Environmental Problem Solving Marjan Vezjak, Elmar A. Stuhler, Matjaž Mulej, 1997 Directory of Government Document Collections & Librarians, 2003 Title 40 Protection of Environment Part 52 (§§ 52.01 to 52.1018) (Revised as of July 1, 2013) Office of The Federal Register, Enhanced by IntraWEB, LLC, 2014-07-01 40 CFR Protection of Environment Environmental Software Systems. Fostering Information Sharing Jiří Hřebíček, Gerald Schimak, Miroslav Kubásek, Andrea E. Rizzoli, 2013-09-08 This book constitutes the refereed proceedings of the 10th IFIP WG 5.11 International Symposium on Environmental Software Systems ISESS 2013 held in Neusiedl am See Austria in June 2013. The 65 revised full papers presented were carefully reviewed and selected from numerous submissions. The papers are organized in the following topical sections: environmental application in the scope of the future Internet; smart and mobile devices used for environmental applications; information tools for global environmental assessment; environmental applications in risk and crises management; SEIS as a part of the 7th environment action programme of EU; human interaction and human factors driving future EIS/EDSS developments; environmental management accounting and statistics and information systems and applications. Defense and the Environment: Effective Scientific Communication Katarina Mahutova, John J. Barich III, Ronald A. Kreizenbeck, 2006-04-11 The NATO Advanced Research Workshop Effective Scientific Communication Related to Recent Challenges and Activities in the Military Sector was the result of close collaboration between defense and environmental officials in the United States and the Slovak Republic. It was recognized that effective solutions to environmental problems are achieved through the proper application of science including the communications and the social sciences. Workshop was co-directed by Messrs Ronald A. Kreizenbeck of US EPA and Lubomir Kurník of Slovak Ministry of Defense. Workshop topics were grouped into five major topic areas including: 1. Environmental Policy Perspectives 2. Environmental Management Systems and Public Participation 3. Environmental Security 4. Environmental Decision Support and 5. Protection of Nature and Natural Systems. Delegates from nineteen countries assembled to explore these topics at the Hotel Danube in Bratislava from April 22-26, 2003. A total of forty-six delegates were in attendance: twenty from NATO countries and twenty-six from Partners for Peace countries. The final program included technical sessions using a presentation and dialog format; work groups; field trips; and networking sessions. There were twenty-nine technical presentations divided into seven sessions, and these form the basis for these proceedings. xiii Acknowledgments The organizers of this Advanced Research Workshop acknowledge the support of two major financial sponsors: the NATO Science Programme and the U.S. Department of Defense (USDOD) under the Partners for Peace Program (PfP). Control and Game-Theoretic Models of the Environment Jerzy Filar, Carlo Carraro, 2012-12-06 This book collects some recent works on the application of dynamic game and control theory to the analysis of environmental problems. This collection of papers is not the outcome of a conference or of a workshop. It is rather the result of a careful screening from among a number of contributions that we have solicited across the world. In particular, we have been able to attract the work of some of the most prominent scholars in the field of dynamic analyses of the environment. Engineers, mathematicians, and economists provide their views and analytical tools to better interpret the interactions between economic and environmental phenomena, thus achieving through this interdisciplinary effort new and interesting results. The goal of the book is more normative than descriptive. All papers include careful modelling of the dynamics of the main variables involved in the game between nature and economic agents and among economic agents themselves as well described in Vrieze's introductory chapter. Furthermore, all papers use this careful modelling framework to provide policy prescriptions to the public agencies authorized to regulate emission dynamics. Several diverse problems are addressed, from global issues such as the greenhouse effect or deforestation to international ones such as the management of fisheries to local ones, for example, the control of effluent discharges. Moreover, pollution problems are not the only concern of this book.

Environmental Security and Public Safety
Wolfgang Spyra, Michael Katzsch, 2007-01-08
The end of the Cold War paved the way to a substantial demilitarization and conversion but has left many open issues. Former military installations, military training areas, and huge quantities of unserviceable ammunition and equipment pose a severe threat to the environment of both NATO and Partner countries. This volume includes the perspectives and conversion strategies of both Western and Eastern states.

