Style in Translation: A Corpus-Based Perspective Libo Huang, 2015-01-26 This book attempts to explore style a traditional topic in literary translation with a corpus based approach A parallel corpus consisting of the English translations of modern and contemporary Chinese novels is introduced and used as the major context for the research The style in translation is approached from perspectives of the author the source text the translated texts and the translator Both the parallel model and the comparable model are employed and a multiple complex model of comparison is proposed The research model both quantitative and qualitative is duplicable within other language pairs Apart from the basics of corpus building readers may notice that literary texts offer an ideal context for stylistic research and a parallel corpus of literary texts may provide various observations to the style in translation In this book readers may find a close interaction between translation theory and practice Tables and figures are used to help the argumentation The book will be of interest to postgraduate students teachers and professionals who are interested in corpus based translation studies and stylistics Thinking Chinese Translation

Valerie Pellatt, Eric T. Liu, 2010-06-10 Thinking Chinese Translation is a practical and comprehensive course for advanced undergraduates and postgraduate students of Chinese Thinking Chinese Translation explores the ways in which memory general knowledge and creativity summed up as schema contribute to the linguistic ability necessary to create a good translation The course develops the reader's ability to think deeply about the texts and to produce natural and accurate translations from Chinese into English A wealth of relevant illustrative material is presented taking the reader through a number of different genres and text types of increasing complexity including technical scientific and legal texts journalistic and informative texts literary and dramatic texts Each chapter provides a discussion of the issues of a particular text type based on up to date scholarship followed by practical translation exercises The chapters can be read independently as research material or in combination with the exercises The issues discussed range from the fine detail of the text such as punctuation to the broader context of editing packaging and publishing translations Major aspects of teaching and learning translation such as collaboration are also covered Thinking Chinese Translation is essential reading for advanced undergraduate and postgraduate students of Chinese and translation studies The book will also appeal to a wide range of language students and tutors through the general discussion of the principles and purpose of translation Chinese

Students' Writing in English Maria Leedham, 2014-08-27 Chinese students are the largest international student group in UK universities today yet little is known about their undergraduate writing and the challenges they face Drawing on the British Academic Written English corpus a large corpus of proficient undergraduate student writing collected in the UK in the early 2000s this study explores Chinese students written assignments in English in a range of university disciplines contrasting these with assignments from British students The study is supplemented by questionnaire and interview datasets with discipline lecturers writing tutors and students and provides a comprehensive picture of the Chinese student writer today Theoretically framed through work within academic literacies and lexical priming the author seeks to explore what we know about Chinese students writing and to extend these findings to undergraduate writing more generally In a globalized educational environment it is important for educators to understand differences in writing styles across the student body and to move from the widespread deficit model of student writing towards a descriptive model which embraces different ways of achieving success Chinese Students Writing in English will be of value to researchers EAP tutors and university lecturers teaching Chinese students in the UK China and other English or Chinese speaking countries Proceedings of the 22nd

