Interrupted Lives Bob Cheney, 2000-12 Hood's Texas Brigade was one of the most distinguished fighting units in Lee's Army of Northern Virginia participating in virtually all of the major battles and campaigns from Eltham's Landing through Appomattox This book although a work of fiction is faithful to the movements of the brigade including its detachment to Bragg's command and the resultant battle at Chickamauga Prominent in the book are Hood Lee Longstreet and Stonewall Jackson as well as many lesser but real personalities The book is basically about Caleb Walker a Texas farm boy who enlists after First Manassas and remains with the Texas Brigade throughout the war It includes Caleb's companions most of whom will be killed or wounded the ribald humor of enlisted men Caleb's letter exchanges with his girlfriend homosexual advances non combat related murder the life leisure and horror of the common soldier and the leadership sometimes inept often inspiring of non-coms and officers Each chapter opens with an account in the Dallas Spectator of the war's progress and problems in all theaters of the war and the home front and illustrates the typical Southern editor's willingness to criticize as well as praise without fear of retribution

Interrupted Life Etty Hillesum, 1983 Circles of Thorns Justin Lewis-Anthony, 2008-11-13 Unlike Bosch's better known fantastical proto-surrealist paintings Christ Mocked is small still and sombre and yet with a little effort of knowledge and interpretation it reveals a depth of understanding of both the Passion and of human nature that speaks as much to the twenty-first century as it did to the sixteenth By exploring the political scientific psychological and devotional world of early modern Europe and applying those insights to our own time the author shows how Bosch used his sophisticated artistic skills to convey a similarly sophisticated understanding of humanity In Christ Mocked a painting 500 years old but passionately modern Christ's Passion is so portrayed as to make us reassess the cosmic significance of Christ's death and its profound implications for what we think it means to be human An Interrupted Life Etty Hillesum, 1985

Etty Hillesum Etty Hillesum, 1996 For the first time Etty Hillesum's diary and letters appear together to give us the fullest possible portrait of this extraordinary woman in the midst of World War II In the darkest years of Nazi occupation and genocide Etty Hillesum remained a celebrant of life whose lucid intelligence sympathy and almost impossible gallantry were themselves a form of inner resistance The adult counterpart to Anne Frank Hillesum testifies to the possibility of awareness and compassion in the face of the most devastating challenge to one's humanity She died at Auschwitz in 1943 at the age of twenty nine The Blue Sapphire of the Mind Douglas E. Christie, 2012-12-04 There are no unsacred places the poet

Wendell Berry has written There are only sacred places and desecrated places What might it mean to behold the world with such depth and feeling that it is no longer possible to imagine it as something separate from ourselves or to live without regard for its well being To understand the work of seeing things as an utterly involving moral and spiritual act Such questions have long occupied the center of contemplative spiritual traditions In The Blue Sapphire of the Mind Douglas E. Christie proposes a distinctively contemplative approach to ecological thought and practice that can help restore our sense of the earth as a sacred place Drawing on the insights of the early Christian monastics as well as the ecological writings of Henry David Thoreau Aldo Leopold Annie Dillard and many others Christie argues that at the most basic level it is the quality of our attention to the natural world that must change if we are to learn how to live in a sustainable relationship with other living organisms and with one another He notes that in this uniquely challenging historical moment there is a deep and pervasive hunger for a less fragmented and more integrated way of apprehending and inhabiting the living world and for a way of responding to the ecological crisis that expresses our deepest moral and spiritual values Christie explores how the wisdom of ancient and modern contemplative traditions can inspire both an honest reckoning with the destructive patterns of thought and behavior that have contributed so much to our current crisis and a greater sense of care and responsibility for all living beings These traditions can help us cultivate the simple spacious awareness of the enduring beauty and wholeness of the natural world that will be necessary if we are to live with greater purpose and meaning and with less harm to our planet Spirituality in the Writings of Etty Hillesum Klaas Smelik, Ria van den Brandt, Meins G. S. Coetsier, 2010-10-25

