Lectures are printed as far as possible just as they were delivered Here and there a sentence which seemed obscure has been mended and the passages which had not been previously written have been of course imperfectly supplied from memory But I am well assured that nothing of any substantial importance which was said in the lecture room is either omitted or altered in its signification with the exception only of a few sentences struck out from the notice of the works of Turner in consequence of the impossibility of engraving the drawings by which they were illustrated except at a cost which would have too much raised the price of the volume Some elucidatory remarks have however been added at the close of the second and fourth Lectures which I hope may be of more use than the passages which I was obliged to omit About the Publisher
