Gabbay,Odinaldo T. Rodrigues,Alessandra Russo,2010-08-03 An important aspect in the formalisation of common sense reasoning is the construction of a model of what an agent believes the world to be like to help in her reasoning process This model is often incomplete or inaccurate but new information can be used to refine it The study of techniques that achieve this in a rational way is the task of the discipline of belief revision with which this book is concerned There are three key elements to the book s approach Firstly the methodology of logic by translation A specific instance of this is the idea of revision by translation Revision for a foreign logic is done via its translation into a well known logic usually classic logic Secondly the technique of meta level object level movement where we bring some operation defined at the meta level of a logic into its object level In this book we bring the operation of deletion to the object level Finally through Labelled Deductive Systems we use the context of the revision to finetune its operation and illustrate the idea through the presentation of various algorithms The book is suitable for researchers and postgraduates in the areas of artificial intelligence database theory and logic Information Retrieval David A. Grossman,Ophir Frieder,2012-12-06 Information Retrieval Algorithms and Heuristics is a comprehensive introduction to the study of information retrieval covering both effectiveness and run time performance The focus of the presentation is on algorithms and heuristics used to find documents relevant to the user request and to find them fast Through multiple examples the most commonly used algorithms and heuristics needed are tackled To facilitate understanding and applications introductions to and discussions of computational linguistics natural language processing probability theory and library and computer science are provided While this text focuses on algorithms and not on commercial product per se the basic strategies used by many commercial products are described Techniques that can be used to find information on the Web as well as in other large information collections are included This volume is an invaluable resource for researchers practitioners and students working in information retrieval and databases For instructors a set of Powerpoint slides including speaker notes are available online from the authors

Knowledge Representation Techniques Patrick Doherty,Witold Lukaszewicz,Andrzej Szalas,2007-05-31 1 1 Background The basis for the material in this book centers around research done in an ongoing long term project which focuses on the development of highly autonomous unmanned aerial vehicles systems The actual platform which serves as a case study for the research in this book will be described in detail later in this chapter Before doing that a brief background of the motivations hind this research will be provided One of the main research topics in the project is knowledge representation and reasoning and its use in Uav pl forms A very strong constraint has been placed on the nature of research done in the project where theoretical results to the greatest extent possible should serve as a basis for tractable reasoning mechanisms for use in a fully deployed autonomous Uav operating under soft real time constraints asso ated with the types of mission scenarios envisioned Considering that much of the work with knowledge representation in this context focuses on application domains where one can only hope for an incomplete characterization of such domains this methodological constraint has proven to be quite challenging since in essence the focus is on tractable approximate and nonmonotonic reasoning systems As is well known until recently nonmonotonic formalisms have had a notorious reputation for lack of tractable and scalable reasoning systems