Much of the previous scholarship on Etty Hillesum 1914-1943 was done by individual scholars within the analyses of their fields After the proceedings of the international Etty Hillesum Congress at Ghent University in November 2008 this Congress volume is the first joined effort by more than twenty Hillesum experts worldwide It is an absorbing account of international scholarship on the life works and vision of the Dutch Jewish writer Etty Hillesum whose life was shaped by the totalitarian Nazi regime Hillesum's diaries and letters illustrate her heroic struggle to come to terms with her personal life in the context of World War II Building on new interest in theology philosophy and psychology this book revives Hillesum research with a comprehensive rereading of both her published works and lesser known secondary discourses on her life The result is fascinating With the current explosion of interest in inter religious dialogue peace studies Judaism the holocaust gender studies and mysticism it is clear that this Congress volume will be invaluable to students and scholars in various disciplines

The Existential Philosophy of Etty Hillesum Meins G. S. Coetsier, 2014-01-09 In The Existential Philosophy of Etty Hillesum Meins G S Coetsier breaks new ground by demonstrating the Jewish existential nature of Etty Hillesum's spiritual and cultural life in light of the writings of Martin Buber Emmanuel Levinas and Dietrich Bonhoeffer Hillesum's diaries and letters written between 1941 and 1943 illustrate her struggle to come to terms with her personal life in the context of the Second World War and the Shoah By finding God under the rubble of the horrors she rediscovers the divine presence between humankind while taking up responsibility for the Other as a way to embrace justice and compassion In a fascinating accessible and thorough study Coetsier dispels much of the confusion that assails readers when they are exposed to the bewildering range of Christian and Jewish influences and other cultural interpretations of her writings The result is a convincing and profound picture of Etty Hillesum's path to spiritual freedom

Lives of the Dead Poets Karen Swann, 2019-04-02 Any reader engaging the work of Keats Shelley or Coleridge must confront the role biography has played in the canonization of each Each archive is saturated with stories of the life prematurely cut off or in Coleridge's case of promise wasted in indolence One confronts reminiscences of contemporaries who describe subjects singularly unsuited to this world as well as still stranger materials death masks bits of bone locks of hair a heart initially preserved by circles and then circulating more widely often in tandem with bits of the literary corpus Especially when it centers on the early deaths of Keats and Shelley biographical interest tends to be dismissed as a largely Victorian and sentimental phenomenon that we should by now have put behind us And yet a line of verse by these poets can still trigger associations with biographical detail in ways that spark pathos or produce intimations of prolepsis or fatality even for readers suspicious of such effects Biographical fascination the untoward and involuntary clinging of attention to the biographical subject is thus posthumous in Keats's evocative sense of the term its life equivocally sustained beyond its period Lives of the Dead Poets takes seriously the biographical fascination that has dogged the prematurely arrested figures of three romantic poets Arising in tandem with a sense of the threatened end of poetry's allotted period biographical fascination personalizes the precariousness of poetry binding poetry the poet function and readers to an irrecoverable singularity Reading romantic poets together with the modernity of Benjamin and Baudelaire Swann shows how poets afterlives offer an opening for poetry's survival from its first nineteenth century death sentences into our present The Fiction of Our Lives Sandra M. Levy-Achtemeier, 2016-11-10 We are the author of our own lives We create re create and co create our stories over the lifetime we have been given in order to make something of ourselves in the process Blending new findings from brain science and psychology with spiritual and theological insights Sandra Levy Achtemeier has written a readable work translating complex scientific and spiritual categories into practical terms that can inform our everyday selves From our evolutionary roots that equip us to sing meaning into our living to the cultural menus we now draw from to script new meaning into our days she has given us an incredible wealth of wisdom to inform the rest of our life journeys Underneath it all Levy Achtemeier makes the case that God's Spirit and call are at the center of our story from our brain synapses to the historical circumstances that impinge on our lives Making the Personal Political Jane Fenoulhet, 2007 This book presents an interdisciplinary account of a success story in the history of the society and culture of the Netherlands It includes eight case studies of women writers between 1919 and 1970 to trace the unconscious politics of the personal in narratives of women's identity and experience Mother Media Hannah Zeavin, 2025-04-29 An essential history for understanding how we mother now and how motherhood itself became a medium winner of the Brooke Hindle Award from the Society for the History of Technology From the nursery to the prison from the clinic to the commune Mother Media tells the story of how we arrived at our contemporary understanding of what a mother is and how understandings of bad mothering formed our contemporary panics about bad media In this book leading historian of psychology Hannah Zeavin examines twentieth century pediatric psychological educational industrial and economic norms around mediated mothering and technologized parenting The book charts the crisis of the family across the twentieth century and the many ingenious attempts to remediate nursemaid and mother via speculative technologies and screen media Growing out of her previous award winning book The Distance Cure which considered technologized care the book lays bare the contradictions of techno parenting and how it relates to conceptions of maternal fitness medical redlining and surveillance of children parents and other caregivers The author offers narratives of parenting in its extremity for example Shaken Baby Syndrome and its ostensible banality for example the Nanny

