De Bellis,2017-11-21 Fifty three individuals present a prismatic view of the two time Pulitzer Prize winner and his work through anecdote and insight Interviews and essays from family friends and associates reveal sides of the novelist perhaps unfamiliar to the public the high school prankster the golfer the creator of bedtime stories the charming ironist the faithful correspondent with scholars the devoted friend and the dedicated practitioner of his craft The contributors include his first wife Mary Pennington and three of their children high school and college friends authors John Barth Joyce Carol Oates and Nicholson Baker journalists Terri Gross and Ann Goldstein and scholars Jay Parini William Pritchard James Plath and Adam Begley Updike s biographer British Literature and Culture in Second World War Beryl Pong,2020-05-14 British Literature and Culture in Second World War excavates British late modernism s relationship to war in terms of chronophobia a joint fear of the past and future As a wartime between but distinct from those of the First World War and the Cold War Second World wartime involves an anxiety that is both repetition and imaginary both a dread of past violence unleashed anew and that of a future violence still ungraspable Identifying a constellation of temporalities and affects under three tropes time capsules time zones and ruins this volume contends that Second World wartime is a pivotal moment when wartime surpassed the boundaries of a specific state of emergency becoming first routine and then open ended It offers a synoptic wide ranging look at writers on the home front including Henry Green Elizabeth Bowen Virginia Woolf and Rose Macaulay through a variety of genres such as life writing the novel and the short story It also considers an array of cultural and archival material from photographers such as Cecil Beaton filmmakers such as Charles Crichton and artists such as John Minton It shows how figures harnessed or exploited their media s temporal properties to formally register the distinctiveness of this wartime through a complex feedback between anticipation and retrospection oftentimes fashioning the war as a memory even while it was taking place While offering a strong foundation for new readers of the mid century the book s overall theoretical focus on chronophobia will be an important intervention for those already working in the field

Mazzeno,2013 When John Updike died in 2009 tributes from the literary establishment were immediate and fulsome However no one reading reviews of Updike s work in the late 1960s would have predicted that kind of praise for a man who was known then as a brilliant stylist who had nothing to say What changed Why And what is likely to be his legacy These are the questions that Becoming John Updike pursues by examining the journalistic and academic response to his writings Several things about Updike s career make a reception study appropriate First he was prolific he began publishing fiction and essays in 1956 published his first book in 1958 and from then on brought out at least one new book each year Second his books were reviewed widely usually in major American newspapers and magazines and often in foreign ones as well Third Updike quickly became a darling of academics the first book about his work was published in 1967 less than a decade after his own first book More than three dozen books and hundreds of articles of academic criticism have been devoted to Updike The present volume will appeal to the continuing interest in Updike's writing among academics and general readers alike Laurence W Mazzeno is President Emeritus of Alvernia University Among other books he has written volumes on Austen Dickens Tennyson and Matthew Arnold for Camden House's Literary Criticism in Perspective series God, Humanity and the Cosmos - 2nd Edition Christopher Southgate, 2005-12-01 Contributors include Christopher Southgate John Hedley Brooke Celia Deane Drummond Paul D Murray Michael Robert Negus Lawrence Osborn Michael Poole Jacqui Stewart Fraser Watts David Wilkinson This fully revised and updated edition of God, Humanity and the Cosmos includes new chapters by John Hedley Brooke Paul D Murray and David Wilkinson In addition to a systematic exploration of contemporary perspectives in physics evolutionary biology and psychology as they relate to theological descriptions of the universe humanity and consciousness the book now provides a thorough survey of the theological philosophical and historical issues underpinning the science religion debate Contributors also examine such issues as theological responses to the ecological crisis and to biotechnology how science is treated and valued in education and the relation of science to Islamic thought Dr Christopher Southgate is Lecturer in Theology at the University of Exeter The Other John Updike Donald J.
