Build Your Own Low-Cost Log Home Roger Hard, 1985-01-01 Provides step by step instructions and detailed plans for building a moderate sized two story log home from a pre cut manufacturer s kit or from freshly cut logs proceeding from site selection to finishing work and maintenance tips Log Cabins William Anderson, 2016-12-24 A log cabin is a less sophisticated dwelling structure made of logs Log cabins have a long history in both the United States and Europe In the United States log cabins where the first generation homes built by settlers from Europe and other countries who came to the country in search of a new life Today with the availability of tall pines and other tall trunk trees a family can easily erect a log cabin from scratch in a matter of days With the right tools a log cabin can easily be erected in any weather because it does not involve any form of chemical reactions Because of this many people are opting to build log cabins as their leisure homes The modern log cabins look a little bit different from their traditional counterparts as they are built with fiberglass insulation and a host of other furnishings that make them more stylish and comfortable In this book you will find information on Materials and tools you need to build a log cabin Log cabin foundations Building the log cabin walls Building roof and flooring Insulating your log Cabin Weatherproofing you log cabin Maintenance of your log cabin and much more Log Cabin Construction Techniques in Western Siskiyou County, 1850-1935 Ali Abusaidi, 1986 Under the sponsorship of the Klamath National Forest 25 log cabins which were built in western Siskiyou County between 1850 and 1937 were located and studied First 11 exterior dimensions of these cabins were selected measured and recorded Then 26 building elements were identified for the purpose of finding whether there was a relationship between the exterior attributes of these structures and the occupation of their builders Four major builder occupations were identified 1 placer mining 2 hardrock mining 3 homesteading and 4 ranching It was hypothesized that there is a correlation between these builder occupations and the exterior attributes of the cabins A forward stepwise discriminant analysis was performed on the parametric variables None of the 11 variables met the default criteria to enter i e F 15 Hence the null hypothesis that there is a relationship between the occupation of the builder and the exterior variables of the log cabins was confirmed The 26 categorical variables which were used to classify the cabins were crosstabulated against the occupation of the builders. The results indicated that only four nominal variables discriminated between the builder occupation groups. A predictive model for classifying cabins on the basis of these four variables is presented. A second hypothesis was proposed to examine the relationship between log cabin construction elements and the builder's ethnic background. Data collected on building variables was compared with those ethnic traits described by other log cabin researchers. From this comparison an index of ethnic trait compatibility was produced which demonstrated the strength of relationship between builder's background and cabin construction variables.
