Environmental Discourse And Practice:

Environmental Discourse and Practice Lisa M. Benton, John Rennie Short, 1999-06-18 This book brings together a set of readings that throw light on the relationship between people and the environment Provides both historical background and an analysis of key debates and theories Based on tried and tested classroom teaching material Uses the idea of environmental discourses to explain human environmental relationships Teaching for EcoJustice Rita J.

Turner, 2015-05-22 Teaching for EcoJustice is a unique resource for exploring the social roots of environmental problems in humanities based educational settings and a curriculum guidebook for putting EcoJustice Education into practice It provides model curriculum materials that apply the principles of EcoJustice Education giving pre and in service teachers the ability to review examples of specific secondary and post secondary classroom assignments lessons discussion prompts and strategies that encourage students to think critically about how modern problems of sustainability and environmental destruction have developed their root causes and how they can be addressed The author describes instructional methods she uses when teaching each lesson and shares insights from evaluations of the materials in her classroom and by other teachers Interspersed between lessons is commentary about the rationale behind the materials and observations about their effect on students Environmental Discourses in Public and International Law Brad Jessup, Kim Rubenstein, 2012-02-02 How do dominant views and arguments about environmental problems traverse and connect international and public law

Multimodality in Practice Sigrid Norris, 2012-05-22 In this wide ranging collection contributors present examples of multimodal discourse analysis in practice The book illustrates new theoretical methodological and empirical research into new technologies such as the internet software CD ROM video and older technologies such as film newspapers brands or billboards Each chapter demonstrates how aspects of multimodal theory and method can be used to conduct research into these and other multimodal texts Environmental Discourse Necdet Teymur, 1982 Environmental Management Geoff

A. Wilson, Raymond L. Bryant, 2021-07-06 First published in 1997 An introductory text on environmental management with a global coverage including attention paid to the Third World The perspective of the book is geographical and the treatment draws on the broad and complementary experience of the two authors Ecology of Utopia Maria Ann Reed, 2021 This dissertation reveals connections between social reform and environmental thought and practice and considers the meaning of getting back to nature to radical reformers in the antebellum United States It examines the circulation of environmental ideas and practices through a broad network of communities that connected political social and religious reform movements during the communitarian moment of the 1840s I argue that members of communal settlements many inspired by French social thinker Charles Fourier others known as Universal Reformers contributed in nuanced and under examined ways to nineteenth century environmental and agricultural discourse in the United States Antebellum communitarians became investigators experimenters and scientists engaged in a project of articulating and adhering to natural laws As they pursued authentic transformative means of social and personal reform members of intentional communities across New England and the Old Northwest produced new forms of social and scientific authority as they grappled with the meaning of natural Through novel beliefs and practices of labor diet hygiene agriculture marriage and religion their experiments in community were experiments in living with a new orientation to the natural world This work engages both environmental scholars and historians of the nineteenth century United States to tell a new story of antebellum reform and to explore new dimensions of nineteenth century environmental thought and practice It builds upon recent scholarship that unsettles core assumptions about nineteenth century attitudes toward and treatment of the environment and reconsiders the possible futures that were available to Americans before the Civil War

The Politics of Environmental Discourse Maarten A. Hajer, 1995-12-14 Dr Hajer's path breaking study opens the way for a better understanding of the environmental conflict showing how language can be seen to shape our view of what environmental politics is really about and how those perceptions can differ between countries The author identifies the emergence and increasing political importance of ecological modernization as a new concept in the language of environmental politics This concept which has come to replace the antagonistic debates of the 1970s stresses the opportunities of environmental policy for modernizing the economy and stimulating the technological innovation Combining abstract social theory with detailed empirical analysis Martin Hajer illustrates the social and political dynamics of ecological modernization in a detailed analysis of the acid rain controversies in Great Britain and the Netherlands He concludes by reflecting on the institutional challenge of the environmental politics in the years to come

