Radiation Protection at Light Water Reactors Robert Prince, 2012-03-28 This book is aimed at Health Physicists wishing to gain a better understanding of the principles and practices associated with a light water reactor LWR radiation protection program The role of key program elements is presented in sufficient detail to assist practicing radiation protection professionals in improving and strengthening their current program Details related to daily operation and discipline areas vital to maintaining an effective LWR radiation protection program are presented Programmatic areas and functions important in preventing responding to and minimizing radiological incidents and the importance of performing effective incident evaluations and investigations are described Elements that are integral in ensuring continuous program improvements are emphasized throughout the text The Cultivator & Country Gentleman, 1869 Light, Privacy, and Neighbors Janet S. Loengard, 2024-09-20 Density of housing in late medieval and early modern London could make access to light and privacy incompatible provoking neighbor disputes This book examines the Custom of London on light which reflected centuries old ideas about the right to have or prevent neighbors from having windows The volume explores the background of the Custom and its enforcement by legal action in the Mayor's Court and by less formal action in the Court of Aldermen discussing the effect of decisions on the architecture and appearance of the City It investigates the reasons behind householders strongly held feelings about windows with the need for light and the status evidenced by glazed windows balanced by an insistence on privacy fear of intruders or accidents and expense Over time amendments were made in practice and the Custom survived the Great Fire of 1666 reflecting the continuity of long held ideas about property rights and acceptable behavior With both legal and social themes the book will be of interest to historians architects city planners lawyers curious about the background for modern law on physical privacy and anyone fascinated by the history of London
