight Then fiddle Yet few readers realize that these poems are part of a rich tradition that formed after the Civil War and comprises more than a thousand sonnets by African American poets Paul Laurence Dunbar Jean Toomer Langston Hughes Margaret Walker and Rita Dove all wrote sonnets Based on extensive archival research The African American Sonnet A Literary History traces this forgotten tradition from the nineteenth century to the present Timo Müller uses sonnets to open up fresh perspectives on African American literary history He examines the struggle over the legacy of the Civil War the trajectories of Harlem Renaissance protest the tensions

Wallace, 2001-05-30 The author explores the ethnic and racial identity formation among high school and college students of racially mixed heritage The portraits in this book provide a thorough examination of the dynamic ethnic and racial lives of a multifaceted and growing segment of students Unlike most recent projects on mixed heritage people which are narrow in scope and focus on one set of backgrounds e g black and white or black and Japanese the subjects in this study represent a vast array of heritages including those of dual minority ancestry The students' stories speak volumes about the uneven nature of racial and ethnic experience within and across traditional communities in contemporary U S society Unlike studies analyzing broad intergroup processes this work begins by examining the cultural dynamics of the home contributing valuable insights into the otherwise invisible lives of mixed heritage families Processes of enculturation and discourse acquisition are considered in the development of ethnic identity The book also helps to frame how changes within the U S racial ecology lead many recently mixed heritage individuals to see themselves as occupying un common ground Finally this work offers recommendations for educators concerned with creating school contexts that are critically supportive of human diversity Double-take Venetria K.
