Lectures on the Prophet Daniel H. A. Ironside, 2017-10-29 THE substance of the exposition in the following pages was first delivered in the form of lectures at which time shorthand notes were taken which have been revised since and considerably altered by the writer Much matter too has been eliminated to reduce the volume which might have been too large and thus wearisome to many readers It is hoped that enough has been retained to give a clear and succinct outline of the teaching of the book of Daniel By referring from time to time to the chart accompanying the book the lectures will be considerably simplified Critical questions such as authenticity and authorship have not been gone into here though the present writer has carefully examined practically all that has been urged against receiving this portion of the Holy Scriptures as being in very deed a part of the inspired word of God If any reader has doubts or difficulties on these lines he is referred to the erudite and able expositions and examinations of W Kelly Sir Robert Anderson and Dr Pusey With the prayer that God may be pleased to use this little book to stir up His own people to more devotion to Himself a more ardent longing for the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ and our gathering together unto Him and to the arousing of any who are still in their sins these lectures are committed to Him who alone can apply them to heart and conscience Lectures on Daniel the Prophet Henry Allen Ironside, 1950 Lectures on Daniel the Prophet Harry Allan Ironside, 1944 Lectures on Daniel the Prophet H. A. Ironside, 2014-04-18 The truth of God is learned through the conscience this is why the most brilliant men can read the Bible through over and over and never hear the voice of God in it at all It has been said that what is one man's meat is another man's poison The very Word of God may become poison to an unspiritual man if he reads it without being in subjection to God reads it to find difficulties and arises from its perusal more confirmed in his unbelief than he was when he sat down to consider it The results are different when the same book is put into the hands of a spiritually minded person one who has bowed in God's presence acknowledged his lost condition trusted the Lord Jesus Christ as his Savior and who is now seeking to live in obedience to God and His Word That man sits down to the same book and finds it to be food for his soul building him up in his faith Lectures on the Prophet Daniel H.
