Josephus Nelson Larned, 1923. Rethinking the Local in Indian History Kaustubh Mani Sengupta, Tista Das, 2021-08-12. This volume looks at the concept of the local in Indian history. Through a case study of Bengal, it studies how worldwide currents, be it colonial governance, pedagogic practices, or intellectual rhythms, simultaneously inform and interact with particular local idioms to produce variegated histories of a region. It examines the processes through which the idea of the local gets constituted in different spatial entities such as the frontier province of the Jangal Mahal, the Sundarbans, the dry terrain of Birbhum, Bankura, Purulia, and the urban spaces of Calcutta and other small towns. The volume further discusses the various administrative as well as amateur representations of these settings to chart out the ways through which certain spaces get associated with a particular image or history. The chapters in the volume explore a variety of themes: textual representations of the region, epistemic practices and educational policies, as well as administrative manoeuvres and governmental practices which helped the state in mapping its people. An important contribution in the study of Indian history, this interdisciplinary work will be of great interest to scholars and researchers of science and technology studies, history, sociology, and social anthropology, and South Asian studies.

Art and History, 2019-11-18. Art and History Texts Contexts and Visual Representations in Ancient and Early Medieval India seeks to locate the historical contexts of premodern Indian art traditions. The volume examines significant questions such as: What were the purposes served by art? How were religious and political ideas and philosophies conveyed through visual representations? How central were prescription, technique, and style to the production of art? Who were the makers and patrons of art? How and why do certain art forms, meanings, and symbols retain a relevance across context? With contributions from historians and art historians seeking to unravel the interface between art and history, the volume dwells on the significance of visual representations in specific regional historical contexts, the range of symbolic signification attached to these, and the mythologies and textual prescriptions that contribute to the codification and use of representational forms. Supplemented with over 60 images, this volume is a must read for scholars and researchers of history and art.