International Conference on Industrial Engineering and Engineering Management 2015 Ershi Qi, Jiang Shen, Runliang Dou, 2016-02-05 Being the premier forum for the presentation of new advances and research results in the fields of Industrial Engineering IEEM 2015 aims to provide a high level international forum for experts scholars and entrepreneurs at home and abroad to present the recent advances new techniques and applications face and face to promote discussion and interaction among academics researchers and professionals to promote the developments and applications of the related theories and technologies in universities and enterprises and to establish business or research relations to find global partners for future collaboration in the field of Industrial Engineering All the goals of the international conference are to fulfill the mission of the series conference which is to review exchange summarize and promote the latest achievements in the field of industrial engineering and engineering management over the past year and to propose prospects and vision for the further development This volume is the second of the two proceedings volumes from this conference Frontier and Future Development of Information Technology in Medicine and Education Shaozi Li,Qun Jin,Xiaohong Jiang,James J. (Jong Hyuk) Park,2013-12-05 IT changes everyday s life especially in education and medicine The goal of ITME 2013 is to further explore the theoretical and practical issues of IT in education and medicine It also aims to foster new ideas and collaboration between researchers and practitioners Linguistics and Language Behavior Abstracts ,2000 Writing in the Devil's Tongue Xiaoye You,2010-01-29 Winner CCCC Outstanding Book Award Until recently American composition scholars have studied writing instruction mainly within the borders of their own nation rarely considering English composition in the global context in which writing in English is increasingly taught Writing in the Devil s Tongue challenges this anachronistic approach by examining the history of English composition instruction in an East Asian country Author Xiaoye You offers scholars a chance to observe how a nation changed from monolingual writing practices to bilingual writing instruction in a school setting You makes extensive use of archival sources to help trace bilingual writing instruction in China back to 1862 when English was first taught in government schools Treating the Chinese pursuit of modernity as the overarching theme he explores how the entry of Anglo American rhetoric and composition challenged and altered the traditional monolithic practice of teaching Chinese writing in the Confucian spirit The author focuses on four aspects of this history the Chinese negotiation with Anglo American rhetoric their search for innovative approaches to instruction students situated use of English writing and local scholarship in English composition Unlike previous composition histories which have tended to focus on institutional disciplinary and pedagogical issues Writing in the Devil s Tongue brings students back to center stage by featuring several passages written by them in each chapter These passages not only showcase rhetorical and linguistic features of their writings but also serve as representative anecdotes that reveal the complex ways in which students responding to their situations performed multivalent intercultural discourses In addition You moves out of the classroom and into the historical cultural and political contexts that shaped both Chinese writing and composing practices and the pedagogies that were adopted to teach English to Chinese in China Teachers students and scholars reading this book will learn a great deal about the political and cultural impact that teaching English composition has had in China and about the ways in which Chinese writing and composition continues to be shaped by rich and diverse cultural traditions and political discourses In showcasing the Chinese struggle with teaching and practicing bilingual composition Writing in the Devil's Tongue alerts American writing scholars and teachers to an outdated English monolingual mentality and urges them to modify their rhetorical assumptions pedagogical approaches and writing practices in the age of globalization Academic Writing and Publishing James Hartley, 2008-04-22 This readable and lively guide is an invaluable handbook for postgraduates and lecturers new to publishing with direct advice based on up to date research that goes beyond that given in current textbooks Teaching English to Students from China Gek Ling Lee, 2003 This text provides teachers of English to Chinese students with information on the linguistic cultural and pedagogical backgrounds of these students It analyses the importance of this background and offers information on successful classroom teaching methods and student learning strategies Rethinking EMI Lily I-Wen Su, Hintat Cheung, Jessica R. W. Wu, 2021-06-10 Due to the competitive edge it confers on students educational institutions and non English speaking nations in a globalized economy English as a medium of instruction EMI has been gaining popularity in tertiary education in non native English speaking NNEs countries Institute wide EMI implementation has often been imposed by top down decisions in combination with the optimistic view that the horse should always be placed before the cart However emerging evidence suggests that the delivery of such programs to NNEs students has led to new pedagogical challenges and learning problems that go beyond the scope of language learning and teaching and deserve immediate attention For example how would an instructor respond to situations in which students learning of content is compromised by their limited language proficiency This book draws on the current practice of EMI in diverse disciplines and university settings and examines how these new pedagogical and learning issues can be addressed The discussion also involves a reflection on the essence of EMI in relation to the use of the first language L1 as the medium of instruction in tertiary education In addition the book includes discussion about how to ensure and maintain the quality of EMI programs and assess the readiness of stakeholders for such programs which include administrators teachers and students The discussion is led by exemplars in Hong Kong and Taiwan where the majority of students are native Chinese speakers in the hope of developing critical perspectives and practical guidelines as references for EMI in other NNEs settings The Open Access version of this book available at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com/books/e> ISBN has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives 4.0 license Resources in Education, 2001-04
