Learning Strategies for Adults Sandra C. Crux, 1991      Resources in Education , 2001-10      Students with Both Gifts and Learning Disabilities Tina A. Newman, Robert J. Sternberg, 2012-12-06 We were motivated to edit this book when we began to hear stories of exceptional students who were struggling with reading writing or math but who could solve seemingly any problem with computers or build the most intricate structures with Legos or could draw beautiful pictures or could tell the most creative stories but ended up in tears when asked to write it out How is it possible to have so much talent in some areas and yet to appear to have a disability in another What resources are available for these students How can we ensure that these students abilities are nurtured and developed Our goal in this book is to provide ideas and possibly even tentative answers for educators and to stimulate more questions to be answered by researchers We have ourselves been addressing related questions for some time Our group at the PACE Center at Yale has explored the development of abilities competencies and expertise that allow people to be successful in life Through this work we have collaborated with school districts and other educators and researchers across the country to expand the notion of what is traditionally thought of as intelligence We use the concept of successful intelligence to allow for the possibility that the skills traditionally taught in school are not the only ones and often not even the most important ones that allow people to be successful in the world

Twice-Exceptional and Special Populations of Gifted Students Susan Baum, Sally M. Reis, Series Editor, 2004-03-06 The expert guide to meeting the needs of twice exceptional and other at risk gifted students Special learning needs cultural expectations and issues of poverty greatly complicate the identification of gifts and talents among at risk students And traditional gifted programs fail to fully address the unique needs of these special populations Twice Exceptional and Special Populations of Gifted Students offers critical insights and promising practices designed to prevent these high potential at risk students from falling through the cracks Key features include Susan Baum's thorough synopsis of the critical issues affecting twice exceptional students and other special gifted populations Strategies for identifying giftedness masked by gender cultural economic and or behavioral issues Examples of appropriate programming options for a variety of high potential at risk populations Applying the modifications accommodations and additional services suggested in this ready reference educators will at last be able to adequately nurture the academic social and emotional development of twice exceptional and other special populations of gifted students The ERGE Series The National Association for Gifted Children series Essential Readings in Gifted Education is a 12 volume collection of seminal articles from Gifted Child Quarterly Put the knowledge and power of more than 25 years of research on giftedness and talent into your hands with the leading theories studies and findings the experts in the field have to offer      The Complete Learning Disabilities Directory, 2000 Grey House Publishing, 2000-02 The 2000 Complete Learning Disabilities Directory is the most comprehensive database of Programs Services Curriculum Materials Professional Meetings and Resources Camps Newsletters and Support Groups for teachers
