women use international migration as a strategy to challenge existing patriarchal hegemonies operative both in the United States and Africa It also weaves together the multidimensional strands of how African immigrant women shape and are shaped by the process of international migration Developing the Occupied Territories: Agriculture ,1993-01-01 The economy of the Occupied Territories OT is currently in turmoil Income levels have stagnated over the past decade unemployment and underemployment are rising rapidly public infrastructure and social services are grossly overstretched and the fragile natural resource base is threatened with irreversible damage This study aims to assess prospects for sustainable development in the OT as well as outline a priority agenda of policy reforms institutional development and investments needed to promote such growth The report is in six volumes Volume I provides a summary overview of the key findings and recommendations of the study After commenting selectively on the current socioeconomic situation in the OT and its evolution over time it discusses prospects for sustainable development in the future and outlines the priority agenda of policies and programs needed to promote such development Volume II explores the strategic choices at the macro level that will be faced by the OT in the future and the implications for economic relations between the OT and the rest of the region The study looks at the current situation and its evolution over the past 25 years The study then examines several policy choices for the future affecting the structure of development in the OT Finally it outlines some illustrative scenarios for the future focussing on the consequences of current developments in the region Volume III reviews the performance of the private sector including in particular the industry and tourism sectors in the OT The study assesses the environment in which the private sector operates and its future prospects and makes recommendations for accelerating private sector development in the future Volume IV reviews the evolution and structure of the agricultural sector in the OT analyzes its current characteristics assesses OT competitiveness in the immediate and longer term outlines the main policy options and their implications and provides a preliminary assessment of sectoral financial and technical assistance TA needs Volume V assesses the current situation in the infrastructure sectors electricity water supply and sanitation transport housing and solid waste services in the OT identifies the major issues confronting these sectors and outlines priorities for TA and investment needs As local authorities are major institutions in the delivery of public services in these sectors the study also includes a review of their current situation and makes recommendations for improving the functioning of municipalities Volume VI reviews the current status as regards human resource development analyzes options for enhancing individual welfare and labor productivity in the OT and outlines investment and TA priorities for strengthening existing programs and for laying the