Cam and how the two are often intertwined Ultimately Zeavin grapples with a simple contradiction technology is seen and judged as harmful in domestic and educational spaces even as it is a saving grace in the unending labor of raising a family

Interior Interruptions Jean Whitehead, 2025-02-07 Interior Interruptions examines the role of the palimpsest and its relationship to narrative sustainability renovation and adaptive reuse By exploring storytelling palimpsestic characteristics and techniques the book argues that these devices play a central role in the consideration of the designed interior Narrative has a burgeoning relationship with the palimpsest and this approach embraces an aesthetic of incompleteness and imperfection as a site rich response It recognises the ongoing biography or heritage of a building as a form of transient architectural narrative that encourages reuse through the continual process of writing rewriting overwriting and unwriting This process has sustainable societal archaeological and textual connotations that can be interpreted as a process of layering whereby the architectural shell is viewed as a container a rich repository that is overlain by surface changes documents architectural and spatial modifications and is populated by interior fixtures and fittings that all unite to create an ever changing interior story Exploring case studies from the UK Netherlands Palestine Belgium Singapore Spain Portugal France Germany Brazil Japan USA and China and beautifully illustrated in full colour this book proposes that the act of interior renovation can be viewed as a perpetual form of revisionary storytelling re imagined as a series of temporal interior interruptions It is essential reading for students and professionals interested in the built environment including but not limited to interior design interior decoration interior architecture and architecture

The Uses of Darkness Laurie Brands Gagné, 2000-08-31 Laurie Brands Gagn believes the image of God as stern Father or Judge has done much damage over the centuries and has engendered a sense of shame and guilt especially in women She sees our own civilization as one that is cut off from the natural world and from the precious part of ourselves that is earthy and sensual In The Uses of Darkness Women s Underworld Journeys Ancient and Modern Gagn explores women s journeys through the underworld to reclaim the wisdom and sensuality contained in these stories for heirs of the God the Father tradition She looks at the ancient stories of Inanna Demeter and Psyche and the reflections of these archetypal figures in the work of women such as Sylvia Plath Joan Didion Mary Gordon Virginia Woolf and Etty Hillesum to illustrate that the alternative tradition these journey stories represent has much to offer modern Christians Gagn successfully demonstrates that only by turning to confront the mystery that has been obscured by the image of God as stern Father or Judge can a woman raised in the Christian tradition acquire a sense of self strong enough to integrate experiences of profound loss Most importantly by drawing on the wisdom of the goddess tradition both men and women are able to effect a more meaningful reappropriation of Christianity Gagn s examination of the dark experience of the underworld in the goddess tradition discovers the elements of all spiritual journeys self transcendence followed by self transformation Anyone who has struggled with love and loss and whose spirit has been suppressed by the image of God as Judge yet who will not reject Christianity will benefit from this work
