Small Nations, High Ambitions X. Hubert Rioux, 2020-02-24 Given the importance that entrepreneurship and start up businesses in technology intensive sectors like life sciences renewable energy artificial intelligence financial technologies software and others have come to assume in economic development the access of entrepreneurs to appropriate levels of finance has become a major focus of policymakers in recent decades Yet this prominence has led to a variety of policy models across countries and even within countries as different levels of government have adapted to new challenges by refining or transforming pre existing institutions and crafting new policy tools Small Nations High Ambitions investigates the roots of such policy diversity at the subnational level offering in depth accounts of the evolution of Quebec's and Scotland's policy strategies in the entrepreneurial finance sector and venture capital more specifically As compared to other regions and provinces in the United Kingdom and Canada Quebec and Scottish venture capital ecosystems rely on a high degree of state intervention either direct through public investment funds or indirect through government backed hybrid or tax advantaged funds These two regions can thus be described as sponsor states heavily involved in the strategic backing of innovative businesses Whereas most of the literature on venture capital has focused on economic variables to explain variations in policy models this book seeks to explain policy divergence in Quebec and Scotland through political and ideological lenses Its main argument is that the development of venture capital ecosystems in these regions was underpinned by Quebecois and Scottish nationalisms which induced preferences for policy asymmetry and state intervention

Local Governance and Development in Africa and the Middle East Khadija Darmame, Eric Ross, 2024-07-25 This edited volume surveys how current local governance policies and development strategies across Africa and the Middle East are advancing Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs). Morocco's recent experience with local development strategies serves as a starting point for the discussion. Over the past decade, Morocco has undertaken a variety of initiatives aimed at reducing poverty and social inequalities and providing essential services to marginalized communities. These initiatives provide great opportunities to reshape the spatial organization of regions and to address chronic local issues of infrastructure and investment. Local governance is the most direct way of providing basic services to populations, helping to alleviate socio-spatial inequalities. Also, it is and will continue to be the best way to engage people and local governments in economic, social, and human development agendas. However, placing local governance at the heart of development strategies requires going well beyond participatory approaches to policy making. Local communities and their governments need to be empowered. As responses to the Covid-19 epidemic have laid bare, new and more efficient modes of territorial governance are needed at local and regional levels if current global scale challenges are to be met. While development and governance strategies like Morocco's are framed by global agreements and standards, there is a need to understand them at the regional scale. Are there discernible patterns in how African and Middle Eastern countries design and implement them? This volume assembles case studies from across the region, allowing for understandings that transcend the usual spatial dichotomies between North and Sub-Saharan Africa, between Africa and the Middle East, and between the Anglophone and Francophone spheres. The volume builds upon an international conference on the topic held at Al Akhawayn University in Ifrane, Morocco, in February of 2022. The volume is aimed at a readership of researchers and development practitioners and will be of most direct benefit to advanced undergraduate and graduate level students.