Synergies between climate and biodiversity objectives in laws, policies and management practices

Engelbrecht Hansen, Amalie Borgman, Elvira Fischer-Bogason, Rikke Nainggolan, Doan Engen, Sigrid Tunaal White, Lajla Olsen Kyrkjeeide, Magni Nowell, Megan Sarah Woroniecki, Stephen Heimes, Katharina Kaupi, Pekka, 2023-04-27

The study supports the exchange of knowledge to further develop effective policy and management tools for nature-based solutions for the climate and the environment. The study compiles good examples which shed light on how the Nordic countries have been successful in implementing measures to simultaneously address climate change, pollution, and biodiversity objectives in laws, policies, and administrative practices, including highlighting potential barriers for implementing integrated policy solutions. Moreover, it provides recommendations for screening methods of laws, policies, and management practices to reveal untapped synergies between climate change, pollution, and biodiversity measures. Finally, the report proposes joint Nordic initiatives that can maximise synergies between biodiversity, climate, and pollution initiatives in the Nordic region and globally.
Economics and the Global Environment
Charles S. Pearson, 2000-10-09
Economics and the Global Environment is a path-breaking comprehensive analysis of how economic and environmental systems mesh in the international context. The book investigates if and how environmental resources such as global climate, genetic diversity, and transboundary pollution can be managed in an international system of sovereign states without a Global Environment Protection Agency. It also considers traditional international economics theory and policy and explores how they can be expanded to accommodate environmental values. Until recently, trade theory and trade policy neglected pollution and environmental degradation This situation has changed dramatically and the controversial and corrosive issues of trade and the environment are here given careful analysis These topics are enriched by a concise presentation of the principles of environmental economics and a thoughtful treatment of sustainable development The book will appeal to students and practitioners of trade and development as well as the environmental community

The Earth as Transformed by Human Action B. L. Turner, William C. Clark, Robert W. Kates, John F. Richards, Jessica T. Mathews, William B. Meyer, 1993-01-29 The Earth as Transformed by Human Action is the culmination of a mammoth undertaking involving the examination of the toll our continual strides forward technical and social take on our world The purpose of such a study is to document the changes in the biosphere that have taken place over the last 300 years to contrast global patterns of change to those appearing on a regional level and to explain the major human forces that have driven these changes The first section deals strictly with the major human forces of the past 300 years and the second is a detailed account of the transformations of the global environment wrought by human action The final section examines a range of perspectives and theories that purport to explain human actions with regard to the biosphere

Historical Epistemology of Ecological Economics Alberto Fragio, 2022-03-05 This volume uses historical epistemology in order to address several topics in the history of economic thought with special emphasis on ecological economics environmental metaphors of scarcity and mathematical ecology Using the field of ecological economics as an anchor point the author reflects on the styles of reasoning in economics with a view towards understanding the nature of disagreement that stems from a failure of communication between rival approaches in economics A thorough inquiry into issues related to identity coherence pluralism and reception this volume will appeal to researchers and students interested in history of economic thought ecological economics and philosophy of the sciences

