Global Aging And Its Challenge To Families:

Global Aging and Its Challenge to Families Vern L. Bengtson, Ariela Lowenstein, The recent explosion in population aging across the globe represents one of the most remarkable demographic changes in human history There is much concern about population aging and its consequences for nations for governments and for individuals It has often been noted that population aging will inevitably affect the economic stability of most countries and the policies of most state governments What is less obvious but equally important is that population aging will profoundly affect families Who will care for the growing numbers of tomorrow s very old members of societies Will it be state governments The aged themselves Their families The purpose of this volume is to examine consequences of global aging for families and intergenerational support and for nations as they plan for the future Four remarkable social changes during the past fifty years are highlighted 1 Extension of the life course A generation has been added to the average span of life over the past century 2 Changes in the age structures of nations Most nations today have many more elders and many fewer children than fifty years ago 3 Changes in family structures and relationships Some of these differences are the result of trends in family structure notably higher divorce rates and the higher incidence of childbearing to single parents 4 Changes in governmental responsibilities In the last decade governmental responsibility appears to have slowed or reversed as states reduce welfare expenditures How will families respond to twenty first century problems associated with population aging Will families indeed be important in the twenty first century or will kinship and the obligations across generations become increasingly irrelevant replaced by personal communities This volume goes a considerable distance to answer these critical issues for the twenty first century Vern L Bengtson is an AARP University Chair in Gerontology and Professor of Sociology University of Southern California Ariela Lowenstein is associate professor and head Department of Aging Studies University of Haifa Israel Global Aging and Its Challenge to Families ,2003 Global Aging and Challenges to Families Vern Bengtson,2018-01-16 The recent explosion in population ageing across the globe represents one of the most remarkable demographic changes in human history Population ageing will profoundly affect families Who will care for the growing numbers of tomorrows very old members of societies Will it be state governments The aged themselves Their families The purpose of this book is to examine consequences of global aging for families and intergenerational support and for nations as they plan for the future Global Aging and Challenges to Families Vern Bengtson,2018-01-16 The recent explosion in population ageing across the globe represents one of the most remarkable demographic changes in human history Population ageing will profoundly affect families Who will care for the growing numbers of tomorrows very old members of societies Will it be state governments The aged themselves Their families The purpose of this book is to examine consequences of global aging for families and intergenerational support and for nations as they plan for the future Handbook of Marriage and the Family Gary W. Peterson,Kevin R. Bush,2012-09-14 The third edition of Handbook of Marriage and the Family describes analyzes synthesizes and critiques the current research and theory about family relationships family structural variations and the role of families in society This updated Handbook provides the most comprehensive state of the art assessment of the existing knowledge of family life with particular attention to variations due to gender socioeconomic race ethnic cultural and life style diversity The Handbook also aims to provide the best synthesis of our existing scholarship on families that will be a primary source for scholars and professionals but also serve as the primary graduate text for graduate courses on family relationships and the roles of families in society In addition the involvement of chapter authors from a variety of fields including family psychology family sociology child development family studies public health and family therapy gives the Handbook a multidisciplinary and interdisciplinary framework

The Cambridge Handbook of Age and Ageing Malcolm L. Johnson, Vern L. Bengtson, Peter G. Coleman, Thomas B. L. Kirkwood, 2005-12-01 The Cambridge Handbook of Age and Ageing first published in 2005 is a guide to the body of knowledge theory policy and practice relevant to age researchers and gerontologists around the world It contains almost 80 original chapters commissioned and written by the world's leading gerontologists from 16

