John McDowell Reason And Nature Lecture And Colloquium In Munster 1999:

John McDowell John McDowell, 2000 John McDowell is one of the most influential philosophers writing today His work ranging from interpretations of Plato and Aristotle to Davidsonian semantics from ethics to epistemology and the philosophy of mind has set the agenda for many recent philosophical debates This volume contains the proceedings of the third Münsteraner Vorlesungen zur Philosophie which McDowell delivered in 1999 A lecture entitled Experiencing the World introduces into the set of ideas McDowell developed in his groundbreaking book Mind and World The lecture is followed by ten brief essays both interpretative and critical in which students and faculty from the Department of Philosophy at the University of Münster discuss various aspects of McDowell's philosophy The volume ends with responses by John McDowell

John McDowell, 2000     The Relevance of Hegel's Concept of Philosophy Luca Illetterati, Giovanna Miolli, 2021-12-16 In a systematic treatment of Hegel's concept of philosophy and all of the different aspects related to it this collection explores how Hegel and his understanding of his discipline can be put into dialogue with current metaphilosophical inquiries and shed light on the philosophical examination of the nature of philosophy itself Taking into account specific aspects of Hegel's elaboration on philosophy such the scientificity of philosophy as a self-grounding rational process and his explanation of the relationship between philosophy and the history of philosophy an international line up of contributors consider Hegel's concept of philosophy in general from skepticism idealism history and difference to time politics and religion The relation of Hegel's concept of philosophy to other philosophical traditions and philosophers including Kant Fichte Schelling and Jacobi Hegel's concept of philosophy with reference to philosophy's relation to other forms of rationality and disciplines The relation of Hegel's concept of philosophy to specific issues in present metaphilosophical debates Reflecting the renewed and widespread interest in Hegel seen in Analytic philosophy and Continental thought this volume advances study of Hegel's conceptual tools and provides new readings of traditional philosophical problems     McDowell and Hegel Federico Sanguinetti, André J. Abath, 2018-11-23 This book presents a comprehensive and detailed exploration of the relationship between the thought of G W F Hegel and that of John McDowell the latter of whom is widely considered to be one of the most influential living analytic philosophers It serves as a point of entry in McDowell's and Hegel's philosophy and a substantial contribution to ongoing debates on perceptual experience and perceptual justification naturalism human freedom and action The chapters gathered in this volume as well as McDowell's responses make it clear that McDowell's work paves the way for an original reading of Hegel's texts His conceptual framework allows for new interpretive possibilities in Hegel's philosophy which until now have remained largely unexplored Moreover these interpretations shed light on various aspects of continuity and discontinuity between the philosophies of these two authors thus defining more clearly their positions on specific issues In addition they allow us to see Hegel's thought as containing a number of conceptual tools that might be useful for advancing McDowell's own philosophy and contemporary philosophy in general     The Bloomsbury Encyclopedia of

The Contents of Perceptual Experience: A Kantian Perspective Anna Tomaszewska, 2014-10-08 The book addresses the debate on whether the representational content of perceptual experience is conceptual or non conceptual by bringing out the points of comparison between Kant s conception of intuition and the contemporary accounts of non conceptual content encountered in the writings of G Evans Ch Peacocke F Dretske T Crane M G F Martin and others Following R Aquila s reading of Kant s conception of representation the author argues that intuition Anschauung intuitus provides the most basic form of intentionality pre conceptual reference to objects which underlies the acts of conceptualization and judgment The book advances an interpretation of Kant s theory of experience in the light of such questions as Does conscious perceptual experience of objects require that subjects possess concepts of these objects Do the contents of experience differ from the contents of beliefs or judgments And if they do what accounts for this difference These questions take us to the most puzzling philosophical topic of the relation between mind and world Anna Tomaszewska argues that this relation does not involve conceptual capacities alone but also on the most basic level of perceptual experience pre cognitive sensible intuition enabling relatedness to objects that remains uninformed by concepts In a nutshell on her interpretation Kant can be taken to subscribe to the view that perceptual cognition does not have rational underpinnings

Ethics, Society, Politics Hajo Greif, Martin Gerhard Weiss, 2013-10-30 A real book on ethics as Wittgenstein had it if one could conceive it in the first place would be the book to destroy all other books Yet there is an increasing number of real world discourses in which ethical values are mobilized as justifications for socio political action while in turn moral problems are becoming a topic of political negotiation Although it will be difficult to find systematic accounts of an absolute good or of absolute values in these debates it is equally difficult to imagine them not being deeply informed by such considerations Rather than merely adding to the corpus of applied ethics on the one hand or remaining in seemingly Wittgensteinian silence about ethics on the other many contributions to this volume explore the reach of what can be said in ethical terms while others provide critical discussions of what is being said in various fields of applied ethics and political philosophy under real world power relations This volume collects invited contributions from the 35th International Wittgenstein Symposium 2012 in Kirchberg am Wechsel Austria Authors include Alice Crary Peter Dabrock Rom Harr Agnes
