

ABSTRACT

This study determined the level of Freedom of information and disseminating biased information of journalism and law of Davao City people. It is important to study their relationship as it will help the people on knowing if a certain information that the journalist spread is legitimate or biased. The researchers used descriptive-correlational type of research. A sample of 30 people from chosen through random sampling answered a self-made questionnaire. The data was analysed using Paired t-test and Pearson r correlation to test the significance and correlation. The study concluded that people are moderately engage and moderately satisfied. This study is positively correlated but the relationship is not significant

INTRODUCTION

The Freedom of Information Act or FOI is an important piece of legislation which has been passed in many countries to promote transparency in the government administration process. With this act, journalists are empowered to get information in the government and disseminate it to the people. While on the other hand, disseminating biased information in law is an act of spreading a false information of a certain law that is made by the government. Usually, disseminating biased information starts with the news that is made by the journalist.

Freedom of information and disseminating biased information is one of the issues that we have face here in Davao City. It is because of their own perspective or analyzation into a certain in law, like freedom of information in the field of journalism. It is their duty to disseminate information into a certain law into the public. But the problem is when they disseminate a certain law the lawyers didn't agree how the journalist spread that law, and that's the reason disseminating biased information in the field of law show up because they said that the law they made is not well delivered by the media, and it may result into misunderstanding. We need to find a solution to settle this problem as well.

Lawyers are known to be the people who give justice to the victims of a certain crime. They are also known as the one who knows that justice is all biased. Journalism is known for being the one who disseminate information to the people or the public. The problem is, what if both of those fields didn't work together? What if they don't have unity to each other? That's the reason why we need to conduct this study, because if we don't solve this problem then the public or the people will be the one who will be affected the most. In order to solve this problem, we need to know the opinion or explanation of the both sides, so that we can make a solution to this problem.

Since the researchers are pertaining the problem between law and journalism, the researchers read an article that the reason why there are a conflict about these professions is because some journalist are not really a journalist, like what

The Influence of Polls on Television News Coverage of Presidential Campaigns Vincent M. Fitzgerald, 2018-06-12 Since the election of Richard Nixon in 1968 to Donald Trump's victory in 2016 both presidential campaigns and television news have undergone significant changes perhaps most noticeably in the use of public opinion polls in campaign reporting by the national evening newscasts of ABC CBS and NBC The Influence of Polls on Television News Coverage of Presidential Campaigns explores how during the past 50 years the three networks have quadrupled their use of polls during general election campaigns while the amount of time spent covering the actual issues facing the nation has dwindled The increasing focus on polls over the years by television news has resulted in an overall diminished quality of journalism which is relying more and more on sensationalism and theatrics The competition between the candidates has become a central focus of reporting which has led to presidential campaigns being covered like sporting events Major party candidates are portrayed increasingly less like potential leaders of the free world and more like athletes who are winning or losing a ballgame The problem is not exit polls prematurely projecting a winner several hours before voting ends but pre election polls which do the same thing weeks before Election Day Recommended for scholars interested in communication political science history and sociology

Asian Americans and the Mass Media Virginia Mansfield-Richardson, 2014-06-23 Asian Americans are the fastest growing minority in the United States comprising nearly 3 percent of the population yet they are rarely given coverage in the U S media as this book demonstrates This book written by an 11 year reporter of The Washington Post who is now an Associate Dean at Ithaca College is broad in scope and studies the relationship between mass media and this important minority including 1 examines the scope and type of coverage afforded Asian Americans in mainstream newspapers through a content analysis of twenty leading newspapers for the year March 1 1994 to February 28 1995 2 examines the opinions of Asian Americans who work in print radio and television media both in mainstream media and specialized Asian American media through a survey asking their negative and positive experiences on the job as related to their ethnicity and their opinions on how well the media cover Asian Americans and 3 an historical examination of Asian Americans and media treatment of Asian Americans and specialized publications serving Asian Americans No other book has looked at media coverage of Asian Americans as in depth as this fascinating account of how attitudes towards Asian Americans are shaped in America through questionable coverage of this diverse segment of the population

The American Journalist in the 1990s David H. Weaver, G. Cleveland Wilhoit, 2020-08-13 Who are U S journalists What are their backgrounds and educational experiences Why did they choose journalism as an occupation What do they think about their work What are their professional and ethical values What kinds of work do they consider their best Do men differ from women on these questions Do ethnic and racial minorities differ from the majority Do journalists working for different print and broadcast news media differ This book uses findings from the most comprehensive and representative study ever done of the demographic and educational backgrounds working conditions and professional and ethical values of 1 410 U S print and broadcast journalists working in the 1990s to answer these questions including separate analyses for women and minority news people It also compares many of these findings with those from the major studies of the early 1970s and 1980s As such it should be the standard reference on U S journalists for years to come In addition this study goes beyond the previous two in adding more open ended questions to explain and enrich quantitative findings in the belief that the numbers by themselves are not enough to provide explanations for the patterns that emerge This book includes more of the journalists own words to fill this gap as well as an analysis of samples of their self selected best work Journalism & Mass Communication Abstracts ,1994 The Public Dimension of Foreign Policy David D.
