Environmental Change and Human Security Richard A. Matthew, Jon Barnett, Bryan McDonald, Karen L. O'Brien, 2009-10-09 Experts discuss the risks global environmental change poses for the human security including disaster and disease violence and increasing inequity In recent years scholars in international relations and other fields have begun to conceive of security more broadly moving away from a state centered concept of national security toward the idea of human security which emphasizes the individual and human well being Viewing global environmental change through the lens of human security connects such problems as melting ice caps and carbon emissions to poverty vulnerability equity and conflict This book examines the complex social health and economic consequences of environmental change across the globe In chapters that are both academically rigorous and policy relevant the book discusses the connections of global environmental change to urban poverty natural disasters with a case study of Hurricane Katrina violent conflict with a study of the decade long Nepalese civil war population gender and development The book makes clear the inadequacy of traditional understandings of security and shows how global environmental change is raising new unavoidable questions of human insecurity conflict cooperation and sustainable development Contributors W Neil Adger Jennifer Bailey Jon Barnett Victoria Basolo Hans Georg Bohle Mike Brklacich May Chazan Chris Cocklin Geoffrey D Dabelko Indra de Soysa Heather Goldsworthy Betsy Hartmann Robin M Leichenko Laura Little Alexander Lopez Richard A Matthew Bryan McDonald Eric Neumayer Kwasi Nsiah Gyabaah Karen L O'Brien Marvin S Soroos Bishnu Raj Upreti

Human Security and the Environment Edward Page, M. R. Redclift, 2002-01-01 In the post Cold War era the pre eminent threats to our security derive from human degradation of vital ecosystems as well as the possibility of war and terrorist attack This substantial book examines this new security environment paradigm and the way in which the activities of societies are shifting the balance with nature The distinguished authors investigate this redefinition of security with particular reference to environmental threats such as climate change and the availability of adequate supplies of food and water They illustrate how unfettered economic growth rising levels of personal consumption and unsustainable natural resource and energy procurement are taking a heavy toll on the global environment This in turn is forcing both developed and developing countries to re evaluate the more immediate environmental security of their own populations For a truly global perspective the authors present a series of country case studies looking at issues of security and environment and comparing how they influence policy and human well being They also discuss a number of theoretical issues which underpin discussions of environmental security demonstrating that this is a relatively new and essentially contested concept

Human Security and Sustainable Development in East Africa Jeremiah O. Asaka, Alice A. Oluoko-Odingo, 2022-05-23 This book investigates contemporary human security issues in East Africa setting forth policy recommendations and a research agenda for future studies Human security takes a people centered rather than state centered approach to security issues focusing on whether people feel safe free from fear want and indignity This book investigates human security in East Africa encompassing issues as diverse as migration housing climate change displacement food security aflatoxins land rights and peace and conflict resolution In particular the book showcases innovative original research from African scholars based on the continent and abroad and together the contributors provide policy recommendations and set forth a human security research agenda for East Africa which encompasses Kenya Uganda Tanzania Somalia Rwanda Burundi South Sudan Sudan Ethiopia Eritrea and Djibouti As well as being useful for policy makers and practitioners this book will interest researchers across African Studies Security Studies Environmental Studies

Human and Environmental Security
Felix Dodds, Tim Pippard, 2013-06-17 Security has tended to be seen as based on military force yet this illusion is crumbling literally and figuratively before our eyes in the conflict zones of Iraq Afghanistan and Africa It is now clear that real human security defined by the Commission on Human Security as protecting vital freedoms can only be achieved if the full range of issues that underpin human security including environmental integrity are addressed This ground breaking book authored by prominent international decision makers tackles the global human security problem across the range of core issues including terrorism nuclear proliferation access to water food security loss of biodiversity and climate change The authors identify the causes of insecurity articulate the linkages between the different elements of human security and outline an agenda for engaging stakeholders from across the globe in building the foundations of genuine and lasting human security for all nations and all people This is powerful necessary solution focused reading in these times of peril global conflict mass inequity and rampant environmental degradation

Yoshida, 2014-06-16 Ever since mankind first appeared on Earth people have confronted a variety of threats caused by global environmental changes and catastrophic natural disasters In recent years there has been a huge necessity to attempt the complementary co evolution among technologies urban management and policy design by putting greater emphasis on local orientation while fully utilizing academic traditions of civil engineering architecture environmental engineering and disaster prevention research This book seeks to meet the challenge of defining the new concept human security engineering via the implementation of such applicable technologies in Asian megacities      Human Security in South Asia Adluri

Subramanyam Raju, 2019-08-29 This book delves into the theory and praxis of human security in South Asia Home to almost a quarter of the world s population and fast emerging markets South Asia holds social geopolitical and economic significance in the current global context The chapters in the volume examine the challenges to human security through an exploration of environmental issues including water availability electric waste environmental governance and climate change explore key themes such as development displacement and migration the role of civil society sustainable development and poverty and discuss developmental issues in South Asia and provide a holistic picture of non military security issues Bringing together scholars from varied disciplines this comprehensive volume will be useful for researchers teachers and students of international relations human rights political science development studies human geography and demography defense and strategic studies migration and diaspora studies and South Asian studies      Security and Development Robert

Picciotto, Rachel Weaving, 2013-10-28 The new contributions in this book by acknowledged leaders in the field examine the delivery of effective aid under fire and securing the peace in environments where governance is fragile They bridge the cultural divide between the security and development professions at a time of unprecedented global economic integration geopolitical turbulence and novel threats to international peace and security More than a billion people live in countries where governance is weak poverty is rampant and economies are depressed Failed and frail states provide ideal breeding grounds for civil strife criminality and new wars that target civilians use children as combatants and commit massive human rights violations The new security risks loom within national borders while the capacity of the international community to intervene behind borders remains inadequate Policy making for security still relies heavily on military responses Yet military responses cannot address and may even worsen the social and cultural antecedents of civil strife and social resentment Similarly development aid policy and practice are poorly adapted to the new realities of frail governance and insecure operating environments in aid recipient countries This book was previously published as a special issue of the leading journal Conflict Security and Development
