Environment and cultural behavior Andrew Peter Vayda, 1982 Strategies for Survival Michael A.

Jochim, 2013-09-11 Strategies for Survival Cultural Behavior in an Ecological Context focuses on the ecological relationships between cultural behavior and its environmental context. The proliferation of ecological studies within anthropology suggests the increasing emphasis given to the systemic context of behavior. The aim of this book is to develop a framework for examining these relationships and for comparing diverse ecological studies within a coherent conceptual structure. It seeks to include any aspect of behavior to investigate the links between ideological and material factors to broaden the view of relevant factors and possible assumptions and to relate the processes of decision making to their specific context in a manner allowing cross cultural comparisons. In the process certain popular forms of ecological explanation will be examined. In addition specific behavioral examples will be investigated in an attempt to explain patterns of similarities and differences. This book is addressed to all individuals interested in human environmental interactions including professional anthropologists and general students of human behavior. Environment and Culture Irwin Altman, Joachim F.

Wohlwill, 1980-04-30 Following upon the first two volumes in this series which dealt with a broad spectrum of topics in the environment and behavior field ranging from theoretical to applied and including disciplinary interdisciplinary and professionally oriented approaches we have chosen to devote subsequent volumes to more specifically defined topics. Thus Volume Three dealt with Children and the Environment seen from the combined perspective of researchers in environmental and developmental psychology. The present volume has a similarly topical coverage dealing with the complex set of relationships between culture and the physical environment. It is broad and necessarily eclectic with respect to content theory methodology and epistemological stance and the contributors to it represent a wide variety of fields and disciplines including psychology geography anthropology economics and environmental design. We were fortunate to enlist the collaboration of Amos Rapoport in the organization and editing of this volume as he brings to this task a particularly pertinent perspective that combines anthropology and architecture. Volume Five of the series presently in preparation will cover the subject of behavioral science aspects of transportation. Global Mindset and Cross-Cultural Behavior Wim den Dekker, 2016-09-23 Examining the importance of cultural attitudes on human resource practices this book addresses an important but often neglected aspect of cross cultural leadership First providing an overview of globalization processes and a description of the global mindset concept the author discusses how the mindset of a manager can influence cross cultural leadership behavior and behavioral intentions Global Mindset and Cross Cultural Behavior Improving Leadership Effectiveness shows how an intercultural and global approach improves managerial attitudes towards different cultural values intercultural interactions and motivation Using a behavioral intentions model to provide a tool for predicting cross cultural leadership behavior the author demonstrates how this can be applied to human resource strategy and practice

Macro Cultural Psychology Carl Ratner, 2012 This book articulates a bold new systematic theory of psychology culture and their interrelation It explains how macro cultural factors social institutions cultural artifacts and cultural concepts are the cornerstones of society and how they form the origins and characteristics of psychological phenomena This theory is used to explain the diversity of psychological phenomena such as emotions self intelligence sexuality memory reasoning perception developmental processes and mental illness Ratner draws upon Lev Vygotsky s sociocultural psychology Bronfenbrenner s ecological psychology as well as work in sociology anthropology history and geography to explore the political implications and assumptions of psychological theories regarding social policy and reform The theory outlined here addresses current theoretical and political issues such as agency realism objectivity subjectivism structuralism postmodernism and multiculturalism In this sense the book articulates a systematic political philosophy of mind to examine numerous approaches to psychology including indigenous psychology cross cultural psychology activity theory discourse analysis mainstream psychology and evolutionary psychology

Cultural Encounters with the Environment Viola Haarmann, 2000 In Cultural Encounters with the Environment a distinguished group of contributors offers a fresh and original view of contemporary geography The authors explore the role of four traditional themes in the New cultural geography: the interplay between the evolution of particular biophysical niches and the activities of the culture groups that inhabit them the diffusion of cultural traits the establishment and definition of culture areas and the distinctive mix of geographical characteristics that gives places their special character in relation to one another By examining how cultural space is constructed how environment is remade understood and imaged as a consequence and how people lay claim to place this volume establishes a compelling case for the importance of these enduring concepts to present and future trajectories in cultural geography

Washington University Studies Washington University (Saint Louis, Mo.), 1927 Handbook of Health Behavior Research I David S. Gochman, 1997-08-31 The primary objective of this Handbook is to provide statements about health behaviour research as a basic body of knowledge moving into the 21st century It is expected that the Handbook will remain in use and current through 2005 at least The Handbook presents a broad and representative selection of mid 1990s health behaviour findings and concepts in a single work While texts and books of readings are available in related areas such as health psychology medical anthropology medical sociology behavioural health behavioural risk factors and changing health behaviours none of these works was intended to address basic research generated knowledge of health behaviour and none was intended to transcend individual disciplines Accordingly none of these works presents a broad and representative spectrum of basic health behaviour research reflecting multidisciplinary activities One work with a title identical to this one but for one word the Handbook of Health Behaviour Change Shumaker et al 1990 deals almost exclusively with applications This Handbook thus presents the reader with the state of the art in health behaviour research something not found elsewhere The Handbook of Culture and Psychology David Ricky Matsumoto, Hyi Sung Hwang, 2019 This book describes the continued evolution and advancement of cultural and cross cultural psychology Renowned authors review the state of the art in well studied areas such as development cognition emotion personality psychopathology psychotherapy and acculturation as well as emerging areas such as multicultural identities cultural neuroscience and religion The book is a must read for all culturally informed scholars USDA Forest Service General Technical Report NE. ,1977

Fundamentals of Cancer Prevention David Alberts, Lisa M. Hess, 2008-09-24 An authoritative work that provides a detailed review of the current status of cancer prevention and control practice and research This volume is an essential reference guide and tool for primary care physicians the research community and students Written as a collaborative work by the faculty of the nationally renowned Cancer Prevention and Control Program at the Arizona Cancer Center this book brings together the expertise of specialists in the field of cancer prevention and control to provide the medical and research community that does not specialize in this field with insight to the disciplines of cancer prevention and control A Natural History of Rape Randy Thornhill, Craig T. Palmer, 2001-02-23 A biologist and an anthropologist use evolutionary biology to explain the causes and inform the prevention of rape In this controversial book Randy Thornhill and Craig Palmer use evolutionary biology to explain the causes of rape and to recommend new approaches to its prevention According to Thornhill and Palmer evolved adaptation of some sort gives rise to rape the main evolutionary question is whether rape is an adaptation itself or a by product of other adaptations Regardless of the answer Thornhill and Palmer note rape circumvents a central feature of women s reproductive strategy mate choice This is a primary reason why rape is devastating to its victims especially young women Thornhill and Palmer address and claim to demolish scientifically many myths about rape bred by social science theory over the past twenty five years The popular contention that rapists are not motivated by sexual desire is they argue scientifically inaccurate Although they argue that rape is biological Thornhill and Palmer do not view it as inevitable Their recommendations for rape prevention include teaching young males not to rape punishing rape more severely and studying the effectiveness of chemical castration They also recommend that young women consider the biological causes of rape when making decisions about dress appearance and social activities Rape could cease to exist they argue only in a society knowledgeable about its evolutionary causes The book includes a useful summary of evolutionary theory and a comparison of evolutionary biology s and social science s explanations of human behavior The authors argue for the greater explanatory power and practical usefulness of evolutionary biology The book is sure to stir up discussion both on the specific topic of rape and on the larger issues of how we understand and influence human behavior Cities in
