Environment and Animal Development D. Atkinson, M. Thorndyke, 2024-11-15 Animal Developmental Ecology is the first book to focus specifically on the interactions between the environment and developmental mechanisms with particular emphasis given to the consequences for animal populations The underlying premise of the book is that the study of physiological mechanisms alongside the analysis of adaptive values will enable rapid advances in our knowledge of this important field With contributors from well known experts the book will be invaluable for all postgraduates and researchers in this area Environment and Animal Development M. C. Thorndyke, David Atkinson, 2001 Animal Developmental Ecology is the first book to focus specifically on the interactions between the environment and developmental mechanisms with particular emphasis given to the consequences for animal populations The underlying premise of the book is that the study of physiological mechanisms alongside the analysis of adaptive values will enable rapid advances in our knowledge of this important field With contributors from well known experts the book will be invaluable for all postgraduates and researchers in this area Development and Environment Warren Burggren, Benjamin Dubansky, 2018-09-24 Rather than a loosely connected list of facts topics this book addresses virtually every field that involves the use of developing animals in environmental science In doing so it will help define the scientific collective within these fields to both those readers who are outside of a particular field students and professionals alike and those who work within said field where multiple iterations of the same job description exist Both the content and choice of authors fully support this goal as the editors and contributing authors represent contemporary thought and experimentation in their respective fields ranging from developmental physiology through environmental toxicology to medicine As such this work will appeal to a broad audience including any scientist or trainee interested in the nexus of environment development and physiology Hormonal Regulation of Farm Animal Growth K. L. Hossner, 2005 This book describes the cellular and molecular mechanisms that control farm animal growth including development and body composition The emphasis is on circulating hormones local growth factors and gene transcription factors which regulate growth and differentiation of skeletal muscle bone and adipose tissue Overall this book will be an important resource for students that have a limited background in cell molecular and developmental biology and the effect of endocrine and growth factors on the growth process Taylor & Francis Group, 2010-12-31 Environmental Aspects of Housing for Animal Production J. A. Clark, 2013-10-22 Environmental Aspects of Housing for Animal Production is concerned with environmental aspects of housing farm animals The discussions are organized around physical and physiological principles environmental influences on reproduction environmental influences on the productivity of farm animals optimal housing environments for temperate and cool climates housing environments for hot climates engineering and control of the house environment and the constraints of welfare and disease This text consists of 32 chapters divided into nine sections The first chapter explores the physiological mechanisms whereby the food or fiber producing animals maintain a constant body temperature under climatic extremes and the possible impact that these physiological processes may have on productive systems This discussion is followed by chapters on the influence of climate on the decision to house livestock the effect of the environment on animal reproduction thermal influences on poultry and the importance of ventilation and temperature control This text also considers the poultry housing problems in tropical and subtropical climates insulation of animal houses and the interaction between feathering and egg production in laying hens This book will appeal to those working in the field of housing for animal production both in research and development and at a practical level

Grant,2003 Climate change and sustainable development Thomas Potthast,Simon Meisch,2012-08-13 Climate change is a major framing condition for sustainable development of agriculture and food Global food production is a major contributor to global greenhouse gas emissions and at the same time it is among the sectors worst affected by climate change This book brings together a multidisciplinary group of authors exploring the ethical dimensions of climate change and food Conceptual clarifications provide a necessary basis for putting sustainable development into practice Adaptation and mitigation demand altering both agricultural and consumption practices Intensive vs extensive production is reassessed with regard to animal welfare efficiency and environmental implications Property rights pay an ever increasing role as do shifting land use practices agro energy biotechnology food policy to green consumerism And last but not least tools are suggested for teaching agricultural and food ethics Notwithstanding the plurality of ethical analyses and their outcome it becomes apparent that governance of agri food is faced by new needs and new approaches of bringing in the value dimension much more explicitly This book is intended to serve as a stimulating collection that will contribute to debate and reflection on the sustainable future of agriculture and food production in the face of global change

Life Strategies, Human Evolution, Environmental Design V. Geist,2013-11-11 Consider that you were asked how to ensure human survival Where would you begin Conservation of resources jumps to mind We need to conserve resources in order that economic activities may continue Alas this is a false start Resources are always defined by a given economic system and only it determines what is and what is not a resource Therefore conserving resources implies only the perpetuation of the appropriate economic system Conservation of resources as we know them has nothing to do with the survival of mankind but it has very much to do with the survival of the industrial system and society we live in today We have to start therefore at a more basic level This level some may argue is addressed by ensuring for human beings clean genes Again this is a mistaken beginning It is thoroughly mistaken for reasons of science It is a false start because malfunctioning organs and morphological structures are not only due to deleterious hereditary factors but particularly due to unfavorable environments during early growth and development Moreover eugenics is not acceptable to any but a small fraction of society Eugenics may not be irrelevant to our future but is premature and should be of little concern until we understand how human genes and environment interact