countries and 5 continents The broad focus of the book is on the behavioural and social sciences but it also includes important contributions from the biological and medical sciences It provides comprehensive accessible and authoritative accounts of all the key topics in the field ranging from theories of ageing to demography physical aspects of ageing mental processes and ageing nursing and health care for older people the social context of ageing cross cultural perspectives relationships quality of life gender and financial and policy provision This handbook will be a must have resource for all researchers students and professionals with an interest in age and ageing Ageing and Intergenerational Relations Misa Izuhara, 2010 Examining the key aspects of the new patterns of family relations both conceptually and empirically from a global perspective this text covers Europe East Asia Sub Saharan Africa Thailand and the USA with contributions from a wide range of authors Handbook of Aging and the Social Sciences Robert H. Binstock, Linda K. George, Stephen J. Cutler, Jon Hendricks, James H. Schulz, 2011-05-05 The Handbook of Aging and the Social Sciences Sixth Edition provides a comprehensive summary and evaluation of recent research on the social aspects of aging The 25 chapters are divided into four sections discussing Aging and Time Aging and Social Structure Social Factors and Social Institutions and Aging and Society Within this context aging is examined from the perspectives of many disciplines and professions including anthropology bioethics demography economics epidemiology law political science psychology and sociology The Sixth Edition of the Handbook is virtually 100% new material Seventeen chapters are on subjects not carried in the previous edition Seven topics were carried over from the previous edition but written by new authors with fresh perspectives and brought up to date Some of the exciting new topics include social relationships in late life technological change and aging religion and aging lifestyle and aging perceived quality of life economic security in retirement and aging and the law There is also a greater emphasis on international perspectives particularly in chapters on aging and politics diversity and aging and immigration The Handbook will be of use to researchers and professional practitioners working with the aged It is also suitable for use as a course text for graduate and advanced undergraduate courses on aging and the social sciences Transmitting Inequality Yuval Elmelech, 2008-05-21 In this authoritative study Elmelech investigates the role that generational heritage plays in social stratification Transmitting Inequality provides the essential theoretical framework for examining the institutional inequalities that shape the distribution of property and Intergenerational Relations Albert, Isabelle, Ferring, Dieter, 2013-06-27 Population ageing today affects most industrialised countries and it will have an impact on many facets of the social system Intergenerational relationships will play a key role in dealing with the demographical and societal change This book provides innovative views in the multidisciplinary research field of intergenerational family relations in society with a focus on Europe Different but complementary perspectives are integrated in one volume bringing together international scholars from sociology psychology and economics The book's chapters are grouped into three thematic sections which cover conceptual issues multigenerational and cross cultural perspectives as well as applied issues Implications for research policy and practice are addressed and suggestions for future directions are discussed By raising recent discussions on controversial issues this book will stimulate the current discourse at various levels Intergenerational relations in society and family will be equally interesting for researchers advanced level students and stakeholders in the fields of social policy population ageing and intergenerational family relationships Kinship and Cohort in an Aging Society Merrill Silverstein, Roseann

Giarrusso, 2013-09-01 According to family sociologist Vern Bengtson generations within families are important sources of influence change and development Kinship and Cohort in an Aging Society brings together scholars whose common link is their intellectual intersection with the work of Vern Bengtson an esteemed family sociologist whose accomplishments include foundational theoretical contributions to the study of families and intergenerational relations as well as the development of the widely used Longitudinal Study of Generations data set The study began in 1971 and is the basis for Bengtson's highly influential concept and measurement model the intergenerational solidarity conflict paradigm This book serves as an excellent compendium of original research that examines how Bengtson's solidarity model a theory that informs nearly all intergenerational and gerontology sociology work performed today continues to be relevant to scholars and practitioners Written by internationally recognized scholars the book's fifteen chapters are mapped to five major thematic areas to which Bengtson's research contributed family connections grandparents in a changing demographic landscape generations and cohorts micro macro dialectics religion and families in the context of continuity change and conflict and global cross national and cross ethnic concerns Key strengths of the book include the diversity of foci and data sources and the strong attention given to global and international issues Kinship and Cohort in an Aging Society will appeal to scholars working in sociology psychology gerontology family studies and social work Family and Aging Policy Francis G. Caro, 2014-05-01 Learn how public policies can help families provide the care their elderly relatives need Family and Aging Policy examines how public initiatives to assist the elderly in the United States Canada Singapore Denmark and Sweden can impact families who provide them with long term care For the majority of older people the aging experience involves their families directly and indirectly affecting income security housing and health care This unique book addresses the aging issues that matter most to families struggling to deal with the demands of care giving and provides answers on how the public sector can help As the traditional nuclear family becomes a memory and the notion of extended family disappears the need for public interventions to help the elderly increases A significant number of people grow old without families they can depend on Others have families who want to help but lack the financial means or the housing needed to provide care Family and Aging Policy offers options on how families and formal services can share responsibilities including how families can juggle jobs and care giving the effects of the Family and Medical Leave Act consumer directed service options community based care programs accessory dwelling units and zoning ordinances and provisions for caregiver support in each of the 50 United States and the District of Columbia Family and Aging Policy examines extensive welfare programs in Sweden publicly funded home care programs in Denmark family oriented social policies in Singapore shared responsibilities of families and formal services in Canada the Administration on Aging's National Family Caregiver Support program in the United States California Caregiver Resource Centers and much more Family and Aging Policy is an invaluable tool for researchers and policy analysts working in family policy issues and as an essential supplemental text for course work in gerontology sociology family relations and social work

Sourcebook of Family Theory and Research Vern L. Bengtson, 2005 Now available in paperback for classroom use This comprehensive text provides a rich source of perspectives on theorising about the family for scholars researchers and students Another of the book's strengths is the emphasis on multimethod approaches in family research The book covers an impressive range of topics and issues marital happiness adjustment of children in divorce marriages gay marriage sibling ties ethnic families of colour stepfamilies aggression culture work and family religion and social policy to name a few In summary this superb volume is highly recommended and amply reflects the many contemporary perspectives on the family Philip Siebler Monash University Victoria Sponsored by the National Council on Family Relations the Sourcebook of Family Theory and Research is the reference work on theory and methods for family scholars and students around the world This volume provides a diverse eclectic and paradoxically mature approach to theorizing and demonstrates how the development of theory is crucial to the future of family research The Sourcebook reflects an interactive approach that focuses on the process of theory building and designing research thereby engaging readers in doing theory rather than simply reading about it An accompanying website offers additional participation and interaction in the process of doing theory and making science Editors Vern L. Bengtson Alan C. Acock Katherine R. Allen Peggye Dilworth Anderson and David M. Klein have brought together a prominent group of diverse contributors ranging in race and ethnicity age and seniority and gender and sexual orientation The Sourcebook begins with a section that sets the context for future family research The subsequent sections explore changing family patterns changing family interactions within and across generations and families and larger social forces A concluding section discusses issues of teaching family theories and research Key Features Focuses on the process rather than the outcomes of family theory and research methods Emphasizes the value of multi methods approaches in family research by integrating theory development with the development of research methods Differs from many other publications on family research by describing the development of new ideas rather than just summarizing existing findings The interactive Web site and the special feature boxes within the chapters engage readers with theory and methodology Boxed features include Case Studies Spotlights on Theory Spotlights on Methods and a Discussion and Extension sections Represents a Who's Who of family researchers with contributions from many of the best researchers in the family realm The Sourcebook will be an excellent addition to any academic library It is an authoritative reference for scholars and researchers in Human Development and Family Studies Sociology Social Work and Psychology In addition the Sourcebook can also be used in graduate courses on family theory and methodology

Housing Careers, Intergenerational Support and Family

Relations Christian Lennartz, Richard Ronald, 2020-06-09 In this comprehensive volume authors from across the social sciences explore how housing wealth transfers have impacted the integration of families society and the economy with a focus on the re negotiation of the generational contract While housing has always been central to the realization and reproduction of families more recently the mutual embedding of home and family has become more obvious as realignments in housing markets employment and welfare states have worked together to undermine housing access for new households enhancing intergenerational interdependencies More families have thus become involved in smoothening the routes of younger adult members into and up the housing ladder While intergenerational support appears to have become much more widespread it remains highly differentiated across countries cities and regions as well as uneven between social and income classes This book addresses the increasing role that family support and intergenerational transfers in particular are playing in sustaining the formation of new households and the transition of young adults towards social and economic autonomy The authors draw on diverse international cases and a variety of methodologies in order to advance our understanding of housing as a key driver of contemporary social relations and inequalities Chapters 1 4 6 7 8 and 9 of this book are freely available as downloadable Open Access PDFs at <https://www.taylorfrancis.com> under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives CC BY NC ND 4.0 license Chapters 1 6 8 and 9 and a Creative Commons Attribution CC BY 4.0 license Chapters 4 and 7
