Western Europe there was also increasing recognition that local and global effects of ecosystem degradation posed a serious threat Trekking from Cairo to Cape Town thirty years after living in Africa as a young teacher for example travel writer Paul Theroux concluded that development in sub Saharan Africa had failed to improve the quality of life for 300 million people Africa is materially more decrepit than it was when I first knew it hungrier poorer less educated more pessimistic more corrupt and you can't tell the politicians from the witch doctors 2002 While scholars and historians will debate the causes of 9 11 for some time one message is clear An often dizzying array of nontraditional threats and complex vulnerabilities define security today We must understand them and deal with them or suffer the consequences Environmental security has always required attention to nontraditional threats linked closely with social and economic well being Human and

Environmental Security Felix Dodds, Tim Pippard, 2013-06-17 Security has tended to be seen as based on military force yet this illusion is crumbling literally and figuratively before our eyes in the conflict zones of Iraq Afghanistan and Africa It is now clear that real human security defined by the Commission on Human Security as protecting vital freedoms can only be achieved if the full range of issues that underpin human security including environmental integrity are addressed This ground breaking book authored by prominent international decision makers tackles the global human security problem across the range of core issues including terrorism nuclear proliferation access to water food security loss of biodiversity and climate change The authors identify the causes of insecurity articulate the linkages between the different elements of human security and outline an agenda for engaging stakeholders from across the globe in building the foundations of genuine and lasting human security for all nations and all people This is powerful necessary solution focused reading in these times of peril global conflict mass inequity and rampant environmental degradation Environmental Security Peter

Hough, 2021-06-29 This textbook offers a student friendly survey of the global politics of the environment through the prism of security studies This book is divided into three thematic sections The first part sets out the key theoretical and practical arguments for and against bringing together environmental and security issues The second part examines why environmental issues have been framed by some as national security concerns in the context of the effects of overpopulation resource depletion climate change and the role of the military as both a cause and a solution to problems of pollution and natural disasters Finally the third section explores the case for treating the key issues of environmental change as matters of human security The chapters have been updated to include the 2015 Paris Climate Change Accords the Trump and Sendai Framework for Disaster Risk Reduction and there is a new chapter on environmental history Overall the book provides a clear systematic and thorough overview of an area of great academic and real world political interest This book will be essential reading for students of environmental studies critical and human security human geography development studies and International Relations in general Human and Water Security in Israel and Jordan Philip Jan Schäfer, 2012-10-28

The work aims at answering the question as to how far discourses on human security are present in Jordan and Israel if they converge and if political solutions for the issue of water security could be derived The analysis is based on the assumption that from human security perspective common solutions for urgent problems can be derived more easily than out of a perspective of national security Yet it is acknowledged that according to a new security perspective different security threats are being identified by relevant actors An empirical analysis of written statements and utterances of the respective security elites establishes the methodological tool for the identification of human security discourses in Israel and Jordan

Subsequently it is estimated how far water is presented as a matter of national security in Israel and Jordan using the theory of securitization

Global Environmental Change and Human Security Richard A. Matthew, Jon Barnett, Bryan McDonald, Karen L. O'Brien, 2009-10-09 Experts discuss the risks global environmental change poses for the human security including disaster and disease violence and increasing inequity In recent years scholars in international relations and other fields have begun to conceive of security more broadly moving away from a state centered concept of national security toward the idea of human security which emphasizes the individual and human well being Viewing global environmental change through the lens of human security connects such problems as melting ice caps and carbon emissions to poverty vulnerability equity and conflict This book examines the complex social health and economic consequences of environmental change across the globe In chapters that are both academically rigorous and policy relevant the book discusses the connections of global environmental change to urban poverty natural disasters with a case study of Hurricane Katrina violent conflict with a study of the decade long Nepalese civil war population gender and development The book makes clear the inadequacy of traditional understandings of security and shows how global environmental change is raising new unavoidable questions of human insecurity conflict cooperation and sustainable development Contributors W Neil Adger Jennifer Bailey Jon Barnett Victoria Basolo Hans Georg Bohle Mike Brklacich May Chazan Chris Cocklin Geoffrey D Dabelko Indra de Soysa Heather Goldsworthy Betsy Hartmann Robin M Leichenko Laura Little Alexander Lopez Richard A Matthew Bryan McDonald Eric Neumayer Kwasi Nsiah Gyabaah Karen L O'Brien Marvin S Soroos Bishnu Raj Upreti

Human and Environmental Security in the Era of Global Risks Mohamed Behnassi, Himangana Gupta, Olaf Pollmann, 2018-10-24 This book discusses ways to deepen the debate on the linkages between global risks and human and environmental security The approach put forward in this book is one of questioning the ability of existing concepts regulatory frameworks technologies and decision making mechanisms to accurately deal with emerging risks to human and environmental security and to act in the direction of effectively managing their impacts and fostering the resilience of concerned systems and resources Empirical research findings from Africa Asia and the Pacific Islands are provided During the last decades the links between emerging risks and the security of humans and nature have been the object of considerable research and deliberations However it is only recently becoming an important focus of policy making and advocacy In this contributed volume it is presumed that the ability or lack thereof to make innovative conceptual frameworks institutional and policy arrangements and technological advances for managing the current emerging risks will foster or undermine the environmental security and consequently determine the future human security Moreover taking into account the links between environmental climate security human security and sustainability will help frame a new research agenda and potentially develop a broad range of responses to many delicate questions

Environmental Security in Transnational Contexts

Harlan Koff,Carmen Maganda,2019-10-23 Much of the discussion surrounding the definition of the Sustainable Development Goals SDGs and the post 2015 global development agenda has contextualized sustainable development within the framework of transformation specifically prioritizing concepts such as equity security justice and rights While these debates correctly discussed power imbalances and relational obstacles to human development they have remained abstract because they focused only on the international level In this regard discussions have not adequately examined mechanisms that facilitate or block the emergence of sustainable development as a political priority nor do they address specific policy proposals to link environmental justice to human development strategies This book contends that human and environmental security should be framed in terms of transnational discussions rather than being limited to general international debates in order to examine both governance challenges and potential policy mechanisms that can effectively address environmental security issues that cross national boundaries The chapters in this volume undertake an empirical examination of the relationships between human and environmental security cross border exchanges and regional integration They address the relationships between international norms transnational human and environmental security issues and the regionalization of governance in different parts of the world as the book includes comparative analyses as well as case studies from Europe Asia and the Americas The chapters originally published as a special issue in Globalizations
