Environmental Ethics Spring 1999:

Environmental Ethics, Ecological Theology, and Natural Selection Lisa Sideris, 2003-07-16 In the last few decades religious and secular thinkers have tackled the world's escalating environmental crisis by attempting to develop an ecological ethic that is both scientifically accurate and free of human centered preconceptions This groundbreaking study shows that many of these environmental ethicists continue to model their positions on romantic pre Darwinian concepts that disregard the predatory and cruelly competitive realities of the natural world Examining the work of such influential thinkers as James Gustafson Sallie McFague Rosemary Radford Ruether John Cobb Peter Singer and Holmes Rolston Sideris proposes a more realistic ethic that combines evolutionary theory with theological insight advocates a minimally interventionist stance toward nature and values the processes over the products of the natural world A Case Study in Thomistic Environmental Ethics Robert L. Grant, 2007 This original study applies the philosophical theological thought of Thomas Aquinas to issues of environmental ethics specifically in relation to the restoration and preservation of the plains of the Loess Hills in Iowa This study should appeal to scholars working in environmental ethics philosophy theology and ecology Thomas Aquinas Summa Theologiae to a particular environmental region namely the Loess Hills of Iowa The book begins by telling the ecological story of the Loess Hills and then proceeds to summarize the development of environmental ethics through the legacy of Henry David Thoreau thereby revealing certain tensions that exist in contemporary environmental debates Then after considering the strengths and weaknesses of anthropocentric and ecocentric ethical systems the author provides an exposition of Aquinas understanding of the bonum naturalis the bonum connaturalis and the bonum supernaturalis as these are found in the Summa Theologiae flourishing only in ways that simultaneously save the contextualizing ecosystems This ethic is then applied to the particular case of the Loess Hills producing an eudaimonistic ecoregionalism Environmental Ethics Louis P. management and restoration practices The essays in this section pay close attention to how efforts at environmental protection alter or reinforce the traditional relationship between humans and nature More specifically the contributors examine whether management practices as they are applied in nature conservation actually promote the autonomy of nature or whether they turn the environment into a client for policymakers

An Environmental Ethic for the End of the World Scott C. Powell,2019-06-13 Is there a place for religious texts in today s global environmental conversation Some have claimed over the centuries that the Bible has given humans license to devastate the world of nature Can those same texts be a source of ecological healing This book investigates Romans 8 19 22 Paul s enigmatic passage about creation groaning out in travail which comes at the conclusion of his long Christological discourse His inclusion of nature in the Christ event is both unprecedented and has baffled scholars for centuries Could Genesis provide the explanation Four relationships shape the creation stories Prior to the fall of Adam and Eve human beings are said to live in harmony with God with themselves with one another and with the world of nature As humans disobey God each of these relationships unravels climaxing with the cursing of nature itself Is this paradigm in the background of Paul s Christology Read this way Paul s midrash on the story of creation in light of the Christ event provides deep insight into the biblical role of humans and their instrumentality in bringing both harm and healing to the world of nature
