Harris Dousemetzis

Learning From Robben Island:

Learning from Robben Island Govan Mbeki, 1991 South Africa has jailed so many gifted men and women that there already exists a sizeable body of prison writing. The essays by Govan Mbeki which comprise this book add to this distinguished list. Yet they differ in important respects from all others: they were written, circulated and preserved in prison. They were never intended for publication but to be read by other prisoners; their aim is not to share an experience but to educate politically. They are remarkable documents. They offer historians and political scientists valuable raw material for any study of the ANC-SACP alliance. They provide activists with a distillation of practical lessons about political organisation learned in the most testing conditions. They include extended historical, political and economic analyses that must be read alongside Mbeki's other writings in any assessment of the intellectual history of the South African left. And they are pages in a truly international literature, a record throughout the ages of the creativity and indomitability of people imprisoned for their beliefs. These prison essays mark a victory in the continuing contest between the pen and the sword. Professor Colin Bundy in his introduction.

Learning from Robben Island Govan Mbeki, 1991 Walter & Albertina Sisulu Elinor Sisulu, 2011-09-15 This is a well-told story and an important historical record of the struggle for a democratic South Africa.

Encyclopedia of Post-Colonial Literatures in English Eugene Benson, L.W. Conolly, 2004-11-30 Post-Colonial Literatures in English together with English Literature and American Literature form one of the three major groupings of literature in English and as such are widely studied around the world. Their significance derives from the richness and variety of experience which they reflect. In three volumes this Encyclopedia documents the history and development of this body of work and includes original research relating to the literatures of some 50 countries and territories. In more than 1 600 entries written by more than 600 internationally recognized scholars it explores the effect of the colonial and post-colonial experience on literatures in English worldwide.

The Man who Killed Apartheid: The Life of Dimitri Tsafendas Harris Dousemetzis, 2023-01-10 On 6 September 1966 inside the House of Assembly in Cape Town Dimitri Tsafendas fatally stabbed Hendrik Verwoerd, South Africa's Prime Minister and so-called architect of apartheid. Tsafendas was immediately arrested and before the authorities had even questioned him they declared him a madman without any political motive for the killing. In the Cape Supreme Court Tsafendas was found unfit to stand trial on the grounds that he suffered from schizophrenia and that he had no political motive for killing Verwoerd. Tsafendas spent the next 28 years in prison, making him the longest-serving prisoner in South African history. For most of his incarceration he was subjected to cruel and inhumane treatment by the prison authorities. This new updated edition contains all the developments regarding the Tsafendas case after the publication of the book's first edition.

Learning at the Museum Frontiers Viv Golding, 2016-04-22 In Learning at the Museum Frontiers Viv Golding argues that the museum has the potential to function as a frontier, a zone where learning is created, new identities are forged and new connections made between disparate groups and their own histories. She draws on a range of theoretical perspectives including Gadamer's philosophical hermeneutics Foucauldian discourse on space and power and postcolonial and Black feminist theory as well as her own professional experience in museum education over a ten year period applying these ideas to a wide range of museum contexts The book offers an important theoretical and empirical contribution to the debate on the value of museums and what they can contribute to society The author reveals the radical potential for museums to tackle injustice and social exclusion challenge racism enhance knowledge and promote truth

