John Cobbs Theology In Process:

John Cobb's Theology in Process David Ray Griffin, Thomas J. J. Altizer, 1977-01-01 Multilateral Theology

Timothy T.N Lim, 2021-04-19 This book introduces a new multilateral methodology for the contemporary study of theology. It bases this methodology on the idea that there are too many materials contributing as sources for theologizing to sustain the one method fits all approach found in many systematic theologies within Christianity. What is needed instead is something that reflects the various and varied natures, purposes and tasks of theologians theologizing for their respective contexts. Engaging materials from a range of Christian traditions including Evangelicalism, the Catholic Magisterium and a limited range of pan-Orthodox resources, the book analyzes and assesses major factors that have shaped different streams of theology. Addressing doctrinal development, scripture and revelation, historical tradition and creeds, philosophy and truth, sciences and interdisciplinarity, experience, religious pluralism and culture, it demonstrates how these various streams can form a multilateral whole. The book concludes by examining the centers and peripherals of methodologies in theologization for a spectrum of theological traditions, streams both across and beyond Christianity. By offering an approach that keeps in step with the increasingly interconnected and pluralistic world in which we live, this book provides a vital resource for any scholar of Christian theology, constructive theology, contextual theologies and systematic theology, as well as religious studies.

Jewish Theology and Process Thought Sandra B. Lubarsky, David Ray Griffin, 1996-01-01 Presents essays by Jewish thinkers who have found process thought to be a useful framework for contemporary Jewish thought and a set of conversations between Jewish and Christian thinkers on the appropriateness of process thought for Judaism and Christianity.

The Doctrine of God in the Process Theology of John B. Cobb, Jr.: a Review and Critique, Based Primarily on Cobb's Position in Jeremy Eleazer Fisher, Lenoir-Rhyne College (Hickory, N.C.), 1988 ProcessMind Arnold Mindell, 2012-12-19 Einstein said I want to know the mind of God; the rest are details. This book is therapist Arnold Mindell's response. By processmind, he means an earth-based experience of the universal state of consciousness that he argues pervades all reality. It is perhaps our most basic, least known and greatest power, combining the nonlocality of modern physics with altered states of consciousness found in peak experiences. What makes this book unique is that it offers some experience of this mind state to the reader. Mindell does so by connecting cosmic patterns seen in physics with experiences occurring in psychology and world spiritual traditions. He draws together ideas about Aboriginal totem spirits, quantum entanglement and nonlocality to describe the structure of God experiences. Enhancing his clear presentation are around 80 illustrations and 30 experiential exercises based on tested approaches that actualize our deepest unitive consciousness. Through rational thinking and earth-based inner experience, the reader can sense how the processmind's self-organizing intelligence helps with dreams, body symptoms, relationships and large group conflict issues. Altogether, the book is a kind of user's guide to tapping into an immense power that can benefit our own individual life and ultimately the world. Spirit and Christianity Kevin

Lixey, 2012-11-12 Sport and Christianity explores the connections between these two seemingly disparate phenomena. It reflects on what the fascination for sport reveals about the human person and to what degree sporting activities are compatible with and can even advance the church's mission. The Christology of John B. Cobb, Jr Robert Preston Tucker, 1984

Theology and the University David Ray Griffin, Joseph C. Hough Jr., 1991-03-21 This book explores the relationship between theology and the modern university. Most of the essays were written specifically for this volume and all of them are published here for the first time. David Ray Griffin, Gordon Kaufman, Hans K. Schubert, Ogden and Wolfhart Pannenberg address the question of whether theology belongs in the university at all. Essays by Joseph Hough, Catherine Keller, and Marjorie Suchoki argue that theology has a vital role in helping the university recover its central mission that of educating for the sake of the common good. Thomas Altizer, William Beardslee, and Jack Verheyden provide historical analyses of the interactions between theology and the university, with Altizer focusing on the modern divorce between faith and reason, Beardslee on the relevance of the renewed emphasis upon rhetoric, and Verheyden on the ideal of knowledge. As a whole, Theology and the University presents an impressive case against the position that theology is inappropriate in the university. It argues not only that theology has a rightful place in the university but also that the university needs theology just as theology needs the university.

Esalen Jeffrey J. Kripal, 2011-09-07 Jeffrey Kripal here recounts the spectacular history of Esalen, the institute that has long been a world leader in alternative and experiential education and stands today at the center of the human potential movement. Forged in the literary and mythical leanings of the Beat Generation, inspired in the lecture halls of Stanford by radical scholars of comparative religion, the institute was the remarkable brainchild of Michael Murphy and Richard Price. Set against the heady backdrop of California during the revolutionary 1960s, Esalen recounts in fascinating detail how these two maverick thinkers sought to fuse the spiritual revelations of the East with the scientific revolutions of the West or to combine the very best elements of Zen Buddhism, Western psychology, and Indian yoga into a decidedly utopian vision that rejected the dogmas of conventional religion. In their religion of no religion, the natural world was just as crucial as the spiritual one; science and faith not only commingled but became staunch allies, and the enlightenment of the body could lead to the full realization of our development as human beings. An impressive new book, Kripal has written the definitive intellectual history of the ideas behind the institute. San Francisco Chronicle: Kripal examines Esalen's extraordinary history and evocatively describes the breech birth of Murphy and Price's brainchild. His real achievement though is effortlessly synthesizing a dizzying array of dissonant phenomena Cold War espionage ecstatic religiosity incongruous pairings Darwinism Tantric sex and otherwise schizy ephemera psychedelic drugs spaceflight into a cogent satisfyingly complete narrative Atlantic Monthly Kripal has produced the first all encompassing history of Esalen its intellectual social personal literary and spiritual passages Kripal brings us up to date and takes us deep beneath historical surfaces in this definitive elegantly written book Playboy