Climate Security in the Anthropocene Judith Nora Hardt, Cameron Harrington, Franziskus von Lucke, Adrien Estève, Nicholas P. Simpson, 2023-05-20 The speed and scale of climate change presents unique and potentially monumental security implications for individuals future generations international institutions and states Long dominant security paradigms and policies may no longer be appropriate for dealing with these new security risks of the Anthropocene In response to this phenomenon this book investigates how states have reacted to these new challenges and how their different understandings of the climate security nexus might shape global actions on climate change It focuses on the perceptions framings and policies of climate security by members of the United Nations Security Council UNSC the world's highest ranking multilateral security forum Empirically the book presents detailed bottom up case studies from local authors of every UNSC member state in 2020 It combines this with an innovative theoretical approach spanning national human and ecological security that helps to capture the complex dynamics of state led approaches to dealing with security in the Anthropocene This book therefore offers readers a compelling picture of climate security politics in the UNSC beyond Council debates and resolutions By comparing and contrasting how different framings of climate security impact various policy sectors of members states the authors are able to assess the barriers and opportunities for addressing climate security locally and globally This timely contribution to the literature on climate security examines the under analysed relationship between the policy approaches of key countries at the national and at the international level Policy alignment at multiple levels of governance will be critical if we are to respond adequately to the ubiquitous challenges posed by climate change and variability Shirley Scott Head of School and Professor School of Humanities and Social Sciences UNSW Canberra at the Australian Defence Force Academy Australia Climate change is increasingly considered a problem of security yet what that means remains deeply contested Behind the rhetoric of climate crisis threats and emergencies UN Security Council members offer profoundly different ideas about what climate change and security mean and what should be done about it This book brilliantly lays out the hidden or overlooked divergences of interests and perspectives on climate security that are playing out in the world s most central security institution as it grapples with securing a climate unstable world Olaf Corry Professor of Global Security Challenges Faculty of Social Sciences School of Politics and International Studies University of Leeds United Kingdom Security is a contested concept whose scope and direction are subject to change The prime value of this volume is the systematic documentation of the dynamics in defining what security is about in reaction to ever dramatic climate change The book s focus on a somewhat representative sample of states the members of the Security Council provides robust evidence that even though many governments remain reluctant to retreat from traditional perceptions of security there is a large and growing acceptance of the need to adjust priorities in providing security in response to climate change and its consequences Michael Brzoska Professor and Senior Research Fellow IFSH Institute for Peace Research and Security Policy Universit t Hamburg Germany The climate security literature has often been labelled as West centric with little recognition of knowledge production processes and different historical socio economic and political experiences of various societies in the Global South This book goes beyond the conventional approaches to provide a whole range of perspectives on climate security reflective of diverse contextual realities covering factors such as development imperatives conflict dynamics postcolonial legacies institutional actor complexities and geopolitical contestations among others By focusing on the climate security approaches of various countries case studies at the domestic and international levels the applicability of existing climate security frameworks or lack thereof in the context of these case studies is brilliantly brought out by the chapters This book weaves together these diverse perspectives by providing a comprehensive overview of climate security related policies of countries from both Global South and Global North and their positions on climate change and security in the UNSC They reflect the varying norms interests priorities and challenges that continue to shape the climate security agenda within the UNSC as well as non UNSC platforms This book is a must read for anyone interested in gaining an in depth and invigorating understanding of the evolution of distinct climate security discourses and practices in varying contexts Dhanasree Jayaram Assistant Professor Department of Geopolitics and International Relations Manipal Academy of Higher Education MAHE India Research Fellow Centre Marc Bloch Climate Security in the Anthropocene provides a timely and compelling account of the conceptualizations of the climate security nexus and their implications By considering climate security through the lenses of national human and ecological security it provides a sophisticated account of the different dimensions involved in the UNSC debates and beyond The collection of chapters illustrating the positions of the members of the UN Security Council in 2020 not only provide an informative account but also sheds light on the challenges that the UNSC faces in dealing with climate change Maria Julia Trombetta Associate Professor in Politics and Environment School of International Studies Institute of Asia and Pacific Studies University of Nottingham Ningbo China China The book Climate Security in the Anthropocene is the first systematic assessment of climate security decision making and governance of the UN Security Council It is groundbreaking as it combines empirical bottom up case studies of perceptions and policies of different ministries and governmental agencies of UNSC member states with a novel theoretical framework contrasting different security framings and conceptions in the Anthropocene Discussing various policy sectors the study assesses barriers and opportunities and provides novel insights on multi scale responses and interactions in the climate security nexus from local to global levels connecting individuals future generations international institutions and states The book is highly recommendable for everyone interested in the emerging field of policy oriented climate security research J rgen Scheffran Professor for Integrative Geography Head of the Research Group Climate Change and Security CLISEC Center for Earth System Research and Sustainability Universit t Hamburg Germany This volume provides multifocal insights into the climate security nexus combining critical security studies and international relations theories in the age of the Anthropocene Analyzing the perceptions policies and positions of 15 UN Security Council member states this thought provoking piece demonstrates how national security human security and ecological security have advanced as conceptual innovations Offering a rich and diverse range of empirical case studies this piece is a strong contribution to academic discourse and teaching alike Franziska M ller Junior Professor for Political Science Faculty of Business Economics and Social Sciences Universit t Hamburg Germany OECD Food and Agricultural Reviews Innovation, Agricultural Productivity and Sustainability in Turkey OECD,2016-09-26 Productivity growth in the Turkish agricultural sector is supported today by better technologies crop varieties and animal breeds Yet improvements have slowed since the late 2000s and the productivity gap between agriculture and the rest of the economy remains large
