Environmental Biomonitoring Assessment Prediction And Management Certain Case Studies And Related Quantitative Issues:

Environmental Biomonitoring, Assessment, Prediction, and Management John Cairns, Ganapati P. Patil, William E. Waters, 1979 Monitoring Ecological Change Ian F. Spellerberg, 1991-10-25 Living communities are continuously changing both as a result of natural processes and of human activities It is essential for us to have effective biological and ecological monitoring programs in order to detect these changes and understand the factors that influence them In the first part of the book the roles of local national and international organizations that implement monitoring programs are discussed and assessed In the second section of the book a wide range of examples are used to explain and evaluate methods of data collection analysis and interpretation The final section focuses on the important applications of biological monitoring such as pollution control land use management monitoring rare species and post environmental impact assessment Design and
