Facing The Wind A True Story Of Tragedy And Reconciliation:

Facing the Wind Julie Salamon, 2002-04-09 Robert and Mary Rowe's second child Christopher was born with severe neurological and visual impairments. For many years the Rowes' courageous response to adversity set an example for other parents of children with birth defects. Then the pressures on Bob Rowe, personal and professional, took their toll and he fell into depression and ultimately delusion. And one day he took a baseball bat and killed his wife and three children. Julie Salamon deftly avoids sensationalism as she tells the Rowes' tragic story with intelligence, sympathy, and insight. Like all great literary journalism, Facing the Wind asks us to join its issues and examine our own lives and problems in the new, bright light that good writing always sheds.

Violence and Nonviolence Gregg Barak, 2003-02-24 Gregg Barak's Violence and Nonviolence is a thoughtful, comprehensive examination of violence in the United States. Structurally and conceptually, this book works. Barak addresses violence in an interdisciplinary way, addressing history, psychology, biology, cultural studies, and sociology. Moreover, Barak does an excellent job of discussing the intersection of race, class, and gender and those relationships with violence. Heather Melton, University of Utah. Clearly, the strength of this book is its comprehensive and reciprocal approach. I found this to be an enjoyable and provocative book that treats the topic holistically and offers a vision for overcoming current patterns of violence. I am convinced that this is an important work that will ultimately be well received by undergraduates, graduate students, violence specialists, and general readers. Mathew T. Lee