Learning Activism A. A. Choudry, 2015-01-01 Learning Activism is designed to encourage a deeper engagement with the intellectual life of activists who organize for social political and ecological justice Learning English Neil Mercer, Joan Swann, Barbara Mayor, 2020-10-28 Learning English focuses on young children's acquisition of spoken and written English in monolingual and bilingual contexts and explores the debates surrounding English in schools and colleges and the often controversial nature of the English curriculum in different parts of the world English is learned in most parts of the world both through use in the home and community and as a major language of education Learning English represents just some of this diversity Mandela Anthony Sampson, 2012-01-11 Nelson Mandela who emerged from twenty six years of political imprisonment to lead South Africa out of apartheid and into democracy is perhaps the world's most admired leader a man whose life has been led with exemplary courage and inspired conviction Now Anthony Sampson who has known Mandela since 1951 and has been a close observer of South Africa's political life for the last fifty years has produced the first authorized biography the most informed and comprehensive portrait to date of a man whose dazzling image has been difficult to penetrate With unprecedented access to Mandela's private papers including his prison memoir long thought to have been lost meticulous research and hundreds of interviews from Mandela himself to prison warders on Robben Island from Walter Sisulu and Oliver Tambo to Winnie Mandela and F W de Klerk and many others intimately connected to Mandela's story Sampson has composed an enlightening and necessary story of the man behind the myth In From the Margins, 2006-01-01 This book focuses at the margins of adult education work and civil society Rather than focusing on active participants and active participation the objective is to scrutinize the whole adult population in terms of participation and to pay special attention to those who are so easily left out of studies concerning adult education learning at work or active participation in civil society The aim of the book is to bring into the discussion the views of those who do not find attending adult education possible and who thus form a challenge for the promotion of active citizenship In the collection of articles researchers from various disciplines and with cross disciplinary interests in adult education and marginalisation meet and discuss with each other within and beyond their own disciplines Hamlet's Dreams David Shalkwyk, 2013-01-31 Hamlet's Dreams brings together the Robben Island Prison of Nelson Mandela and the prison that is Denmark for Shakespeare's Hamlet David Shalkwyk uses the circulation of the so called Robben Island Shakespeare a copy of the Alexander edition of the Complete Works that was secretly circulated annotated and signed by a group of Robben Island political prisoner in the 1970s including Nelson Mandela to examine the representation and experience of imprisonment in South African prison memoirs and Shakespeare's Hamlet. The book looks at the ways in which oppressive spaces or circumstances restrict the ways in which personal identity can be formed or formulated in relation to others. The bad dreams that keep Hamlet from considering himself the king of infinite space are it argues the need for other people that becomes especially evident in situations of real or psychological imprisonment.

The History of Reading S. Towheed, W. Owens, 2011-08-25 Bringing together research from a variety of countries and periods this volume introduces readers to the diverse approaches used to recover the evidence of reading through history in different societies and asks whether reading practices are always conditioned by specific local circumstances or whether broader patterns might emerge.

Robben Island, 1973 Nelson Mandela's Leadership Lessons New Word City, 2010-03-02 Nelson Mandela was born into a royal family attended elite schools became a lawyer and could have settled into a comfortable life as a member of South Africa's black middle class. But his sense of dignity and injustice was fierce and he dedicated himself to the struggle for freedom and democracy. He paid a heavy price for his choice often putting his life in danger and spending 27 years in prison away from his family barely knowing his children. Guided by a deep pragmatism he evolved into one of the greatest leaders in modern history a man who inspired and uplifted the world. His story offers valuable lessons for leaders everywhere. Nelson Mandela is a fierce opponent of injustice a proponent of nonviolent resistance a moral beacon for the world a man who changed the course of history and created today's South Africa. He occupies a place in the Parthenon of great leaders a symbol of the struggle for freedom and human rights an inspiration to us all. But his has been a complicated life filled with nuance and ambiguity. Mandela won the Nobel Peace Prize in 1993 yet he once advocated the violent overthrow of South Africa's apartheid government and was instrumental in creating a guerilla army dedicated to that end. A child of privilege born into a royal family he benefitted mightily from his family's connections but was suspended from college and ran away to the slums of Johannesburg to avoid an arranged marriage. New Word City publishers of digital originals contributes 10 percent of its profits to literacy causes.

Dance in Chains Padraic Kenney, 2017-10-02 States around the world imprison people for their beliefs or politically motivated actions. Oppositional movements of all stripes celebrate their comrades behind bars. Yet they are more than symbols of repression and human rights. Dance in Chains examines the experiences of political prisoners themselves in order to understand who they are what they do and why it matters. This is the first book to trace the history of modern political imprisonment from its origins in the mid nineteenth century. The letters diaries and memoirs of political prisoners as well as the records of regime policies relate the contest in the prison cell to political conflicts between regime and opposition. Padraic Kenney draws on examples from regimes ranging from communist and fascist to colonial and democratic including Ireland the United Kingdom Poland and South Africa. They include the Fenian Brotherhood imprisoned in England and Ireland in the 1860s and their successors during the Irish War of Independence and the Northern Ireland Troubles. Afrikaans suspected of treason during the Boer War socialists fighting for Polish freedom in the Russian Empire and then Communists denouncing bourgeois rule in newly independent Poland the opponents of apartheid South Africa and stalinist Poland and those imprisoned by the United States in Guantanamo Bay detention camp today Some prisons are well known in others inmates suffered in obscurity Through self organization education and actions ranging from solitary non cooperation to mass hunger strikes these prisoners transform their incarceration and counter states efforts to control them While considering the international movements that have sought to publicize the plight of political prisoners Dance in Chains examines the actions of the prisoners themselves to find universal answers to questions about the meaning and purpose of their imprisonment

One Hundred Years of the ANC Arianna Lissoni, Jon Soske, 2012-11-01 An examination of the ANC in its centennial year On 8 January 2012 the African National Congress ANC of South Africa the oldest African nationalist organisation on the continent celebrated its one hundredth anniversary This historic event has generated significant public debate within both the ANC and South African society at large There is no better time to critically reflect on the ANC's historical trajectory and struggle against colonialism and apartheid than in its centennial year One Hundred Years of the ANC is a collection of new work by renowned South African and international scholars Covering a broad chronological and geographical spectrum and using a diverse range of sources the contributors build upon but also extend the historiography of the ANC by tapping into marginal spaces in ANC history By moving away from the celebratory mode that has characterised much of the contemporary discussions on the centenary the contributors suggest that the relationship between the histories of earlier struggles and the present needs to be rethought in more complex terms Collectively the book chapters challenge hegemonic narratives that have become an established part of South Africa's national discourse since 1994 By opening up debate around controversial or obscured aspects of the ANC's century long history One hundred years of the ANC sets out an agenda for future research The book is directed at a wide readership with an interest in understanding the historical roots of South Africa's current politics will find this volume informative This book is based on a selection of papers presented at the One Hundred Years of the ANC Debating Liberation Histories and Democracy Today Conference held at the University of Witwatersrand Johannesburg from 20-23 September 2011 Social Justice and Transformative Learning Sandra M.

Tomlinson-Clarke, Darren L. Clarke, 2016-03-10 The similarities between the United States and South Africa with respect to race power oppression and economic inequities are striking and a better understanding of these parallels can provide educational gains for students and educators in both countries Through shared experiences and perspectives this volume presents scholarly work from U S and South African scholars that advance educational practice in support of social justice and transformative learning It provides a comprehensive framework for developing transformational learning experiences that facilitates leadership for social justice and a deeper understanding of the factors influencing personal national and global identity Witness in the Era of Mass Incarceration Doran Larson, 2017-07-17 Witness in the Era of Mass

Incarceration works from the premise that if the law establishes and maintains both its practical and symbolic authority on the basis of its monopoly on legally sanctioned violence and the suffering threatened and delivered by such violence then we cannot know the full human cost or concrete moral status of any legal state without human witness to the depth and manner of suffering meted out by such violence The prison writer stands in the position to offer such witness The prison writer knows the law's violence in the flesh For every other writer reflection upon the degree and manner of suffering meted out under legal sanction that is reflection upon the full human cost of the contemporary legal order is necessarily speculative In close readings of first person witness from prisons in the U S Ireland and Africa Witness in the Era of Mass Incarceration discovers literary tropes that chart at once local national and transnational conditions of carceral experience the extant conditions of legalized suffering In exhibiting the labor required to move from institutionalized abjection to the minimum requirements of rights bearing personhood this witness offers the sole credible vision of the possibility of a post carceral understanding of freedom
