Environmental Aid Programmes To Eastern Europe:

Environmental Aid Programmes to Eastern Europe Ragnar Löfstedt, Gunnar Sjöstedt, 1996 Using case studies to survey the environmental aid of several European countries this work aims to identify the mistakes that have been made in the field of environmental aid It examines how these nations can improve their environmental aid programmes overall

Environmental Issues in Central and Eastern Europe United States. General Accounting Office, 1994

Environmental Problems in East-Central Europe Frank Carter, David Turnock, 2002-09-26 In this new edition the progress made in the last decade to solve the environmental problems described in the first edition is assessed The attempts to bring environmental legislation into line with West European norms is also described Environmental Problems of East Central Europe looks at air and water pollution modern farming water supplies waste management and landscape protection These topics are placed within economic social and political profiles as spending on a clean environment must be reconciled with welfare spending and the safeguarding of jobs European Union assistance civil society and the work of environmental NGOs are also discussed All of these matters are considered within the context of the wider geographical area and then by each individual country including the previously communist states lying to the west of the Soviet Union now with the former federal states of Czechoslovakia and Yugoslavia broken up into seven different entities and a review of the former Soviet Union with particular reference to the Baltic States Environmental Problems in East Central Europe provides a wealth of up to date reference material with a vast amount of supporting literature on environmental conditions and the functioning of civil society and a map of each country The environment is being taken seriously by them all such is the influence of the Rio sustainability agenda in general and the EU environmental acquis in particular The book reveals that Eastern Europe is not a blighted area but in some respects has a higher biodiversity than Western Europe Although there is enormous waste and inefficiency in energy use people actually consume relatively little and the East therefore has some lessons for the West in terms of managing on the bases of fair share of the earth s resources European Environmental Policy Mikael Skou

Andersen, Duncan Liefferink, 1997 This major new literary study offers a fresh view of the significance of the famous group of fourteenth century poems Pearl Cleanness Patience and Sir Gawain and the Green Knight It is a comprehensive study which puts the poems themselves firmly at its centre though it is always alert to relevant aspects of their literary and cultural context John Anderson builds his discussions of the poems ideas on an examination of the anonymous poet s superb Shakespeare like language He finds that the great fourteenth century struggle between religious and secular forces for control of men s minds underlies all the poems This title is the first in the new Manchester Medieval Literature series which makes readability a priority Accordingly despite its wide range of reference and the radicalism of some of its leading ideas this book is written in a jargon free style designed to appeal to specialist non specialist and student readers alike Back post communist states who have applied this book looks at some of the challenges presented by Eastern enlargement not only to existing member states and European institutions but also to the Central and Eastern European countries themselves. The approach is interdisciplinary and brings together contributions from academic specialists on security and international relations, European institutions, the economics of European integration and the domestic politics of Central and Eastern Europe. The book has been structured to provide a clear and comprehensive introduction to the topic for students taking a range of courses including European integration, the politics of post communist democracies and Europe's post Cold war order. At the same time it will be accessible to more general readers with an interest in European Union affairs while presenting research to specialists in the area.

Environmental Problems in Eastern Europe Francis W. Carter, David Turnock, 1996. Providing a comprehensive descriptive analysis of a wide range of Central and East European countries, this updated paperback edition offers an invaluable study of pollution problems and effects on the quality of life. Revisions include a new chapter on Slovakia demonstrating the implementation of a number of practical measures which have made a considerable impact on environmental problems that arose under communism and have been tackled during the transition, a new concluding chapter which provides an important overview of recent developments in Eastern Europe and discusses topical issues such as health hazards and methods of charging polluters for environmental damage.

Environmental and Technology Policy in Europe G.J. Schrama, S. Sedlacek, 2013-03-09. This book contains six studies on various national environmental policies and environment oriented technology policy systems in Austria, Denmark, Germany, the Netherlands, Spain and the United Kingdom, sandwiched between this introductory and a concluding chapter. These studies were conducted as part of the ENVINNO research project 'Towards an Integration of Environmental and Ecology Oriented Technology Policy: Stimulus and Response in Environment Related Innovation Networks' which formed part of the Targeted Social and Economic Research (TSER) Programme of Directorate General XII of the European Commission, now Directorate General for Research. We like to thank Mrs Genevieve Zdrojewski of DG Directorate General Research for her kind support of our research project. The project was carried out between 1998 and 2001 by research teams from the six countries. The coordinating institute was the Department of Environmental Economics and Management at the Vienna University of Economics and Business Administration. At this place we want to mention all researchers involved in the ENVINNO project and we want to thank them all for their contributions to this book and the project and for the good time we have had performing the project and meeting each other at regular intervals in Vienna, A, Enschede, NL, Berlin, D and Sevilla, E.

