Course Description And Purpose

Employers ranked the ability to communicate and to use technology as two of the most important skills for new employees. As such, this course is designed to provide you with an opportunity to learn managerial communication skills that can be immediately transferred into a professional work environment. The course assignments and exercises are designed to improve your practical business communication skills in the following areas.

There are four Learning Objectives for COM 3150:

- A. Business Writing Skills
- B. Oral Presentation Skills
- C. Language Skills
- D. Managerial Communication

A. Business Writing Skills: Instructors are required to design business writing skills assignments that must consist of a minimum of

- 1 original personal mission professional goals statement
- 3 original memos
- 3 original letters
- 1 in-class written business proposal, evaluated with the Business Writing Rubric (comprises 10% of the student's course grade)

These the details of these assignments and documents will be discussed in class, the purpose of these assignments is to improve students writing skills and more importantly you help you progress toward the Business Writing Skills Learning Objectives of this class.

B. Oral Presentation Skills: There will be an oral presentation – you will be required to do a practice run of that speech in the Communication Arts Studio. This is further discussed in the course content section.

C. Language Skills: You will be graded throughout the semester in the following areas:
