Environmental Design:

Environmental Design Richard P. Dober, 1969      Environmental Design Evaluation Arnold Friedmann, Craig Zimring, Ervin Zube, 2013-12-14 As the nature of the field of environment behavior relations is interdisciplinary the collaboration of three persons of diverse professional backgrounds in writing this book is therefore not surprising This collaboration started in 1972 with the offering of a graduate seminar Environment Behavior and Design Evaluation at the University of Massachusetts Several research projects dealing with design evaluation which have been conducted at the University are also included as case studies in this book Chapter III the ELEMNR study and the Visitor Center study Two of the authors have worked as part of the instructional team in the seminar and all of the authors have participated in varying degrees in the ELEMNR Project The authors backgrounds in design psychology and landscape architecture suggest by example that professionals with diverse backgrounds but a common interest in environment behavior problems can indeed learn to communicate and to collaborate Since design evaluation is a new field and very little specific literature on the subject exists to date we hope this book fills a current need      Environmental Design Jennifer A. E. Shields, Michael Lucas, Ellen Burke, 2019-08-28 Environmental Design An Anthology features diverse readings that explore the interdependency of humans and the built environment Readers discover how environments affect human behavior how humans impact environments and the myriad factors to consider when designing or constructing new buildings landscapes or urban spaces The readings emphasize the impact of decisions made by designers builders and occupants on the health of human and natural systems      Environmental Design Research Directions Gary T. Moore, D. Paul Tuttle, Sandra C. Howell, 1985      Environmental Design Perspectives Wolfgang F. E. Life Strategies, Human Evolution, Environmental Design V. Geist, 2013-11-11 Consider that you were asked how to ensure human survival Where would you begin Conservation of resources jumps to mind We need to conserve resources in order that economic activities may continue Alas this is a false start Resources are always defined by a given economic system and only it determines what is and what is not a resource Therefore conserving resources implies only the perpetuation of the appropriate economic system Conservation of resources as we know them has nothing to do with the survival of mankind but it has very much to do with the survival of the industrial system and society we live in today We have to start therefore at a more basic level This level some may argue is addressed by ensuring for human beings clean genes Again this is a mistaken beginning It is thoroughly mistaken for reasons of science It is a false start because malfunctioning organs and morphological structures are not only due to deleterious hereditary factors but particularly due to unfavorable environments during early growth and development Moreover eugenics is not acceptable to any but a small fraction of society Eugenics may not be irrelevant to our future but is premature and should be of little concern until we understand how human genes and environment interact

History and Precedent in Environmental Design Anatol Rapoport, 2013-06-29 This book is about a new and different way of approaching and studying the history of the built environment and the use of historical precedents in design However although what I am proposing is new for what is currently called architectural history both my approach and even my conclusions are not that new in other fields as I discovered when I attempted to find supporting evidence In fact of all the disciplines dealing with various aspects of the study of the past architectural history seems to have changed least in the ways I am advocating There is currently a revival of interest in the history of architecture and urban form a similar interest applies to theory vernacular design and culture environment relations After years of neglect the study of history and the use of historical precedent are again becoming important However that interest has not led to new approaches to the subject nor have its bases been examined This I try to do In so doing I discuss a more rigorous and I would argue a more valid way of looking at historical data and hence of using such data in a theory of the built environment and as precedent in environmental design Underlying this is my view of Environment Behavior Studies CEBS as an emerging theory rather than as data to help design based on current theory Although this will be the subject of another book a summary statement of this position may be useful

Problems and Needs of the Environmental Design Research Community, 1981 Rebuilding Crime Prevention Through Environmental Design Rachel Armitage, Paul Ekblom, 2019-02-11 Crime Prevention Through Environmental Design CPTED is a practice oriented approach to reduce the risk of offences such as burglary and fear of crime by modifying the built environment In recent years this approach has been criticised for duplicating terminology and for failing to integrate successfully with other approaches Rebuilding Crime Prevention Through Environmental Design explores and extends the common ground between CPTED and situational crime prevention another traditional approach in the field of crime prevention and security via the latter's evolution into the field of crime science Drawing on international research to develop new interdisciplinary perspectives this volume explores how situational crime prevention and environmental criminological theories relate to those of Crime Prevention Through Environmental Design and considers how crime science can be reformulated to merge different approaches or at least articulate them better Rebuilding Crime Prevention Through Environmental Design will appeal to students applied academic researchers and practitioners who wish to deepen their understanding and contribute in turn to the ongoing revitalisation of the field
