The EU's regulation on succession Great Britain: Parliament: House of Lords: European Union Committee, 2010-03-24 This is the sixth report from the European Union Committee of the 2009 10 session and looks at the EU's Regulation on Succession HLP 75 ISBN 9780108459757 In October 2009 the EU Commission proposed legislation which aims to simplify the law affecting those who die having exercised their right to free movement either by moving to another Member State to live or by buying property in a Member State other than their own The law of succession regulates how a person's property is dealt with on their death including the mechanism for paying taxes and other creditors establishing who is entitled to inherit the deceased's property and how that property is to be transferred to those entitled to it Where this involves the law of more than one Member State complications arise which can have a significant impact since the people affected are likely to be emotionally vulnerable because of bereavement The Committee states it welcomes the fact that the Commission has not proposed harmonisation of the substantive law of succession and support the Commission's underlying and more limited objective of prescribing which state's law of succession is to apply to the whole of a deceased person's estate but only to the extent of determining who is entitled to inherit what property The Committee believes to go further puts at risk important interests not least property rights the collection of taxes and the protection of creditors The Committee also identifies a serious defect in the EU's proposal that it could result in gifts made in the UK by deceased persons during their lifetime including gifts to charity being claimed back by their heirs under a process known as clawback

Legal Practice and Cultural Diversity Ralph Grillo, Roger Ballard, Alessandro Ferrari, André J. Hoekema, Marcel Maussen, Prakash Shah, 2016-12-05 Legal Practice and Cultural Diversity considers how contemporary cultural and religious diversity challenges legal practice how legal practice responds to that challenge and how practice is changing in the encounter with the cultural diversity occasioned by large scale post war immigration Locating actual practices and interpretations which occur in jurisprudence and in public discussion this volume examines how the wider environment shapes legal processes and is in turn shaped by them In so doing the work foregrounds a number of themes principally relating to changing norms and practices and sensitivity to cultural and religious difference in the application of the law

Comparative in approach this study places particular cases in their widest context taking into account international and transnational influences on the way in which actors legal and other respond

Commentaries on European Contract Laws Nils Jansen, Reinhard Zimmermann, 2018-07-12 The book provides rule by rule commentaries on European contract law general contract law consumer contract law the law of sale and related services dealing with its modern manifestations as well as its historical and comparative foundations After the collapse of the European Commission's plans to codify European contract law it is timely to reflect on what has been achieved over the past three to four decades and for an assessment of the current situation In particular the production of a bewildering number of reference texts has contributed to a complex picture of European contract laws rather than a European contract law The present book adopts a broad perspective and an integrative approach All relevant reference texts from the CISG to the Draft Common European Sales Law are critically examined and compared with each other As far as the acquis commun ie the traditional private law as laid down in the national codifications is concerned the Principles of European Contract Law have been chosen as a point of departure The rules contained in that document have however been complemented with some chapters sections and individual provisions drawn from other sources primarily in order to account for the quickly growing acquis communautaire in the field of consumer contract law In addition the book ties the discussion concerning the reference texts back to the pertinent historical and comparative background and it thus investigates whether and to what extent these texts can be taken to be genuinely European in nature ie to constitute a manifestation of a common core of European contract law Where this is not the case the question is asked whether and for what reasons they should be seen as points of departure for the further development of European contract law

European Law on Unfair Commercial Practices and Contract Law Mateja

Durovic, 2016-07-28 The book examines the ambiguous relationship between the European law on unfair commercial practices and contract law In particular the manuscript demonstrates that the Directive 2005/29/EC on unfair commercial practices UCPD has had a major impact on contract law despite the declaration concerning the formal independence between the two branches of law established by Article 3(2) UCPD The insights and conclusions identified in the book contribute to a better understanding of European private law and the general process of Europeanisation of private law in the European Union and in particular of contract law
