Location And Space In Social Administration:

Towards a Spatial Social Policy Adam Whitworth, 2019-11-13 Social policy and human geography are intimately intertwined yet frequently disconnected fields Whilst social policies are always conceived implemented and experienced in and through geography the role of place in social policy scholarship and practice is frequently overlooked Bringing together experts from both fields this collection illuminates the myriad of ways that human geography offers rich insights conceptually empirically and methodologically into the neglected spatialities of policy scholarship practice and experience By building the necessary bridges towards a spatial social policy this book enables the enhanced design performance and understanding of social policies once properly rooted in their multiple spatialities

Not Only the Poor Robert E Goodin, Julian Le Grand, 2018-07-20 Originally published in 1987 Not Only the Poor explores the self interested involvement of the non poor in the welfare state particularly the middle class Using evidence from Britain America and Australia they show that the non poor were crucial in the founding of the welfare state and in all three countries the non poor benefit extensively from key welfare programmes including those ostensibly targeted on the poor Goodin and Le Grand conclude that the beneficial involvement of the non poor in the welfare state is probably inevitable but this may be no bad thing depending on the alternative and on the nature of the egalitarian ideal adopted

Beyond Leadership Scott Eacott, 2017-11-06 This book systematically elaborates Scott Eacott's relational approach to organizational theory in education. Contributing to the relational trend in the social sciences, it first surveys relational scholarship across disciplines before providing a nuanced articulation of the relational research program and key concepts such as organizing activity, actors, and spatio-temporal conditions. It also includes critical commentaries on the program from key figures such as Tony Bush, Megan Crawford, Fenwick English, Helen Gunter, Izhar Oplatka, Augusto Riveros, and Dawn Wallin. As such, the text models an approach to or social epistemology for building knowledge claims in relation rather than through parallel monologues. Eacott's relational approach provides a distinctive post-Bourdieuian variant of the relational sociological project. Shifting the focus of inquiry from entities (e.g., leaders, organizations) to organizing activity and recognizing how actors generate simultaneously emerging from and constitutive of spatio-temporal conditions unsettles the orthodoxy of organizational theory in educational administration and leadership. By presenting its claims in the context of other approaches, the book stimulates intellectual debate among both relational sociologists and opponents of relational approaches. Beyond Leadership provides significant insights into the organizing of education. As it does not fit neatly into any one field but instead blends educational administration and leadership, organizational studies, and relational sociology among others, it charts new territory and promotes important dialogue and debate.
