Time Travel Nikk Effingham, 2020-02-20 There are various arguments for the metaphysical impossibility of time travel Is it impossible because objects could then be in two places at once Or is it impossible because some objects could bring about their own existence In this book Nikk Effingham contends that no such argument is sound and that time travel is metaphysically possible His main focus is on the Grandfather Paradox the position that time travel is impossible because someone could not go back in time and kill their own grandfather before he met their grandmother In such a case Effingham argues that the time traveller would have the ability to do the impossible so they could kill their grandfather even though those impossibilities will never come about so they won't kill their grandfather He then explores the ramifications of this view discussing issues in probability and decision theory The book ends by laying out the dangers of time travel and why even though no time machines currently exist we should pay extra special care ensuring that nothing no matter how small or microscopic ever travels in time

Cosmology Without God? David Alcalde, 2019-06-26 Is God a superfluous hypothesis for modern cosmology According to the normal understanding of modern science the answer should be affirmative because modern science is supposed to be free of metaphysical and theological presuppositions However despite its self proclaimed neutrality regarding metaphysics and theology modern science is full of metaphysical and theological presuppositions These can be summarized as a mechanistic understanding of nature a reduction of God to an external agent in competition with natural processes and creation to a worldly mechanism These presuppositions are deficient and untenable and they remain unconscious for the most part in the dialogue between science and theology making it intellectually impossible because of the reduced notions of God nature and creation assumed Using the coherent and unreduced image of God and nature provided by the Christian doctrine of creation ex nihilo Fr David Alcalde intends to uncover and criticize the incoherent theological assumptions inherent in a concrete branch of modern science which is modern cosmology The author points out the presence of these inadequate theological presuppositions in both the theologians who use modern cosmology to offer scientific proof for the existence of God and the atheistic cosmologists who use their science to reject the idea of God      It's All About Time David Halsey, 2012-03-30 Halsey uses his knowledge of science in explaining why the reality of the natural world is not the virtual world that societies have concocted throughout the eons of time He describes how every measurement that depicts this virtual world is made up This includes in the many centuries of time that magic was thought to have worked there were as many theories as there were groups that defined the how and why Today the inner structure of our brain is driven by a conspiracy wired intellect This book is an account about Earth its environment inhabitants and how it all came to be Halsey takes us on a journey from the microcosm to the macrocosm from infinity to infinity Time is the catalyst he uses to shape the Universe and its components into this illusion called reality Physics and cosmology are the fabric of his book but chemistry and biology are woven throughout He has supported each chapter with ground truth data and analysis in language so that most readers can follow the conclusions
