Georgia A State History opens a window on our rich and sometimes tragic past and reveals to all of us the fascinating complexity of what it means to be a Georgian Georgia's past has diverged from the nation's and given the state and its people a distinctive culture and character Some of the best and the worst aspects of American and Southern history can be found in the story of what is arguably the most important state in the South Yet just as clearly Georgia has not always followed the road traveled by the rest of the nation and the region Explaining the common and divergent paths that make us who we are is one reason the Georgia Historical Society has collaborated with Buddy Sullivan and Arcadia Publishing to produce Georgia A State History the first full length history of the state produced in nearly a generation Sullivan's lively account draws upon the vast archival and photographic collections of the Georgia Historical Society to trace the development of Georgia's politics economy and society and relates the stories of the people both great and small who shaped our destiny

The Rise of the Urban South Lawrence H. Larsen, 2021-12-14 Operating under an outmoded system of urban development and faced by the vicissitudes of the Civil War and Reconstruction southerners in the nineteenth century built a network of cities that met the needs of their society In this pioneering exploration of that intricate story Lawrence H. Larsen shows that in the antebellum period southern entrepreneurs built cities in layers to facilitate the movement of cotton First came the colonial cities followed by those of the piedmont the New West the Gulf Coast and the interior By the Civil War cotton could move by a combination of road rail and river through a network of cities for example from Jackson to Memphis to New Orleans to Europe In the Gilded Age building on past practices the South continued to make urban gains Men like Henry Grady of Atlanta and Henry Watterson of Louisville used broader regional objectives to promote their own cities Grady successfully sold Atlanta one of the most southern of cities demographically as a city with a northern outlook Watterson tied Louisville to national goals in railroad building The New South movement did not succeed in bringing the region to parity with the rest of the nation yet the South continued to rise along older lines By 1900 far from being a failure in terms of the general course of American development the South had created an urban system suited to its needs while avoiding the promotional frenzy that characterized the building of cities in the North Based upon federal and local sources this book will become the standard work on nineteenth century southern
