National Audit Office, 2008-03-06 Holding managers to account for the resources they have been allocated is key to improving financial management at the Department for Environment Food and Rural Affairs. This need has been recognised by the Department and reflected in a programme to improve its financial management but the Department's Management Board recognises that establishing a culture of tighter control over its expenditure will take time. This initiative must remain a top priority and managers throughout the organisation will need to produce more reliable estimates of costs to justify their bids for resources and track the cost effectiveness of work done. The budgets agreed by the Management Board at the outset of 2006-07 and 2007-08 exceeded the funds available. In early 2006-07 increased spending to remedy difficulties with the Single Payment Scheme led to a risk of overspending in that year and the Department instigated a review which identified savings of 170 million against its original budget of 3 854 million. During the early part of 2007-08 further commitments above the agreed budget allocations meant the Department was at risk of exceeding its spending limit by 140 million. In July 2007 the Management Board identified savings which partially balanced the budget and continues to work towards a balanced budget for the year end. Effective monitoring by the Management Board and greater integration between the systems for monitoring performance delivery and financial expenditure would help better management of budgets. The NAO recommends that the Management Board set budgets from 2008-09 onwards that balance with the 2007 Comprehensive Spending Review and develops benchmarks to test the rigour of proposed budgets and to provide confirmation that these resource bids accord with the Department's strategic objectives.

Making Space for the River Jeroen Frank Warner, Arwin van Buuren, Jurian Edelenbos, 2012-11-01 This book examines recent developments in river flood management from the viewpoint of Making Space for the River and the resulting challenges for water governance. Different examples from Europe and the United States of America are discussed that aim to green rivers including increasing river discharge for flood management enhancing natural and landscape values promoting local or regional economic development and urban regeneration. Making Space for the River presents not only opportunities and synergies but also risks as it crosses established institutional boundaries and touches on multiple stakeholder interests which can easily clash. Making Space for the River helps the reader to understand the policy and governance dynamics that lead to these tensions and pays attention to a variety of attempts to organize effective and legitimate governance approaches. The book helps to realize connections between policy domains problem frames and goals of different actors at different levels that contribute to decisive and legitimate action. Making Space for the River has an international comparative character that sheds light upon both the country specific governance dilemmas which relate to specific state traditions and institutional characteristics of national water management but also uncovers interesting similarities which provide us with building blocks to formulate more generic lessons about the governance of Making Space for the River in different institutional and social contexts. The authors of this book come from a variety of disciplines including public administration town and country planning geography and anthropology and these different disciplines bring multiple ways of knowing and understanding of Making Space for the River programs The book combines interdisciplinary scientific analyses of Space for the River projects and programs with practical knowing and lessons drawing Making Space for the River is written for both practitioners and scholars and students of environmental policy spatial planning land use and water management Editors Jeroen Warner Assistant Professor of Disaster Studies Wageningen University The Netherlands Arwin van Buuren Associate Professor of Public Administration Erasmus University Rotterdam The Netherlands Jurian Edelenbos Professor of Public Administration Erasmus University Rotterdam The Netherlands
