Pleasure and Leisure in the Middle Ages and Early Modern Age

Albrecht Classen,2019-08-05 Jan Huizinga and Roger Caillois have already taught us to realize how important games and play have been for pre modern civilization Recent research has begun to acknowledge the fundamental importance of these aspects in cultural religious philosophical and literary terms This volume expands on the traditional approach still very much focused on the materiality of game toys cards dice falcons dolls etc and acknowledges that game constituted also a form of coming to terms with human existence in an unstable and volatile world determined by universal randomness and fortune Whether considering blessings or horse fighting falconry or card games playing with dice or dolls we can gain a much deeper understanding of medieval and early modern society when we consider how people pursued pleasure and how they structured their leisure time The contributions examine a wide gamut of approaches to pleasure considering health issues eroticism tournaments playing music reading and listening drinking alcohol gambling and throwing dice This large issue was also relevant of course in non Christian societies and constitutes a critical concern both for the past and the present because we are all homines ludentes Falconry. Emma Ford,1998 Falconry ,1990 Birds of Prey: My Sojourn with

Social Zooarchaeology Nerissa Russell,2011-11-14

This is the first book to provide a systematic overview of social zooarchaeology which takes a holistic view of human animal relations in the past. Until recently, archaeological analysis of faunal evidence has primarily focused on the role of animals in the human diet and subsistence economy. This book, however, argues that animals have always played many more roles in human societies as wealth companions, spirit helpers, sacrificial victims, totems, centerpieces of feasts, objects of taboos, and more. These social factors are as significant as taphonomic processes in shaping animal bone assemblages. Nerissa Russell uses evidence derived from not only zooarchaeology but also ethnography, history, and classical studies to suggest the range of human animal relationships and to examine their importance in human society. Through exploring the significance of animals to ancient humans, this book provides a richer picture of past societies.

The Art and Archaeology of Human Engagements with Birds of Prey Robert J. Wallis, 2023-10-05. Of all avian groups, birds of prey in particular have long been a prominent subject of fascination in many human societies. This book demonstrates that the art and materiality of human engagements with raptors has been significant through deep time and across the world from earliest prehistory to Indigenous thinking in the present day. Drawing on a wide range of global case studies and a plurality of complementary perspectives, it explores the varied and fluid dynamics between humans and birds of prey as evidenced in this diverse art, historical, and archaeological record. From their depictions as powerful beings in visual art and their important roles in Indigenous mythologies to the significance of their body parts as active agents in religious rituals, the intentional deposition of their faunal remains, and the display of their preserved bodies in museums, there is no doubt that birds of prey have been figures of great import for the shaping of human society and culture. However, several of the chapters in this volume are particularly concerned with looking beyond the culture/nature dichotomy and human-centred accounts to explore perspectival and other post-humanist thinking on human raptor ontologies and epistemologies. The contributors recognize that human raptor relationships are not driven exclusively by human intentionality and that when these species meet, they relate to and become with one another. This raptor with human-focused approach allows for a productive re-framing of questions about human raptor interstices, enables fresh thinking about established evidence, and offers signposts for present and future intra-actions with birds of prey.

Falconry reflections Bob Dalton, Adam Mroczek, Zbigniew Bonczar, Roksana Nowak, 2009. Passions for Birds Sean Nixon, 2022-05-15. Whether as sources of joy and pleasure to be fed, counted, and watched as objects of sport to be hunted and killed, or as food to be harvested, wild birds evoke strong feelings. Sean Nixon traces the transformation of these human passions for wild birds from the early twentieth century through the 1970s, detailing humans' close encounters with wild birds in Britain and the wider North Atlantic world. Drawing on a rich range of written sources, Passions for Birds reveals how emotional, subjective, and material attachments to wild birds were forged through a period of pronounced social and cultural change. Nixon demonstrates how, for all their differences, new traditions in birdwatching and conservation, field sports, and bird harvesting mobilized remarkably similar feelings towards birds. Striking similarities also emerged in the material forms that each of these practices used to bring birds closer to people hides and traps nets and ropes and binoculars Wide ranging in scope Passions for Birds sheds new light on the ways in which wild birds helped shape humans throughout the twentieth century as well as how birds themselves became burdened with multiple cultural meanings and social anxieties over time

