Part 1: Documents, edited by L. Parris and C. Shields. Part 2: Correspondence, edited by I. Fleming-Williams* John Constable, 1962      John Constable Anthony Bailey, 2012-03-31 Born in 1776 in East Anglia near the river Stour John Constable was destined for his father s business of milling and grain shipping But he was obdurately opposed to this and persuaded his family he should become an artist instead In the same determined spirit he wooed Maria Bicknell in the teeth of opposition from her formidable grandfather and persisted in painting landscapes at a time when history paintings and portraits were the fashion Sometimes sharp and sarcastic and often depressed Constable in fact possessed a warm gift for intimate friendship This is revealed in his letters to John Dunthorne village handyman and housepainter and to his best friend and patron archdeacon John Fisher to whom he wrote I have a kingdom of my own both fertile and populous my landscape and my children In recent times after a period of relative ignominy Constable s influence on British landscape painting has been re acknowledged he has been more widely exhibited and his reputation has been reestablished as one of the masters of his genre This important and absorbing biography explores his life and work and highlights the dramatic tension between the two      Representations of the Self from the Renaissance to Romanticism Patrick Coleman, Jayne Lewis, Jill Kowalik, 2000-04-27 This book examines the public assertion of self by men and women in England France and Germany from the Renaissance to Romanticism      Encyclopedia of the Romantic Era, 1760-1850 Christopher John Murray, 2013-05-13 In 850 analytical articles this two volume set explores the developments that influenced the profound changes in thought and sensibility during the second half of the eighteenth century and the first half of the nineteenth century The Encyclopedia provides readers with a clear detailed and accurate reference source on the literature thought music and art of the period demonstrating the rich interplay of international influences and cross currents at work and to explore the many issues raised by the very concepts of Romantic and Romanticism The Visual and Verbal Sketch in British Romanticism Richard C. Sha,2016-11-11 With their broken lines and hasty brushwork sketches acquired enormous ideological and aesthetic power during the Romantic period in England Whether publicly displayed or serving as the basis of a written genre these rough drawings played a central role in the cultural ferment of the age by persuading audiences that less is more The Visual and Verbal Sketch in British Romanticism investigates the varied implications of sketching in late eighteenth and early nineteenth century culture Calling on a wide range of literary and visual genres Richard C Sha examines the shifting economic and aesthetic value of the sketch in sources ranging from auction catalogs and sketching manuals to novels that employed scenes of sketching and courtship He especially shows how sketching became a double edged accomplishment for women when used to define proper femininity Sha s work offers fresh readings of Austen Gilpin Wordsworth and Byron as well as less familiar writers and provides sophisticated interpretations of visual sketches As the first full length work about sketching during the Romantic era this volume is a rich interdisciplinary study of both representation and gender John Constable's Skies John E. Thornes,John Constable,1999-01-01 John Constable is arguably the most accomplished painter of English skies and weather of all time For Constable the sky was the keynote the standard of scale and the chief organ of sentiment in a landscape painting But how far did he understand the workings of the forces of nature which created his favourite cumulus clouds portrayed in so many of his skies over the landscapes of Hampstead Heath Salisbury and Suffolk And were the skies he painted scientifically accurate In this lucid and accessible study John Thornes provides a meteorological framework for reading the skies of landscape art compares Constable s skies to those produced by other artists from the middle ages to the nineteenth century analyses Constable s own meteorological understanding and examines the development of his painted skies In so doing he provides fresh evidence to identify the year of painting of some of Constable s previously undated cloud studies Constable Barry Venning,2015-09-15 John Constable was the first English landscape painter to take no lessons from the Dutch He is rather indebted to the landscapes of Rubens but his real model was Gainsborough whose landscapes with great trees planted in well balanced masses on land sloping upwards towards the frame have a rhythm often found in Rubens Constable s originality does not lie in his choice of subjects which frequently repeated themes beloved by Gainsborough Nevertheless Constable seems to belong to a new century he ushered in a new era The difference in his approach results both from technique and feeling Excepting the French Constable was the first landscape painter to consider as a primary and essential task the sketch made direct from nature at a single sitting an idea which contains in essence the destinies of modern landscape and perhaps of most modern painting It is this momentary impression of all things which will be the soul of the future work Working at leisure upon the large canvas an artist's aim is to enrich and complete the sketch while retaining its pristine freshness These are the two processes to which Constable devoted himself while discovering the exuberant abundance of life in the simplest of country places He had the palette of a creative colourist and a technique of vivid hatchings heralding that of the French impressionists He audaciously and frankly introduced green into painting the green of lush meadows the green of summer foliage all the greens which until then painters had refused to see except through bluish yellow or more often brown spectacles Of the great landscape painters who occupied so important a place in nineteenth century art Corot was probably the only one to escape the influence of Constable All the others are more or less direct descendants of the master of East Bergholt From Gainsborough to Constable, 1991 This is the catalogue to the exhibition held in summer 1991 at Gainsborough House Sudbury focusing on Constable and the artists whose work was important to him in his formative years Gainsborough Wilson Beaumont and Farington This exhibition complements the 1991 Tate Gallery exhibition which omits Constable's early work John Constable Leslie Parris, 1975

Representing Place Edward S. Casey, 2002-01-01 You are here a map declares but of course you are not any more than you truly occupy the vantage point into which a landscape painting puts you How maps and paintings figure and reconfigure space as well as our place in it is the subject of Edward S Casey's study an exploration of how we portray the world and its many places Casey's discussion ranges widely from Northern Song landscape painting to nineteenth century American and British landscape painting and photography from prehistoric petroglyphs and medieval portolan charts to seventeenth century Dutch cartography and land survey maps of the American frontier From these culturally and historically diverse forays a theory of representation emerges Casey proposes that the representation of place in visual works be judged in terms not of resemblance but of reconnecting with an earth and world that are not the mere content of mind or language a reconnection that calls for the embodiment and implacement of the human subject Book jacket Beyond History of Science Elizabeth Garber, 1990 This collection focuses on the intellectual development of the sciences their relationships with technology and their place in culture in general including a proposed realignment of science technology and art The Art of Mary Linwood Heidi A. Strobel, 2023-11-30 The Art of Mary Linwood is the first book on Leicester textile artist Mary Linwood 1755 1845 and catalogue of her work When British textile artist and gallery owner Mary Linwood died in 1845 just shy of 90 years old her estate was worth the equivalent of 5 199 822 in today's currency As someone who made but did not sell embroidered replicas of famous artworks after artists such as Gainsborough Reynolds Stubbs and Morland how did she accumulate so much money A pioneering woman in the male dominated art world of late Georgian Britain Linwood established her own London gallery in 1798 that featured copies of well known paintings by these popular artists Featuring props and specially designed rooms for her replicas she ensured that her visitors had an entertaining educational and kinetic tour similar to what Madame Tussaud would do one generation later The gallery s focus on picturesque painters provided her London visitors with an idyllic imaginary journey through the countryside Its emphasis on quintessentially British artists provided a unifying focus for a country that had recently emerged from the threat of Napoleonic invasion This book brings to the fore Linwood s gallery guides and previously unpublished letters to her contemporaries such as Birmingham inventor Matthew Boulton and Queen Charlotte It also includes the first and only catalogue of Linwood s extant and destroyed works By examining Linwood s replicas and their accompanying objects through the lens of material culture the book provides a much needed contribution to the scholarship on women and cultural agency in the early 19th century The Huntington Library Quarterly Henry E.
