Environmental Statutes:

Environmental Statutes Outline Michael J. O'Grady, 2000 Environmental Laws Susan R. Fletcher, 2008 Several major statutes form the legal basis for the programs of the Environmental Protection Agency EPA. Many of these have been amended several times. The current provisions of each are briefly summarised in this report. The Pollution Prevention Act PPA seeks to prevent pollution through reduced generation of pollutants at their point of origin. The Clean Air Act CAA requires EPA to set mobile source limits, ambient air quality standards, hazardous air pollutant emission standards, standards for new pollution sources, and significant deterioration requirements, and to focus on areas that do not attain standards. The Clean Water Act CWA establishes a sewage treatment construction grants program and a regulatory and enforcement program for discharges of wastes into U.S. waters. Focusing on the regulation of the intentional disposal of materials into ocean waters and authorising related research is the Ocean Dumping Act. The Safe Drinking Water Act SDWA establishes primary drinking water standards, regulates underground injection disposal practices, and establishes a groundwater control program. The Solid Waste Disposal Act and Resource Conservation and Recovery Act RCRA provide regulation of solid and hazardous waste, while the Comprehensive Environmental Response Compensation and Liability Act CERCLA or Superfund provides authority for the federal government to respond to releases of hazardous substances and established a fee maintained fund to clean up abandoned hazardous waste sites. The authority to collect fees has expired and funding is now provided from general revenues. The Emergency Planning and Community Right to Know Act requires industrial reporting of toxic releases and encourages planning to respond to chemical emergencies. The Toxic Substances Control Act TSCA regulates the testing of chemicals and their use, and the Federal Insecticide Fungicide and Rodenticide Act FIFRA governs pesticide products and their use.