Environmental Management in Eastern Europe, Caucasus and Central Asia OECD, 2005-04-20. This book brings together the findings of key sector and media specific analyses of the environment in the Eastern Europe Caucasus and Central Asia area and puts forth a set of indicators to provide a one stop concise and up to date assessment accessible also to a non specialist audience Science and Politics of Foreign Aid B. Hassler, 2011-06-27 Contemporary international aid consists of a wide range of various support programs where the end result in many cases not only reflects the needs of the recipient country but also the interests of the donor country In Science and Politics of Foreign Aid Swedish Environmental Support to the Baltic States it is shown that this particular support has been directed primarily towards areas of joint concern such as air pollution and effluents to the Baltic Sea Environmental problems with primarily local effects have to a large extent been neglected in the Swedish support program The requirement on the Baltic recipient countries to finance a specific fraction of each joint program with local resources has furthermore drained the local national environmental budgets from resources making it very difficult for these countries to mitigate various local environmental hazards by themselves In contrast to many previous foreign aid studies where various donor country biases often are suggested but not empirically validated this book gives an in depth view of how a particular support program is influenced by specific and self interested considerations Greening Aid? Robert L. Hicks, Bradley C. Parks, J. Timmons Roberts, Michael J. Tierney, 2008-03-13 Every year billions of dollars of environmental aid flow from the rich governments of the North to the poor governments of the South Why do donors provide this aid What do they seek to achieve How effective is the aid given And does it always go to the places of greatest environmental need From the first Earth Summit in Stockholm in 1972 to the G8 Gleneagles meeting in 2005 the issue of the impact of aid on the global environment has been the subject of vigorous protest and debate How much progress has there been in improving environmental protection and clean up in the developing world What explains the patterns of environmental aid spending and distribution is it designed to address real problems achieve geopolitical or commercial gains abroad or buy political mileage at home And what are the consequences for the estimated 4 million people that die each year from air pollution unsafe drinking water and lack of sanitation All of these questions and many more are addressed in this groundbreaking text which is based on the authors work compiling the most comprehensive dataset of foreign aid ever assembled By evaluating the likely environment impact of over 400 000 development projects by more than 50 donors to over 170 recipient nations between 1970 and 2001 Greening Aid represents a unique state of the art picture of what is happening in foreign assistance and its impact on the environment Greening Aid explains major trends and shifts over the last three decades ranks donors according to their performance and offers case studies which compare and contrast donors and types of environmental aid Central and South-Eastern Europe 2003 Europa Publications, 2002 An in depth survey of the region presenting the latest economic and political developments It includes expert comment on issues of regional importance up to date statistics a directory of institutes and companies and political profiles Environmental science : understanding, protecting, and managing the environment in the Baltic Sea region Lars Rydén, Pawel Migula, Magnus

Andersson,2003      Environmental Change, Adaptation, and Security S. Lonergan,2012-12-06 The chapters in this volume are edited versions of papers presented at the NATO Advanced Research Workshop on Environmental Change Adaptation and Security held in Budapest Hungary from October 16 18 1997 As is evident in this volume the papers ranged from descriptions of environmental and health issues in Russia and Eastern Europe to models of sustainable land use This diversity of perspectives on environment and security is indicative of both the breadth of this new area of research as well as the varied background of the researchers involved The discussions at the NATO workshop were remarkably animated and exciting not surprising given the interest in the topic I think this vitality is reflected in the papers in this volume as well The main purpose of the NATO ARW is to foster research links among researchers from NATO countries and Central and Eastern European States Russia and the Newly Independent States In editing this volume a decision was made to keep to the spirit of this purpose and if at all possible include all papers prepared for the workshop This required extensive editing and rewriting of some of the papers and consequent delays in production A determination was made early in the process by the workshop steering committee that the value of publishing the entire collection of articles outweighed the advantages of accepting only a limited number      Pushing Back the Boundaries Mike Mannin,1999 Missionary families were an integral component of the missionary enterprise both as active agents on the global religious stage and as a force within the enterprise that shaped understandings and theories of mission itself Taking the family as a legitimate unit of historical analysis in its own right for the first time Missionary families traces changing familial policies and lived realities throughout the nineteenth century and powerfully argues for the importance of an historical understanding of the missionary enterprise informed by the complex interplay between the intimate the personal and the professional By looking at marriage parenting and childhood along with professionalism vocation and domesticity this first in depth study of missionary families reveals their profound importance to the missionary enterprise and concludes that mission history can no longer be written without attention to the personal emotional and intimate aspects of missionary lives      Dilemmas of Transition Susan Baker,Petr Jehlicka,2015-02-12 This volume explores the impact of democratization and marketization on the environment in East Central Europe The essays investigate how the twin processes of change affect the physical environment the expression of environmental interest and environmental management policies      Globally Threatened Birds in Europe Borja Heredia,Laurence Rose,Mary Painter,BirdLife International,1996-01-01 Of some 10000 bird species in the world 514 are to be found in Europe Of these twenty six European species are globally threatened risk extinction if their populations are not actively built up This series of action plans for Europe's most threatened species is the result of a joint project carried out by BirdLife International in collaboration with Wetlands International involving over 370 experts in almost every European country This book will be of interest to conservationists at both national local level educators all those interested in the conservation of Europe's bird heritage      Donor Coordination of Economic Assistance to Eastern Europe Gerrit Stratmann,2000 A major restriction to Western aid efforts has been a lack of coordination This book delves into the determinants of successful cooperation between bi and multilateral donor agencies at the example of Western aid to Eastern Europe in the period from 1990 to 1996 In raising the assumption that networking between international organizations cannot be stimulated by appealing to norm oriented behavior but is contingent upon the existence of common interests the idealist view of international relations is seriously challenged Comparing different assistance sectors energy telecoms mass privatization agriculture statistics central banking environment and education it is shown that donor coordination is a form of collective action initiated by donors in response to sectoral market failure which is perceived as significant because it threatens the non attainment of basic goals or inflicts own projects with high costs or risks