Falcon Helen Macdonald, 2016-11-15 Before best selling author Helen Macdonald told the story of the goshawk in H Is for Hawk she told the story of the falcon in a cultural history of the masterful creature that can cut the sky in two with the perfectly aerodynamic profile of a raindrop as she so incisively puts it In talon sharp prose she explores the spell the falcon has had over her and by extension all of us whether we've seen them through binoculars framed on gallery walls versified by poets flown as hunting birds through Manhattan windows sewn on flags stamped on badges or winnowing through the clouds over abandoned arctic radar stations Macdonald dives through centuries and careens around the globe to tell the story of the falcon as it has flown in the wild skies of the natural world and those of our imagination Mixing history myth and legend she explores the long history of the sport of falconry in many human cultures from Japan to Abu Dhabi to Oxford she analyzes the falcon's talismanic power as a symbol in art politics and business and she addresses the ways we have both endangered and protected it Along the way we discover how falcons were mobilized in secret military projects their links with espionage the Third Reich the Holy Roman Empire and space programs and how they have figured in countless stories of heroism and of course the erotic Best of all Macdonald has given us something fresh a new introduction that draws on all her experience to even further invigorate her cherished subject The result is a deeply informed book written with the same astonishing lyrical grace that has captivated readers and had everyone talking about this writer cum falconer

Zöopedagogies Bonnie J. Erwin, 2018-12-07 The human protagonists of medieval romance are works in progress They are learners taught by an unexpected set of teachers non human animals including horses hawks lions and the various quarry of the hunt These creature teachers show humans how to be more perfectly human how to love fight survive and live according to medieval culture's highest ideals Zöopedagogies explores the pedagogical role of animals in medieval romance a genre whose fantastical elements enable animal characters to behave in ways inspired by but not limited to their real world actions Situated at the intersection of animal studies and medieval studies Zöopedagogies claims medieval roots for posthumanism by telling a new story about the role of animals in constructing Western culture Bonnie Erwin brings together a diverse array of texts including chivalric romances like Sir Gawain and the Green Knight and popular romances like Bevis of Hampton and Richard Coeur de Lion She puts these into conversation with medieval texts on natural science horsemanship hawking and hunting that inform the representation of creatures who teach In so doing she reveals a rich and nuanced sense of animals as participants in interspecies collaborative culture making

In the Manner of the Franks Eric J. Goldberg, 2020-10-16 Eric J Goldberg traces the long history of early medieval hunting from the late Roman Empire to the death of the last Carolingian king Louis V in a hunting accident in 987 He focuses chiefly on elite men and the changing role that hunting played in articulating kingship status and manhood in the post Roman world While hunting was central to elite lifestyles throughout these centuries the Carolingians significantly altered this aristocratic activity in the later eighth and ninth centuries by making it a key symbol of Frankish kingship and political identity This new connection emerged under Charlemagne reached its high point under his son and heir Louis the Pious and continued under Louis's immediate successors Indeed the emphasis on hunting as a badge of royal power and Frankishness would prove to be among the Carolingians most significant and lasting legacies Goldberg draws on written sources such as chronicles law codes charters hagiography and poetry as well as artistic and archaeological evidence to explore the changing nature of early medieval hunting and its connections to politics and society Featuring more than sixty illustrations of hunting imagery found in mosaics stone sculpture metalwork and illuminated manuscripts In the Manner of the Franks portrays a vibrant and dynamic culture that encompassed red deer and wild boar hunting falconry ritualized behavior female spectatorship and complex forms of specialized knowledge that united kings and nobles in a shared political culture thus locating the origins of courtly hunting in the early Middle Ages