Routing Borders Between Territories, Discourses and Practices H. Van Houtum, Eiki Berg, 2018-10-24 This title was first published in 2003 This multi disciplinary reading focuses on the latent meaningful and contextual strategies that are often implied and included in bordering processes It demonstrates that the border as a concept is not so much an object but rather an ongoing process The book also consciously and provocatively balances the modernist trap of universalism exclusive ordering and state centrism and the postmodernist trap of moral nihilism Leading specialists in their fields provide illustrative case studies from Europe and Asia making a major contribution to border studies the ethical problems and dilemmas that emerge in place based professional practices architecture landscape architecture planning engineering and construction management Mugerauer and Manzo connect decision making to major ethical theories principles and rules and professional codes of ethics Handbook of Critical Environmental Politics Pellizzoni, Luigi,Leonardi, Emanuele,Asara, Viviana,2022-10-20 This timely Handbook offers a comprehensive outlook on global environmental politics providing readers with an up to date view of a field of ever increasing academic and public significance Its critical perspective interrogates what is taken for granted in current institutions and social and power relations highlighting the issues preventing meaningful change in the relationship between human societies and their biophysical underpinnings This title contains one or more Open Access chapters Researching Education and the Environment Alan Reid,William Scott,2007-10-25 Previously published as a special issue of Environmental Education Research this collection includes some of the most influential and important articles contributed to the field over the last decade Drawing out the best articles from volumes one to ten the editors highlight six major themes EE and ESD tension or transition locating the environ A Companion to Environmental Geography Noel Castree,David Demeritt,Diana Liverman,Bruce Rhoads,2016-10-03 A Companion to Environmental Geography is the first book to comprehensively and systematically map the research frontier of human environment geography in an accessible and comprehensive way Cross cuts several areas of a discipline which has traditionally been seen as divided presenting work by human and physical geographers in the same volume Presents both the current state of the art research and charts future possibilities for the discipline Extends the term environmental geography beyond its traditional meanings to include new work on nature and environment by human and physical geographers not just hazards resources and conservation geographers Contains essays from an outstanding group of international contributors from among established scholars and rising stars in geography

Screening Nature Anat Pick,Guinevere Narraway,2013-11-01 Environmentalism and ecology are areas of rapid growth in academia and society at large Screening Nature is the first comprehensive work that groups together the wide range of concerns in the field of cinema and the environment and what could be termed posthuman cinema It comprises key readings that highlight the centrality of nature and nonhuman animals to the cinematic medium and to the language and institution of film The book offers a fresh and timely intervention into contemporary film theory through a focus on the nonhuman environment as principal register in many filmic texts Screening Nature offers an extensive resource for teachers undergraduate students and more advanced scholars on the intersections between the natural world and the worlds of film It emphasizes the cross cultural and geographically diverse relevance of the topic of cinema ecology Seeking Environmental Justice Sarah Wilks,2008 Based on presentations made at the conference entitled Environmental Justice and Global Citizenship held in July 2006 at Oxford UK 14 papers consider environmental concerns against their social contexts Contributors address theories in environmental management as they pertain to society and to orientations in perverse

ecologies the framework of sustainability including voluntary agreements and incentives class and conflict in environmental governance including the uses of effective conflict information management including the public debate on genetic modification and the differences between experts and laymen environmental activism education including environmental education in a course on ethics and international development and the effects of free trade corporate capitalism and empowerment of professionals on sustainability and international environmental law Emissions Trading Schemes Sanja Bogojevic, 2013-07-04 Over the last four decades emissions trading has enjoyed a high profile in environmental law scholarship and in environmental law and policy Much of the discussion is promotional preferring emissions trading above other regulatory strategies without however engaging with legal complexities embedded in conceptualising scrutinising and managing emissions trading regimes The combined effect of these debates is to create a perception that emissions trading is a straightforward regulatory strategy imposable across various jurisdictions and environmental settings This book shows that this view is problematic for at least two reasons First emissions trading responds to distinct environmental and non environmental goals including creating profit centres substituting bureaucratic control of resources and ensuring regulatory compliance This is important as the particular purpose entrusted to a given emissions trading regime has as its corollary a particular governance structure according to which the regime may be constructed and managed and which trusts the emissions market the state and rights in emissions allowances with distinct roles Second the governance structures of emissions trading regimes are culture specific which is a significant reminder of the importance of law in understanding not only how emissions trading schemes function but also what meaning is given to them as regulatory strategies This is shown by deconstructing emissions trading discourses that is by inquiring into the assumptions about emissions trading as featuring in emissions trading scholarship and in debates involving law and policymakers and the judiciary at the EU level Ultimately this book makes a strong argument for reconfiguring the common understanding of emissions trading schemes as regulatory strategies and sets out a framework for analysis to sustain that reconfiguration
