Juggling With Mandarins:

Juggling with Mandarins Victoria Mary Jones, 2003 A novel about growing up It asserts the importance of living life on your own terms and of competing for enjoyment rather than reward It explores the complex love hate relationship between a father and son

Out of Reach V. M. Jones, 2008 these two dogs never know quite where they're going but one thing is certain When they hop into a car they're sure to drive everyone crazy

Juggling with Mandarins Victoria Mary Jones, 2009 Thirteen year old Pip finds a talent he never dreamt he had and pursues his new passion in secret determined to keep it from his domineering dad Somehow Pip must find the courage to confront his father and claim the right to live life on his own terms

Mandarins and Merchants: After Tiananmen Margaret Dickeman, 2003-12-12 Even as late as 1989 most young Chinese professionals believed they could predict their entire future lives But when the Chinese government followed the Tiananmen killings with vigorous promotion of free enterprise the rules began to change daily The security of assigned jobs free housing and other benefits dwindled or disappeared as more initiative to get rich was encouraged This account based on personal observations during the two years after Tiananmen follows a number of young Chinese as they struggle to invent individual strategies for coping with changes they could never have predicted The images and character sketches are forceful and succinct and evoke a person place or mood with apparent fidelity Jonathan Spence Margaret Dickeman Datz makes the people places and culture of China come alive better than any China book I've read Her book is a true human drama Arnold Hano

The Money Mandarins Howard M. Wachtel, 1990-10-08 What role do Chinese popular associations play in the expansion of civil society and democratization This book examines a range of associations from business associations to trade unions to urban homeowners associations women's groups against domestic violence and rural NGOs that develop anti poverty programs
