Harvey,2014-01-14 Losses are integral to the human experience but they sometimes unfold in subtle ways Loss is not just about death but can encompass a number of situations such as those gradual losses experienced by the elderly loss of vision mental capacity or hope Intended to stimulate ideas and research in the new area of psychological aspects of loss this sourcebook collects the writing of a set of distinguished scholars representing psychology and related fields The author presents a case for a broadly construed field of loss both personal and interpersonal that would complement other fields such as death and dying traumatology and stress and coping No other volume is as comprehensive in its treatment of this intriguing subject The book begins with an introduction to the concept of loss and discusses the definition of the term and the salience of the topic in the general public in the 1990s Contributors were chosen to represent some of the most interesting current work on different types of loss and adaptation in the whole of the social and behavioral sciences Contents cover such diverse subjects as loss in intimate relationships disability chronic illness genocide sports unemployment and homelessness The book concludes with a commentary section on loss theory and research Fatal Attraction CentreStage Theatre Archives,Canadian Stage Theatre Archives (University of Guelph),Bernard Slade,1984 The Dark Side of Close Relationships Brian H. Spitzberg,William R. Cupach,2013-06-17 This collection of essays represents a follow up to the editors 1994 publication The Dark Side of Interpersonal Communication In the preface to that collection of essays they argued that To fully understand how people function effectively requires us to consider how individuals cope with social interaction that is difficult problematic challenging distressing and disruptive In this companion volume the focus expands from social interaction to close relationships Aside from the inherent need to investigate the bad as well as the good of interpersonal relationships the editors and their colleagues simply find the dark side metaphor to be intellectually arousing It stimulates investigation of important yet often neglected phenomena and it especially encourages consideration of the hidden and forbidden and the paradoxical and ironic elements of human relating This volume assembles the cutting edge work of first rate scholars from the ranks of communication psychology sociology and cognate disciplines As in the previous text the subject matter and stylistic approaches are diverse reflecting the broad and interdisciplinary domain that is the dark side of human affairs The selection of topics is somewhat selective reflecting only a sample of emerging scholarship in the interdisciplinary study of relationships These internationally recognized scholars examine various topics related to the dark side including fatal attractions jealousy and envy misunderstanding gossip conflict codependence sexual coercion stalking relationship termination unrequited love and mental health problems in relationships Some chapters present original data and models whereas others reconfigure the way in which the understandings of relationships can be better understood In addition the bookend chapters examine the ideology nature and problems of dark side scholarship Collectively the scholarly journeys made in this volume are intended to illustrate the complexities both moral and functional involved in close relationship processes The intent is neither to valorize nor demonize the darker aspects of close relationships but rather to emphasize their importance to the day to day doing of relationships Only by accepting such processes as integral to relationships can their role be fully understood

Thinking about Movies Peter Lehman,William Luhr,2018-10-01 A complete introduction to analyzing and enjoying a wide variety of movies for film students and movie lovers alike Thinking About Movies Watching Questioning Enjoying Fourth Edition is a thorough overview of movie analysis designed to enlighten both students and enthusiasts and heighten their enjoyment of films Readers will delve into the process of thinking about movies critically and analytically and find how doing so can greatly enhance the pleasure of watching movies Divided roughly into two parts the book addresses film studies within the context of the dynamics of cinema before moving on to a broader analysis of the relationship of films to the larger social cultural and industrial issues informing them This updated fourth edition includes an entirely new section devoted to a complete analysis of the film adaptation of The Girl with the Dragon Tattoo along with many in depth discussions of important films such as Citizen Kane and Silence of the Lambs The chapter on television integrates a major expansion distinguishing between television in the digital era of the convergence of the entertainment and technology industries in comparison to the era of broadcast analogue television The final chapter places film within the current context of digital culture globalization and the powerful rise of China in film production and exhibition The authors clearly present various methodologies for analyzing movies and illustrate them with detailed examples and images from a wide range of films from cult classics to big budget award winning movies This helps viewers see new things in movies and also better understand and explain why they like some better than others Thinking About Movies Watching Questioning Enjoying Fourth Edition is ideal for film students immersed in the study of this important contemporary medium and art form as well as students and readers who have never taken a class on cinema before

Women and Borderline Personality Disorder Janet Wirth-Cauchon,2001 A superb up to date feminist analysis of the borderline condition Characterized by stereotypically feminine qualities such as poor interpersonal boundaries and an unstable sense of self borderline diagnosis has been questioned by many as a veiled replacement of the hysteria diagnosis Wirth Cauchon includes narratives from women exhibiting the theoretical underpinnings of the borderline diagnosis The author is rigorous in her analysis and mainstream academics and diagnosticians should take note lest they create yet another label that disregards the contradictory and conflicting expectations experienced by so many women Includes an excellent bibliography and a wealth of good reference Highly recommended Choice This book contributes to a rich feminist interdisciplinary theoretical understanding of women s psychological distress and represents an excellent companion volume to Dana Becker s book titled Through the Looking Glass Psychology of Women Quarterly Wonderfully written The argument proceeds with an impeccable and transparent logic the writing is sophisticated evocative even inspired This work should have enormous appeal Kenneth Gergen author of Realities and Relationships Impressive in its synthesis of many different ideas both clinicians and people diagnosed with BPD may find much of value in Wirth Cauchon s thoughtful and provoking analysis Metapsychology At the beginning of the twentieth century hysteria as a medical or psychiatric diagnosis was primarily applied to women In fact the term itself comes from the Greek meaning wandering womb We have since learned that this diagnosis had evolved from certain assumptions about women s social roles and mental characteristics and is no longer in use The modern equivalent of hysteria however may be borderline personality disorder defined as a pervasive pattern of instability of self image interpersonal relationships and mood beginning in early adulthood and present in a variety of contexts This diagnosis is applied to women so much more often than to men that feminists have begun to raise important questions about the social cultural and even the medical assumptions underlying this illness Women are said to be unstable when they may be trying to reconcile often contradictory and conflicting social expectations In Women and Borderline Personality Disorder Janet Wirth Cauchon presents a feminist cultural analysis of the notions of unstable selfhood found in case narratives of women diagnosed with borderline personality disorder This exploration of contemporary post Freudian psychoanalytic notions of the self as they apply to women s identity conflicts is an important contribution to the literature on social constructions of mental illness in women and feminist critiques of psychiatry in general Janet Wirth Cauchon is an associate professor of sociology at Drake University
